FRANCE ELECTS DOUMER; BRIAND SENT TO DISCARD

Foreign Chief Loses the Presidency.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VERSAILLES, France, May 13.—Few broke Aristide Briand this afternoon—broke him as a man and as a statesman of the state, and they figuratively tossed into the waste paper basket the rampart of paper which for ten years he has been building up in the cause of peace.

Officially all that happened was that the representatives of the French people elected Paul Doumer, 74 year old president of the senate, thirteenth president of the republic after the leading rival candidate, Briand, had retired in his favor.

Actually the drama was much more significant than that. Doumer, as a personality, did not enter in the campaign—he was only the representative of the nationalistic right wing against the pacifist left—and the defeat of Briand meant the collapse of his policies.

Greatest Upset in History.

The foreign minister's adherents were completely bewildered. They could not would win in a walkaway. The result was one of the greatest upsets in French political history.

It is widely rumored tonight that Briand will tender his resignation as prime minister after the cabinet meeting tomorrow and retire from politics, either making a one day trip to Geneva to bid farewell to his colleagues of many years in the league of nations. In other quarters it is believed likely that he will be urged to carry on at Geneva and elsewhere until the entire cabinet formally resigns on Doumer's inauguration a month from now.

Even if he agrees, however, he will not be able to do anything at Geneva except to carry out the orders which will be telegraphed daily from Paris, and in any event Briand is definitely through, unless the general elections next year turn out to be a landslide for the left parties.

Briand Is Protected.

Today's election was the most stirring thing France has seen since the war. Fantastic precautions were taken to protect Briand from attacks by the nationalists. Mounted gendarmes patrolled the whole of the road from Paris to Versailles, where the voting took place, and detachments of cavalry were stationed in the side streets along the way. Near the entrance to the town several tanks were lined up. The day passed without disorder, except for a few insignificant outrages in front of the palace gates, which were provoked by royalist students.

The result of the election was a surprise. Briand was the favorite up to the last minute, although a hard battle was expected, and even his enemies conceded it was his victory. It was a striking eleven years ago, when Georges Clemenceau thought he had a million served up, only to be overwhelmingly defeated by Alexandre Millerand.

Broke Old Tiger's Heart.

That defeat broke the old Tiger's heart and turned him into a sour misanthrope; but his humiliation was nothing to Briand's. Briand, unlike Clemenceau, publicly declared that he was a candidate. He agreed to run only at the last minute, when he thought he was assured of victory. However, it comes at a moment when Briand is facing some of the supreme crises of his career—the Austro-German customs pact, the naval debates at Geneva, and the report of the European committee which Briand was expected to head triumphantly his new and audacious scheme for a united states of Europe.

All that is over with now. What there will be like without Briand it is hard to imagine, but it is considered certain that, whoever gets his successor's right to a place in the cabinet will be boldly asserted without regard for tender diplomatic susceptibilities.

Even Briand's softness which went hand down, chiefly in connection with the Austro-German combination accord and the premature evacuation of the Rhineland. The overwhelming vote of confidence given him in the chamber of deputies Friday, which seemed to be a clear victory, really spelt his defeat.

Friends Knife Him.

It was his friends who knifed him in the back today, and this is why Briand consented to run after he had been promised the

House Revives Income Tax by 86-60 Vote

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 13.—[Special.]—In a test vote today the Illinois house of representatives favored a state income tax by a v. e of 86 to 60.

The roll was called on a motion to place senate bill 138, already approved by the upper chamber, on the calendar, reversing the action taken yesterday by the revenue committee, which voted against it, 15 to 7. It was placed on order of second reading by today's action, and the fight will be resumed next week, when efforts to amend it are anticipated.

An analysis of the roll call showed that, with but ten exceptions, the battle was Chicago versus downstate once more. The exceptions were the four downstate Republicans and five Democrats who opposed the tax and Representative Edward M. Overland [Rep., Chicago], who voted for it.

Downstate Opponents.

The downstaters who joined with Cook county in declaring against the tax were: Republicans—Leo D. Crowley, Peoria; Leroy M. Green, Rockford; R. H. Huschle, East St. Louis; Carl Johst, Peoria. Democrats—Charles D. Franz, Freeport; Frank Holten, East St. Louis; Charles F. Malloy, Sorento; David H. McClusage, Peoria, and Schaefer O'Neil, Alton. With the exception of Mr. Franz, all represent blocks of voters in the larger municipalities of the state.

Representative Homer J. Tice [Rep., Greenview] opened the debate when he moved that the house not concur with the revenue committee's action. He deplored the condition of the state's revenue and pointed to "glaring inconsistencies" in the taxing system.

"We might as well consider this a test vote on the income tax," said Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago]. "Not one will gainsay that the real estate taxpayers of the state need relief, but we cannot disregard the fact that every person earning $1,000 or more a year would be hit by this tax. It's a makeshift plan; it affords no real relief; it would become just another tax."

Warns Farmers of Disappointment.

Schaeffer O'Neill of Alton, a first term Democrat and the youngest member of the house, gave the major address made on his side of the chamber against the imposition of the tax.

This was a half facetious exposition of the plight of the farmer who is about to be handed one more "gold brick," in the opinion of the junior member.

"I can visualize the slick stranger in his checked suit striding up the lane to the old farm house," said O'Neill. "He pauses at the inner gate to peer through the lilac bushes, sights his prey, and with soft cajolings sells him the glittering gold plate. In 1924, farm relief was sold to him; in 1928, it was prosperity; and here, at last, we have a new and more wonderful remedy.

Can't Raise Money Fast Enough.

"The farmer has no assurance that this tax is in lieu of a tax on real estate. There is no way of raising revenue as fast as the governor and the legislature of this state can spend it. From the appearance of the appropriations that have staggered through the house, it must be that the governor thinks the boom is still on."

If it is the desire to tax wealth, O'Neill said, a tax must be planned which will not "bounce off the doors of the safe deposit boxes."

Score of other members made short explanations of their vote as the roll was called.

Next week, on second reading and the amended stage, it is expected that an amendment will be introduced to offset property tax from the income tax. This is understood to be the wish of several real estate associations in Illinois. With or without that amendment, the bill has a slim chance of being beaten on final roll call, a number of members believe.

FIRE DESTROYS HISTORIC CHURCH AT DARTMOUTH

Hanover, N. H., May 13.—(AP)—The "old white church" where Dartmouth men have worshiped for more than a hundred years tonight tumbled in flames as thousands of students stood by, helpless.

Firemen turned from the burning mass to prevent flames from igniting the Baker library and other buildings near by. The loss was estimated at $50,000 by fire officials. The cause of the blaze was undetermined.

The church, Congregational in denomination, was founded by Eleazar Wheelock, founder of the college, and was a campus landmark.

Leiter Heirs Sign Peace in Estate Fight

A family feud, fanned to white heat in eight years of legal warfare, with English coronets pitted against American escutcheons for control of an American fortune, will end today when Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan dips his pen into an inkwell. His signature will legalize a compromise of the heirs of the late Levi Z. Leiter, pioneer Chicago merchant, in their battle over his estate. Estimates of the value of the estate have ranged from $16,000,000 to $20,000,000.

JUDGE SULLIVAN.

Eight sets of attorneys and a score of law clerks, toting brief cases, deployed in Judge Sullivan's courtroom to announce the compromise yesterday morning. Solemnly the lawyers announced the terms, which include the resignations of Joseph Leiter and his sister, Lady Marguerite Hyde, countess of Suffolk and Berks, as trustees of the estate and the payment of $779,084 dispersed from out of the income of the estate to the principal.

Attorneys Get Million.

With this out of the way the attorneys proceeded less solemnly to collect on the thousands of pages of testimony and the oceans of oratory, which was their contribution to the case. Each in turn was sworn as a witness to give evidence of his work. When the last finished they had totaled a claim of $1,012,500.

Each lawyer declared his fee to be far less than the value of his services, but declared himself as willing to make the sacrifice to effect the compromise. With the adjustment of the claims of one unsatisfied counsel, the attorneys asked the judge to approve their bills.

Judge Sullivan, who does not have the opportunity to cut a million dollar pie every Wednesday, preferred to prolong the novel experience. He indicated that he would sign the settlement today. Slightly annoyed, the lawyers bowed to his pleasure.

Lady Hyde Starts Suit.

The merchant died on June 9, 1904, leaving his estate in trust to four children. Under the terms of the will, creating three trustees, the trust terminates on the death of the last surviving child and is then to be distributed to their children in four equal parts. The will provides that two trustees can accept the resignation of a third trustee.

In 1923 Lady Hyde and the heirs of her sister, Mary Leiter Curzon, widow of Lord Curzon and first of the children to die, brought suit be-

WITNESS AVERS KIRKLAND SAID HE STRUCK GIRL

Surprise Testimony Is Introduced.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Valparaiso, Ind., May 13.—[Special.]—A new state's witness with startling new evidence connecting Virgil Kirkland with the rape and murder of Arlene Draves was placed on the witness stand in Judge Grant Crumpacker's court late this afternoon.

The 20 year old defendant was white and shaking as his attorneys stormed at the witness in a futile effort to make him retract his testimony. The fresh evidence was regarded as more damaging to the defense than any introduced at the first trial which ended in a sentence of life imprisonment for Kirkland.

Policeman George Regal of Gary testified that Kirkland admitted to him that he struck Arlene with the heel of his hand, throwing her from the swing in which she was sitting and knocking her head against the porch floor.

Finds Broken Golf Club.

The policeman also testified to searching the porch of the David Thompson home where the attack took place and finding a broken golf club and a man's handkerchief. Hitherto in the case there had existed only a vague rumor that Kirkland struck his sweetheart with a golf club and the finding of the club had not been revealed.

Defense attorneys, led by Ronald Oldham, subjected Policeman Regal to a bitter cross-examination, demanding to know why his testimony had never been made known before. The witness said his superiors knew of the evidence he could offer, but that the state's attorney apparently had not been notified at the first trial.

Kirkland's contention at the first trial was that he had never struck Arlene, but only slapped her to bring her out of a drunken stupor. There had been no witnesses previously who said that Kirkland ever admitted more than slapping the girl.

Repeats Stories of Others.

"I talked to Kirkland the morning after he was arrested," said Policeman Regal. He proceeded to repeat the story told by other witnesses concerning drinking at the party, and the taking of the 13 year old girl out to the porch.

"Kirkland said he hit her with the heel of his hand, like this," said Regal, illustrating. "She fell out of the swing on her head, he said."

Under cross-examination he stuck to this story, although he admitted that other policemen, including Lieut. Paul [Jake] Thixtun, in charge of the investigation, have already testified and did not tell of this statement by Kirkland.

Clothing to Be Produced.

Another new development today was a demand by the defense that the blood stained undergarments of three other young men under indictment for the murder be submitted to the jury. The state declared it will produce the clothing tomorrow. The defense contends that the state of this clothing will show that Kirkland's companions are more to blame for the girl's death than he.

A vivid picture of the scene in the home of Dr. Russell O. Wharton early Sunday morning, last Nov. 30, when the body of Arlene was carried in by three scared young men, was presented in the testimony of the physician.

"Three young men came up the walk carrying the body of a girl," testified the doctor. "Two, whom I

Bullets Fly as Police Foil Bank Bandits

A running gun battle was fought between five bank robbers and a squad of Forest Park police shortly after 6 o'clock this morning when the bandits were surprised in the basement of the Roosevelt Trust and Savings bank at 7227 Roosevelt road. All the robbers escaped unharmed, so far as the police could determine, and none of the police was wounded.

When Samuel Sansone, owner of a drug store across the street, was opening up his place he noticed a basement window in the bank building open and notified Policeman Walter Blossy, who investigated. Blossy heard subdued voices and men at work in the basement and went to a police box to call for a squad.

Fired on Through Door.

As he turned in the call he was fired on through the front doors of the bank with a sawed-off shotgun, and returned the fire. A moment later four other bandits ran from the building and opened fire on the policeman, who battled them from behind a telephone pole.

By that time a squad, composed of Sergt. Roy Hartneck, Robert Winkler and Maurice Jacobs arrived and joined in the battle. The robbers separated and fled in different directions. A short distance away two of them were overtaken, and another battle was fought.

Still another battle with another pair of the fugitives was fought two blocks away.

Find Machine Gun.

After the battles were over police found in two vacant lots a machine gun, with a full clip of ammunition, a sawed-off shotgun, and a Colt's automatic where they had been cached by the robbers. Apparently the bandits had no automobile. All escaped by leaping fences and fleeing through lots.

At the bank it was found the robbers had been working upward from the basement apparently for several hours in a vain attempt to get into the vault.

Two hundred University of Chicago students, urged on by 300 other students, including a number of co-eds, staged a riotous demonstration last night at 58th street and University avenue on the campus, burned the bleachers surrounding the university tennis courts, pelted police with eggs and whitewash, and dispersed only after sixty policemen and firemen reached the scene ready for battle.

The demonstration came on the first anniversary of the students' riot of May 13, 1930, against campus liquor snoopers and was apparently staged in celebration of the concessions won from the university at that time. The previous riot resulted from campus police snooping at rehearsals of the Black Friars' musical show. The Black Friars' 1931 performance was presented three times last week-end.

Starts with Huge Bonfire.

The students assembled at 11 o'clock last night by prearrangement, gathered lumber from the new men's dormitory at 60th street and Ellis avenue, and started a huge bonfire.

Two campus policemen attempted to send them home, but were showered with eggs and fruit amid the cheers of the onlookers, and the Hyde Park police were called.

When a squad arrived it was drenched with whitewash. Reinforcements were called, and by the time Lieut. Al Booth of Hyde Park and several squads arrived the tennis bleachers were in flames. With the augmented police detail on hand, the students subsided and firemen extinguished the blaze.

Shower Eggs on Squad.

When most of the policemen departed the students renewed their activity and had a fresh barrage ready to greet Acting First Deputy Commissioner James Scanlan when he arrived. Scanlan, his car smeared with eggs, ordered fifty additional policemen, but rescinded the order when the students began to tire of their sport and go home.

JUBILEE—

NOTHING LIKE IT IN YEARS!

Reading about it is pretty poor fun compared to experiencing it.

Hearing about the exceptional values purchased at low prices by your friends and neighbors also lacks the thrill of getting a bargain yourself.

Chicago stores this week (if you haven't already heard about it) are offering some of the most attractive values in years. Don't wait to hear about these values from some one else. Find out about them first hand. Scan the Jubilee announcements in today's Chicago Tribune. Then go to the stores and look at the displays!

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

The audience itself was the supreme spectacle of last night's tremendous show in State street—carnival night of the Chicago Jubilee.

That audience, to which there has been nothing comparable in Chicago since the World's Fair days of 1893, extended in a solid mass from Lake street on the north to Van Buren street on the south and overflowed for two blocks to the west and two blocks to the east on Randolph, Washington, Madison, Monroe, and Adams streets, and Jackson boulevard.

Close packed around six large stages erected at those six great street intersections, the multitude heard and saw capital programs of music, vaudeville and circus acts, and by its good nature under pressure and its avoidance of hysteria became its own best friend and saved itself from anything approaching serious accident.

Windows Are Thronged.

Not only from the streets but from windows of skyscrapers and from roofs of the older and lower structures in State street the shows were seen. Lamp posts were hidden by the festoons of small boys they carried and the "L" stations in Wabash avenue made choice places for thousands.

At times the pressure of the spectators closest to the stages was so heavy that the programs had to be suspended while frightened children and fainting women were tenderly lifted into comfortable places by the clowns and tumblers and singers.

Then you had the dramatic picture of Pagliacci pausing in his antics and becoming a first aid man, while his sisters of the great variety houses of Chicago cheered and steadied the apprehensive onlookers.

The weather was ideal — warm enough to be comfortable and cool enough to be exhilarating.

Avenue of Lights and Colors.

The three-quarters of a mile of audience room extending from Lake to Van Buren was a kaleidoscope of lights and banners in gold and crimson, blue and green, white and purple.

The holiday spirit made the air vibrant, and instead of boring one another with dreary questions about the duration of the depression the greeting of friends and strangers alike was: "Have you heard——?" and then they would name a celebrated bandmaster who was holding forth on a stage farther up or farther down the street.

In the long golden twilight of daylight saving time this city-wide audience began streaming into its vast concert room as early as 6 o'clock.

By seven it seemed as if "standing room only" signs should be hung out, but still they came and still they somehow and somewhere found places for themselves. At eight the police had difficulty in getting the performers through the swaying audience to the stages. A few never did arrive.

INCIDENTS OF CARNIVAL NIGHT

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

So many fainting women were hauled up on the platform at State and Washington streets by gallant policemen and others that the stage soon resembled a large and uncomfortable couch for sleeping beauties. Most of them were young and pretty and more than one photographer found it necessary to hold a blond head against his shoulder as he fanned a young woman back to consciousness. Once conscious, the patients became quite lively and hummed and sang with the orchestra.

Policeman Thomas Gavin of the Pekin station was fine at wresting weeping and weak women from the crowds, but not very good at depositing them. So that while Oscar Kobelke, plump and comfortable saxophonist in Wayne King's orchestra, was busy saxophoning, Policeman Gavin deposited two pretty girls against Kobelke's knee. They were Mary Zoric, 16 years old, and her sister, Patricia, 19, of 3253 South Springfield avenue. Kobelke could do nothing about it until the piece was finished, when he revived the girls and fanned them with his music sheets.

The Japanese strong men, by name Sakuri, were all in when they finally reached their platform after battling the crowds. The only member of the troupe who wasn't mopping a perspiring face was a little Japanese boy who had ridden on his papa's shoulders.

Jean Harlow, movie actress with the platinum blond hair, appeared in a white satin evening dress and ermine coat. When photographers asked her to pose shaking hands with some of the boys down in front, so hearty was the handclasp of several delighted youths in the audience that she retired with a bruised hand, cut by a ring she wore, and a broken crystal on her wrist watch.

Among the thousands of Jubilee enthusiasts one man had all the room he wanted. He occupied a camp chair which he had hoisted and fastened to the stop and go light post on the southwest corner of Washington and State streets.

Early in the evening, when crowds were watching the electricians do a record breaking job of connecting lamps, and telephone men setting up phone service, a woman stood by smoking a cigaret. "Gee," said her companion, "imagine your getting away with this on the main drag at home."

Men with ringside seats were the crews of the surface line work cars which formed the bases of the stages. They had to stay with their cars.

On State street in the afternoon policemen were seen going in for politeness in a big way, helping elderly women visitors all the way across the street.

From a salesman at a State street silk counter: "Well, I've been up to one-thirty the last two nights and I told the Mrs. I'd stay home tonight. Can't stand any more. Was all sore last night from fighting the matches at the Golden Gloves. And my arches been bothering me since Monday night. Yeah, I saw the parade. I was clinging like a fly to one wall of the Art institute all the time. Hard on the arches."

Janitress to waitress in a rushed State street restaurant at 6 p. m.: "Got everything fixed for 'em, Daisy. Swell view from the third floor."

Fountain girl in drug store at 5:30 p. m.: "If I've fixed one Jubilee banana split today I've fixed a thousand."

Among the window artists who have sprung up like mushrooms on State street during the Jubilee are "Little Sampson," who bulges his muscles and tells of the joys of waking up in the morning feeling courage and determination; a silent but eloquent oriental lady who gracefully writhes as she shows her audience how to work a puzzle; two girls wrapping gum with depressing speed, and a woman decorating a cake with rosebuds.

Department store windows did a big business. One store is decorated within and without with enlarged prints of early Chicago. One showed Frank Munroe's green room, which sold "Sand's Pale Cream Ale" and was next door to McVicker's theater in 1860. Another store devoted one window to a model of the Travel and Transport building for the world's fair of 1933. "Are they going to leave it that way?" one woman asked another.

and guarding his fiddle with one hand while he caressed a crying child with the other, replied, "I will cheerfully forego some of that popularity if the audience that has overflowewd my stage will leave me room to wield my bow."

That it reluctantly did.

At 9:10 o'clock Lieut. David Flynn, the traffic expert who worked for months on the plans for the moving of the Eucharistic throngs, plunged through the worst areas of congestion, and not by bullying but by tact and firmness eased situations that had seemed fraught with danger, and made it possible for the Red Cross people to reach weary women with smelling salts and reassuring words.

About eleven o'clock the hours of gayety subsided and the pleased and panting multitude was homeward bound, grateful to the playhouse people and the merchant princes for an evening of exciting fun as ever Chicago staged.

PRAISES POLICE EFFICIENCY IN HANDLING CROWD

Mandel Acclaims Success of State St. Carnival.

At the height of last night's Jubilee carnival the seven blocks of State street from Lake street to Van Buren street became a flowing river of good natured people, eddying around the six elevated entertainment stages, humming to the music, applauding the 300 professional performers, flinging confetti and tooting horns, while powerful search lights splashed rainbows of color over all.

From 8 to 11 p. m., the three scheduled hours of carnival, 1,500,000 persons came in and out of the loop, according to the estimate of Capt. Joseph O'Connell of the police traffic bureau. Amid the jostling of the immense crowd the 2,000 police on duty handled vehicular and pedestrian traffic without a single serious accident, a feat for which Leon Mandel II., chairman of the carnival committee of the State street council, paid the police department high tribute.

Collapses Near Band Stand.

Some scores of women fainted, a dozen children became separated from their parents and one celebrant, overexerting a weak heart, collapsed and died. The victim of heart disease was Dennis Sullivan, 54 years old, a barber, of 514 West 69th street, who was stricken as he struggled to get closer to the band stand at State street and Jackson boulevard.

For the fainting women and lost children the State street council had provided ample facilities in six emergency hospital stations installed in State street stores. The physicians and nurses at the stations had only to apply smelling salts and ascertain names and addresses of stray youngsters.

Mandel Praises Police.

"It was the greatest show that State street and, perhaps the whole city, has ever seen," said Mr. Mandel. "It was our aim in sponsoring the event to have it carried off without any serious mishap. Too much praise cannot be given to Police Commissioner Alcock, Capt. O'Connell and Lieut. David Flynn for their efficiency in handling their assignments."

The avalanche began to flow downtown about 4:30 p. m. An hour later State street was packed from end to end of the loop, with the overflow bulging into Wabash avenue, Dearborn street, and Clark street. Madison, Randolph, and other cross streets were packed almost solid from Wabash avenue on the east to Clark street on the west.

Awed by the mighty throng and a bit apprehensive of their personal safety, thousands of the loop visitors turned homeward after a brief glance at the spectacle. But crowds continued to arrive and the loop throng did not diminish, at least not before 10 o'clock.

At first the spirit of the merrymakers seemed uncertain. They stood shoulder to shoulder, gazing about in puzzlement, and wondering, as many expressed it, "Well, why did we come?"

Then at 8 o'clock, from the carnival field headquarters on the eighteenth floor of the Republic building, Mr. Mandel signaled for the entertainment to begin.

Searchlamps drenched the stages in light of brilliant blue. Bands struck up, singers, acrobats, tumblers and stage comedians began to do their turns and the masses surged forward.

The carnival was in full swing from then on until 11 o'clock, when, at Mr. Mandel's signal, the bands of musicians, and the stars of radio and theater stopped the show.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

FIREWORKS SHOW TO BRING JUBILEE THRILLS TONIGHT

Throng to See Gala Event on Lake Front.

Rockets whizzing high in the air, exploding bombs bursting and scattering flashes of fiery stars, blazing colors disappearing from sight—these will be part of the spectacular fireworks show which is to be given tonight in Grant park as a major event of the Chicago Jubilee. The display is being sponsored by THE TRIBUNE.

Promptly at 8:45 o'clock an aerial bombardment will open the show, and from then on until the grand finale Chicago will witness a pyrotechnical display which for sheer beauty and gorgeousness will, it is predicted, excel any heretofore given.

Program to Be Broadcast.

The exhibition will be staged in Grant park between Monroe and Jackson streets, just north of the Buckingham fountain. Other features will augment the entertainment. Martial music will be played under the direction of Gaston du Moulin, orchestra director of W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE radio station. A vivid description of the pyrotechnical show of colors and sounds will be given by Quin Ryan, W-G-N announcer.

The Chef Barons, well known colored quartet, will be heard. They will sing Negro spirituals. Members of the group are Merlin Smith, Hamilton Sevier, Hyman Mills, and Joel Parson. Allan Grant, W-G-N pianist, will accompany them.

Forty-eight major presentations will be included in the fireworks show. The intricate properties required were created yesterday by experts of the Ehrich-Dofflemyer Fireworks company, which is handling the display. Officials of the concern are enthused over the many new devices and designs worked out for the exhibition.

Thrills of Fireworks Show.

"The show guarantees thrills," said C. H. Dofflemyer, president. "Bombshells, magnified pinwheels, stars and chains of fire, myriads of darting flames will light the sky. There will be strange figures, a motor cop chasing a speeding automobile, salvos of bombs and poppies, flying fish, battleships, Niagara falls, old Fort Dearborn, all produced in fireworks."

The TRIBUNE'S pyrotechnical show will be the fourth major event of the Chicago Jubilee. The others were the Monday night parade, the Tuesday night American-French Golden Gloves tournament, and last night's State street carnival. The daylight hours also included many features.

DEPUTY MOUNTS GUARD ON GUEST IN HOTEL ROOM

Adam H. Munyer, 43 years old, a wealthy New York importer, was taken to the detective bureau last night by Deputy Sheriff W. M. Collins, who announced he had taken Munyer into custody on a citation for contempt of court. He is to appear in room 415 of the county building today for a hearing. The citation was made on complaint of his divorced wife, Mrs. Wadia Munyer of Oak Park.

About an hour after he had been imprisoned Collins returned and announced he would take Munyer back to his room in the Stevens hotel and guard him there.

In 1924 Munyer sued for an annulment of his marriage, alleging that as his wife was his first cousin it was illegal. Mrs. Munyer, however, was granted a divorce, with alimony of $75 a month in 1928.

Champion School Band Plays for City Council

The Carter H. Harrison Technical high school band, Chicago band champion, appeared in the city council chamber last night to play a new march written by Ald. John Toman (23d) in honor of the mayor and entitled "Mayor Cermak." At its meeting yesterday the council adopted a resolution, introduced by Ald. Toman, commending the band on its achievements. The band will go to Tulsa, Okla., shortly to compete in the national high school band contest to be held there on May 22 and 23.

Board Accepts Plan for Audit.

Chicago's 14,000 school teachers are likely to receive at least partial payment on overdue salaries tomorrow. Members of the board of education at their meeting yesterday practically assured the teachers that their salary checks would be forthcoming on that day when a special meeting will be held so that the trustees may pass the pay roll.

JAS. HEMINGWAY.

Chairman J. A. Hemingway of the schools finance committee reported that $2,240,000, representing 70 per cent of the board of education's share of the annual appropriation for the school distributive fund, is expected to be turned over to the board tomorrow. This amount, however, will cover only part of the overdue salaries, which amount to $3,775,000. That pay roll was due on April 28. The teachers haven't been paid since April 2.

Accept Plan for Auditor.

The suggestion of the senate committee on education at Springfield last week that a special auditor be appointed to investigate the books of the board of education to learn the state of school finances and suggest possible economies was accepted yesterday by the trustees.

A resolution adopting this suggestion was introduced by William D. McJunkin, newly appointed trustee, who, speaking in behalf of his resolution, stated that its passage indicated a willingness of the trustees to cooperate with Mayor Cermak and the new administration.

A Two Weeks' Job.

An auditor from Cleveland, O., will be appointed to examine the books and the job is expected to be completed within two weeks.

Robert F. Carr, new Cermak appointee, was inducted into office at yesterday's meeting and Mrs. Helen Hefferan began a new term, following her appointment recently by the mayor. Mr. Carr succeeds Bolesław Koszlowski, whose term expired.

PARADES STAGED IN NEIGHBORHOOD JUBILEE EVENTS

More than 20,000 persons crowded the twenty blocks between Kedzie and Keeler avenues in 26th street to witness the pet and children's parade last night. The event was sponsored by the Twenty-sixth Street Business Men's association as a feature of the outlying districts' celebration of the Chicago Jubilee. Flags and bunting, with the blue and gold of the Jubilee, decked the thoroughfare. There were 266 youngsters and as many pets in the march. The children were dressed as Martha Washingtons, Bo-Peeps, sailors, soldiers, cowboys, and Uncle Sams. The animal world was well represented among the pets.

Several other parades were held on the south side. One was under the auspices of the Woodlawn Business Men's association. There were 80 floats, 50 machines from motor row, 17 trucks, 100 Boy Scouts, several TRIBUNE floats, and the Woodlawn Post band of the American Legion. Marshals were R. B. Sternberg, George Feldkamp, E. W. Fleming, Harry Gordon, Fred Astinwall, Theodore M. Becker, and R. T. Davis.

Sixty Floats in Parade.

In the parade sponsored by the South Woodlawn Chamber of Commerce, more than sixty decorated floats participated, augmented by 100 cars. Gen. Mooney was chief marshal. The clumn traversed every section of the 8th ward, starting at 71st street and South Chicago avenue and ending at 75th and State streets.

On the northwest side a long and colorful parade was staged under auspices of the Mayfair Chamber of Commerce and the North Mayfair Improvement association. It began at Lawrence and Elston avenues, moved five miles over fifteen streets, and disbanded at Elston avenue and Argyle street. The various lanes were festooned and decorated. G. Earl Gundle, president of the chamber of commerce, and E. J. Orther, president of the improvement association, directed the event.

Baby Parade Is Held.

During the afternoon a baby parade was held in East 75th street. About the same time School day was celebrated with gymnastics and singing in Cermak park, 26th street and Kostner avenue. At 7 p. m. the Logan Square Business Men's association gave a dinner at the Logan Square Athletic club. At another gathering at Sinai Center, Dr. Louis Mann spoke.

A silver loving cup, donated by THE TRIBUNE, was officially presented to the Lake View high school, whose band won honors over sixteen competitors. The entire band was present during the ceremony at the school. Principals in the ceremony were O. W. Winter, the school principal, who accepted the cup; L. D. Walz, band captain; Lieut. Elmer Harris, and Drum Major Stacy Keach.

Emblems to the two best floats were awarded by Marshall Field & Co. and Carson Pirie Scott & Co. in the offices of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Judges were Frederick J. Ashley, chairman of the Jubilee coordinating committee; R. J. Thain, Boris Anisfield and John Norton.

Winners were Loyola university, recipient of the Carson Pirie Scott & Co. trophy, and the Chinese Benevolent association, recipient of the Marshall Field & Co. trophy. The former had the best historical float and the latter had the most beautiful entry.

MAYOR REFORMS COUNCIL'S WAYS; HALTS TALKING

14 Appointments Given Official Approval.

Fourteen appointments submitted last night by Mayor Cermak were confirmed by the city council without debate in a session unusually quiet in contrast to former meetings.

The newly acquired, subdued tone got its impetus from the mayor, who early took the aldermen firmly in hand with a demand that they maintain decorum. For years the aldermen have roamed about the council chambers t will, often holding private conference among themselves. The number of these conferences at times was so large that the voice of the reading clerk was often drowned out, and measures slipped through without many of the aldermen conscious of their passage.

Wants Less Talking.

"I want the members of the council to conform with the rules and keep to their seats and refrain from talking while business is being transacted," said the mayor. "If all of you talk one-half of the council won't know what the other half is doing." He emphasized his remarks with a resounding whack of the gavel.

With four exceptions the appointments followed the list as forecast yesterday. Richard J. Collins, for years head of the Fulton street market and prominent in many corporations, was named to the civil service commission. Mr. Collins, who lives at 5555 Sheridan road, is slated for the presidency of the board.

One of his colleagues on the merit board will be Prof. Leonard D. White of the University of Chicago, a Republican, who made a study under Mayor Dever for the improvement of civil service. The third member is Joseph P. Geary, formerly commissioner under the Dever administration.

Two on Improvement Board.

Two men were named to the board of local improvements, which will give President B. F. Lindheimer a quorum with which to transact business. Those named are Col. Horatio B. Hackett and Joseph F. Higgins.

Col. Hackett, who lives at 1320 North State street, is an architect and has been prominent in sports. He was a member of the A. E. F. and was wounded overseas. Mr. Higgins formerly was with Nash Bros., contractors and builders.

Edward J. Kaindl, former alderman and nominee for city treasurer in the April election, was appointed city collector. Harry Kohl, committeeman for the 36th ward, was named boiler inspector, the position he held under Mayor Dever.

Other appointments were Michael Howlett, master plumber, to the board of examining plumbers; Richey V. Graham, state senator and the mayor's son-in-law, F. Emory Lyon, secretary of the Central Howard association, and Frank W. Kee as members of the house of correction inspection board; Capt. Benjamin Lipsner, Bailiff Al J. Horan, and Evar Swanson as members of the aero commission.

Clashes with Ald. Cronson.

The mayor tangled briefly with Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th], chairman of the efficiency, reorganization, and consolidation committee, when the latter asked for authorization for the committee to make a survey of city departments with a view of eliminating overlapping activities.

"I have appointed a commission to make that survey," said the mayor, "and any attempt of this or any other committee to do the same work will cause members of the commission to resign. Don't be disturbed that the commission will usurp your powers; their recommendations will come to the council for approval."

Announcement was made by Mayor Cermak that he expects a partial report from the commission within sixty days. The report will concern the centralization of the purchasing activities of the city, which are now, according to the mayor, handled in practically all of the departments.

Sister Act Bankrupt

BETH DODGE. BETTY DODGE.

New York, May 13.—[Special.]—The Dodge twins—Beth and Betty—who, as one of the best known sister acts in vaudeville, have delighted continental audiences with their jazz dancing and American songs, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today.

The sisters, both in their early twenties, list their liabilities at $4,863. They have no unpledged assets, they said.

The inability of Beth and Betty to get engagements in this country during what actors have termed the most severe employment depression in the history of their profession, is believed to be the direct cause of the sisters' straitened circumstances. At the height of their popularity it is understood they received as much as $2,000 weekly for their act.

JOE COOK GIVEN A DIVORCE AND FOUR CHILDREN

New York, May 13.—[Special.]—A Trenton divorce court has wiped out one of the most ancient gags of Broadway's king of gagmen—Joe Cook—the one to the effect that he is married and has four children, "and at that I've been away all morning."

For it was revealed today, after having been astutely hidden for almost a month, that on April 15 the Chancery court granted his application for a divorce from Beatrice Helen Cook, whom he married in Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 2, 1914, and granted him the custody of those four children.

Mrs. Cook, who is reported to be with her mother in Detroit, did not contest the suit, which named Edward Hewing of Lake Hopatcong, as corespondent.

The famous "trick" house of the Cooks on Elba avenue, Hopatcong borough, equipped with rubber chairs which collapse, rubber coat hangers which do likewise, was deserted today. Joseph Lytell Cook, as the divorce papers call him, is in Chicago with his "Fine and Dandy" company which made such a hit on Broadway. News of the divorce came as a shock to Broadway, for the versatile Joe was generally reputed to be one of the happiest married men in the theatrical world.

KILLS HERSELF WITH POISON.

Mrs. Edna Swanson, 29 years old, committed suicide yesterday by taking poison in her home at 106 South Park avenue, Park Ridge. She had been ill for months. A coroner's jury held that she killed herself while temporarily insane.

FOREIGN GUESTS HAIL CITY'S RISE IN WORLD TRADE

36 Nations Represented at Jubilee Luncheon.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

World economic troubles were discussed at the Jubilee luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce, which was held yesterday in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house, with 850 guests present and 36 nations represented either by visiting leaders or consuls.

JOSEPH SACHS.

Georges Theunis of Belgium, retiring president of the International Chamber of Commerce; Joseph Sachs of Stockholm, who was called the "Marshall Field of Sweden," and Silas H. Strawn, the new president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, were the experts who attempted to give some light on causes and cure of the business crisis in which all the civilized nations of the world are involved.

Praises Chicago's Growth.

Mr. Theunis had a word of distinct optimism for Chicago. His address was given in English, as was that of Mr. Sachs.

"Chicago is representative of the accomplishments of the United States," Mr. Theunis said. "On the spot where a century ago stood a modest village, skyscrapers now soar to the heavens. Chicago now plays a great part in the economic life of the world."

After mentioning the city's industrial development, its importance as a financial and railroad center, and calling attention to the development of the artistic and intellectual as shown by architecture, universities, and museums, he said:

"You are particularly representative of the strength and greatness of the American effort. These same energies and perseverance will enable you to carry on in the difficult time through which we are now passing."

Sachs Discusses Situation.

Mr. Sachs spoke on the general economic situation.

"We are passing through a profound economic crisis," he said, "and we cannot stop until we have found the explanation of its sources. One thing is the great stores of gold in the United States and in France. One of the chief reasons is the difficulty found by England in recovering its competitive ability. Italy is restricted by stabilization of the lira at too high a level. The same is true in Germany.

"The competitive ability of the United States has greatly increased and that of France is in a favorable position. But these countries have not been able to assume the rôle filled by England in international finance. Our financial system has been unable to employ savings for necessities, but has often used them to produce commodities for which the demand grows slowly.

"International debts have caused serious inconveniences to many nations not directly involved. The amount of the war debts was fixed at a time when the value of money was one-half of what it is today. An arrangement to conform to this would be an economic relief."

Strawn Makes Address.

Mr. Strawn said he was more and more impressed by the interdependence of all nations.

He spoke of the resolutions adopted at the recent meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce at Atlantic City and at the congress of the International Chamber at Washington. As there seems to be some misunderstanding in this country about the action of the Washington meeting on war debts, he said, he quoted from the resolution adopted as follows:

"The international chamber has repeatedly emphasized the fact that war is the greatest barrier to social and economic progress and the establishment of higher living standards is dependent primarily on the maintenance of peace. The chamber commends the efforts being made by the governments not only that there should be no relaxation in this effort, but rather that it should be redoubled."

"International obligations have been made definite in amount and in terms as between nations. The integrity of such obligations is always fundamental to the maintenance of international credit and to the expansion of commerce and industry. The observance of this essential principle, however, is not inconsistent with an impartial examination of the effects of these obligations on international trade, if warranted by changed economic conditions, such examination to be based on the principles laid down by the International Chamber of Commerce at its congresses.

"National and international trade should be encouraged by the removal of every obstacle possible. Tariffs should not discriminate unfairly between nations. Embargoes should be exercised only against dumping or other unfair practices. The machinery provided by some countries for the adjustment of tariff inequalities should be utilized without delay and all nations should unite in an effort to remove all unjustifiable restrictions."

The Duty of Business Men.

The tariff commission of the United States was referred to here, Mr. Strawn said, and declared it was the duty of business men to carry into international commerce the spirit of these resolutions.

Among those at the speakers' table, which was decorated with flags of many nations, were Arthur Reynolds, Rufus C. Dawes, Reidar Due, Baron W. Gordon Stiernstadt, Col. Robert Isham Randolph, Dr. Cyrille Vermeren, Richard Bjercke, E. N. Hurley, Morton Lind, Dr. Fritz Demuth, Dr. Walter Dill Scott, Fred W. Sargent, and William Nathan MacChesney.

J. P. Wahlman, chairman of the ways and means committee of the association, was the toastmaster.

TELLS OF SISTER'S DEATH

Carolyn Draves leaving the courthouse at Valparaiso, Ind., yesterday after testifying against Virgil Kirkland, who is on trial for the murder of Arlene Draves, sister of Carolyn. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

WITNESS AVERS KIRKLAND SAID HE STRUCK GIRL

came to know later as Kirkland and Stanford, were carrying her by the head and shoulders and the third held her by the knees.

Finds Girl Is Dead.

"Her eyes were wide open, staring upward, the pupils dilated. The face was a pale, ashy color. I listened for a heart beat or pulse beat. There was none.

"I said: 'What's been going on here? This girl is dead.' Kirkland put his hands to his head and cried: 'O, My God.' Then all three of them started to leave. I told them they must stay, but they hurried out. I ran upstairs to my bureau, opened up a window and shouted at them as they were running to their automobile. They piled into the car and I fired two shots after the car as it sped away. Then I telephoned the police."

Dr. Wharton described bruises and abrasions on the body. Under cross-examination, an attempt was made to make him admit that the girl probably got the bruise on her forehead by falling against a wall of the porch.

"I don't think she got the bruise that way," said the physician. "My impression was that she put up a tremendous fight."

Spectators Chew Gum.

Occupying the entire front row of the spectators' benches were young women, their jaws moving rythmically. Occasionally a loud snap would be heard as some dexterous gum manipulator expressed her interest. This exhibit detracted somewhat from the interest in the jury which is provided with six cuspidors and needs them.

Mouths hung open a minute as Carolyn Draves, sister of the slain girl, was recalled to the witness stand at the opening of the morning session and, with a sob in her voice, identified the clothing Arlene wore the night of the party, a short little two piece frock with black lace collar, a brassiere, stepins, and stockings constituting the apparel of the 18 year old girl.

Carolyn added two details to her previous description of the bruised and battered body of her sister as she saw it in the morgue. Arlene's nose was pushed to one side and her mouth was swollen, the sister testified.

Policeman Opie Cross, who first arrested Kirkland, added a point to the state's case when he testified that Virgil admitted having relations with Arlene when she was unconscious.

"He told me he had been intimate with her twice that night," Cross told the jury. "He said he was intimate with her on the porch and that she seemed dazed, so they went out into the car. He slapped her face to bring her to, he said, but she didn't respond. Then he attacked her again."

The scene at the home of Arlene when a frightened Kirkland appeared to notify her relatives that she was dead was described by Murrell Clemens, brother-in-law of Arlene.

"He rang the doorbell and I opened the door and asked him where Babe was," Clemens testified. "He said: 'She's dead, poison liquor.' Later he told me she had fallen on her head. He wasn't drunk at the time, although I smelled alcohol on his breath. He wasn't excited. Not near so excited as I was."

Lieut. Thixtun, who conducted the early investigation of the murder, described his questioning of Kirkland soon after the report of the murder.

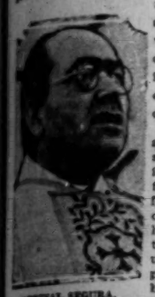
SPAIN ORDERS ALL BELONGINGS OF ALFONSO SEIZED

Church Burning Halted by Martial Law.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, May 13.—The provisional government tonight struck at the menace of disorder within the country and its greatest enemy without.



CARDINAL SEGURA.

It decreed a great shakeup in its agencies for the enforcement of order, which have found themselves unable to prevent the burning of church property, and at the same time took measures against former King Alfonso. His personal fortune in Spain will be seized pending the decision of the constitutional cortes as to his guilt in a number of counts.

Police Officials Fired.

Gen. Carlos Blanco, director general of security, was assigned to become president of the supreme tribunal of military justice. The prosecutor of the republic, Angel Galarza, will become director general of security.

In throwing out a number of civil governors in the provinces and firing many police officials the Madrid government suggests that they purposely did nothing to prevent the burning of monasteries, but were glad to see the republic discredited. Thus it answers charges that the police watched the torch applied without raising a hand as government orders.

In provincial centers such as Valencia, Cordoba, Granada, and Badajoz martial law was declared and in only one case did the civil guards fail to halt the destruction of church property, and that was because a commander, in civilian clothes, was too busy watching the fire. His resignation was accepted tonight. Suspect monarchists among the high police officials are being weeded out.

Seize Alfonso's Belongings.

All of Alfonso's personal belongings are to be seized, the government announced tonight. It was intimated that he would never get them back if the cortes convicts him. This is in retaliation, as the republic believes he personally inspired the whole campaign of provocation which the government charges to the monarchists.

"The former king, while excercising tyrannical powers from 1923 and even before, used his function to augment illegally his personal fortune," said the government decree. Considering evidence found in the files of the royal palace sufficient, the state is obliged to take measures to repair these misdeeds. They will be taken immediately and efficaciously. All personal property, landed or otherwise, of Alfonso de Bourbon and Hapsburg, will be sequestered and the income, if liquid, will be deposited in the bank pending decision by the cortes."

"Gifts" to King Called Graft.

It is charged that all the shares of the subways of Madrid and various railways, navigation companies, and numerous other concerns "presented" to Alfonso were in return for special privileges. All of these will be seized.

Now that order has been practically restored, it is evident to thoughtful republicans that they must put a stop to violent reaction. In Barcelona the syndicalists are guarding the churches.

Although nobody was arrested for setting fire to churches, looters will be dealt with mercilessly. There have been a few and the papers are full of tales of lowly cabbies and newsboys bringing the police $20,000 in cash which they saved, sometimes at the peril of their lives, from the burning buildings. In the slums of Madrid the poor were too proud to filch edibles from the burning monasteries. This correspondent saw wretched individuals hurl hams from the larders of the monks and boxes of canned goods disdainfully into bonfires, while barrels of fine wine were permitted to trickle into the gutter.

Cardinal Leaves Country.

Pedro Cardinal Segura, primate of Spain and archbishop of Toledo, crossed the boundary into France today. He is en route to Rome. He said he would not see King Alfonso in Paris. His appearance at the office of the civil governor at San Sebastian caused great surprise. Since his disappearance from Toledo yesterday morning, the authorities had not the faintest idea of his whereabouts. A police car that attempted to follow the fleeing prelate was left behind on the smooth, straight highway just outside of the old imperial capital.

Circles close to the government today expressed astonishment at the report that the Vatican was demanding an apology for the destruction of church property.

"Within an hour after an apology would be published, half of the monasteries in Spain would be in flames as a protest by the people," said a prominent member of the government.

The population of Madrid, venturing out into the heat this morning, was popeyed to discover that the capital, which had subsided into complete tranquillity yesterday, was filled with an army of occupation. Machine guns and tanks stood menacingly in the streets.

Then the word was spread that the show was to intimidate the communist and syndicalist elements from attempting to turn the funeral for the victims of Sunday's riots into a new disturbance. Nothing happened and before the morning was over the soldiers were squatting on the sidewalks smoking cigarets.

Communists Ransack Churches.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, May 13.—Communists from Malaga today invaded La Linea and all the neighboring towns, ransacking churches, convents, and monasteries. Priests and nuns are being accommodated by Little Sisters of the Poor in Gibraltar.

Local hotels are crowded with Spanish aristocrats and families of refugees, who excitedly relate atrocious deeds committed by the communists in Andalusian towns. Numerous Americans have also hurried to Gibraltar.

A large band of communists is stationed three miles from Gibraltar on the main road to Algeciras, stopping motor cars, demanding money and dragging out the occupants.

They demolished statues and religious emblems and scattered them in the streets of La Linea and Algeciras.

LINCOLN PARK BONDS ISSUE BILL PASSED BY ILLINOIS HOUSE

Springfield, Ill., May 13.—[Special.]—Senate bills 7 and 12, giving the Chicago Lincoln park commissioners the right to issue $7,000,000 worth of bonds within the next three years for improving and developing the park and the Lake Michigan shore line, and to extend their territory by acquiring submerged land, passed the house this afternoon. The bond issues are subject to a referendum and would allow the issuance of $3,000,000 in 1932, $2,000,000 in 1933, and $2,000,000 in 1934. The bills now go to the governor for his approval or veto.

U. S. MAY PAY TO KEEP RUM SAFE FOR DIPLOMATS

Plan Follows Raid on Envoy's Cellar.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 13.—[Special.]—How to protect the choice wines and liquors imported into the national capital by its diplomatic colony became a major problem for Washington government and police officials today.

DR. LEIVA.

Following a murderous attack by whisky thieves, early this morning, upon Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, chargé d'affaires of the legation of Salvador, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson immediately ordered an investigation to ascertain if foreign envoys, resident in the capital, are receiving the special protection he feels they are entitled to under international usage. At the same time he dispatched a letter to Dr. Leiva expressing this country's regret over the incident.

May Provide Rum Guard.

As a result of the turmoil stirred up in the diplomatic set by the liquor robbery, it is possible a policeman may be stationed in front of each embassy and legation to make certain that prowling liquor thieves will not molest the rare beverages so popular with Washington's officialdom. What steps will be take in the event congressional drys veto such a policy is a matter of speculation.

Washington's latest diplomatic liquor incident had its origin at 2 o'clock this morning, when Dr. Leiva, returning to the legation, ran into one of three burglars who had been ransacking the place in search of liquor. The diplomat immediately grappled with one of the three, a left handed burglar, and emerged with three scalp wounds which required seventeen stitches to close when he was taken to Emergency hospital.

Diplomat Fired on.

The envoy was knocked down by one of the burglars after two shots, fired at him, had gone wild. Before he was put out of the fight by two more blows, according to his story, Dr. Leiva buried his teeth in a finger on the burglar's left hand, bit it to the bone. The burglars then departed, abandoning twenty-seven cases of liquor they had set aside for loading into a truck.

The wheels of the state department began revolving rapidly as soon as word reached Secretary Stimson that Dr. Leiva had been attacked. Shortly after the envoy reached the hospital Dr. Joel T. Boone, the President's physician, arrived with directions from the President to do anything he could to make the diplomat comfortable. A few moments later Walter Thurston, chief of the division of Latin-American affairs of the state department, put in an appearance.

Stimson Sends Regrets.

Early in the afternoon Secretary Stimson's letter of regret was delivered to Dr. Leiva. It read as follows:

"I was shocked to learn of the injuries which you suffered last night and I hasten to extend to you an expression of my regret. I assure you that the police will make every effort to apprehend the offender.

"I trust that you will recover promptly and I want you to know that you have my deepest sympathy."

Although Dr. Leiva decided not to call the matter to the attention of the state department, Mr. Stimson told newspaper men at his regular conference that such an incident could not be overlooked. He said the incident was serious enough to deserve the careful investigation he intended to make, in view of the fact that it is the state department's duty to see that foreign diplomats receive special protection.

Faces Dry Opposition.

Informally, attachés of the Salvador legation pointed out that in their country the foreign legations always have police officers stationed there to provide adequate protection. Just as informally, Washington police officials asked reporters how much chance they thought special appropriations for providing special protection for diplomats and their liquor would have of receiving congressional approval, in view of the uproar caused whenever the subject of diplomat liquor is brought up in the house or senate.

STEPHENSON IS GIVEN SETBACK IN FIGHT FOR A NEW TRIAL

Indianapolis Ind., May 13.—[Special.]—The latest efforts of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan to speed a decision on his appeal for a new trial failed here this afternoon when the State Supreme court refused to order reopening of the case in a lower court.

Stephenson is serving a life sentence in state prison for murder of an Indianapolis young woman in 1925. For five years his direct appeal for a new trial has been before the Indiana Supreme court.

This winter Stephenson petitioned the Hamilton county court, where the trial was conducted, for a writ of coram nobis to reopen the trial. The County court refused for lack of jurisdiction and when Stephenson appealed the Supreme court upheld a demurrer filed by the state.

Bryce Canyon National Park Adds 5,620 Acres

Washington, D. C., May 13.—(AP)—The interior department today announced addition of 5,620 acres to Bryce cañon national park in southern Utah. The land was transferred partly from Powell national forest and partly from public domain, for the purpose of rounding out the park area. The park was created in 1928 and has grown from less than 15,000 acres to approximately 35,000.

California House Approves Lethal Gas for Executions

Sacramento, Cal., May 13.—(AP)—A bill substituting lethal gas for hanging as the manner of execution in California was passed by the assembly today, 56 to 10. The bill, having previously passed the senate, goes to Gov. Rolph for his approval or rejection.

EX-WIFE LOSES $100,000 SUIT ON BEATING CHARGE

Mrs. Beulah Getschow, 7448 Barton avenue, yesterday lost her $100,000 suit charging assault and battery against her former husband, Roy M. Getschow, secretary of the Phillips-Getschow company, plumbing contractors. Superior Judge Michael McKinley found Getschow not guilty of the charge and ruled that any blows struck by him had been justified.

Mrs. Getschow alleged that the beating was administered on April 17, 1930, in her home while she was entertaining Lawrence Robbins, a theatrical booking agent. Robbins also was beaten, Mrs. Getschow testified. Getschow, when questioned by his attorney, Cornelius Harrington, said he had only defended himself after she attacked him with a meat cleaver.

The Getschows were married in 1917 while Mrs. Getschow was appearing in a theatrical production here. Mrs. Getschow won a divorce on grounds of cruelty, $13,000 in cash, and alimony of $250 a month on Nov. 28, 1928. The divorce suit was contested for almost two years. Getschow resides at the Lake Shore Athletic club.

TETANUS FATAL TO WOMAN.

Mrs. Tessie Missel, 35 years old, 3018 East 100th place, died at the County hospital yesterday from tetanus resulting from a bruise suffered when she fell in her home five weeks ago.

PETERSON READY TO TESTIFY IN SHORTAGE QUIZ

Charles S. Peterson, former city treasurer and controller, notified Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller yesterday that he is now willing to go before the special grand jury and tell what he knows of the reported shortage of $36,000 from the city treasury. Former Senator Charles S. Deneen, who is representing Peterson, notified the prosecutor.

Peterson as well as five other political leaders in the former régime could not be located by detectives with subpoenas. The grand jury having adjourned for a week or more will decide when they reconvene at what time they will hear Peterson. The former official yesterday also issued a statement denying that he ever erased or instructed any one to erase his O. K. from loan vouchers.

"I have never erased, attempted to erase, or instructed any one else to erase or attempt to erase, any O. K. of mine on any pay roll advance ever made by me," he said.

Reginald Denny's Former Wife Sues Him for $5,400

8 HOUR DAY FOR WOMEN WINS IN SENATE BY 27-11

Bill Now Goes to House for Action.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 13.—[Special.]—The eight hour working day bill for women in industry was passed this evening by a vote of 27 to 11, and now goes to the house. It is one of the major measures in the program of organized labor this session.

AGNES NESTOR.
[Moffett Photo.]

The measure went through without debate, after explanatory remarks from its sponsor, Senator Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet] that nearly all industrial employers in Illinois are already ahead of the bill.

Climaxes 20 Year Battle.

The senate action marks another move in the battle of twenty years' standing between Miss Agnes Nestor of the Women's Trades Union league and the Illinois Manufacturers' association. Miss Nestor, who has been working for the measure for years, was one of the chief advocates here in 1909 of the women's 10 hour law, which was patterned upon the Oregon statute.

Twice the eight hour bill has passed the house but has been beaten in the senate. And four years ago it passed the senate and was defeated in the house. The Illinois Federation of Labor and its president, Representative R. G. Soderstrom [Rep., La Salle], chairman of the house committee on education, have backed the bill. This time its sponsors have urged its passage as one means of combating industrial unemployment and have urged that the shorter work day is a necessary accompaniment of the machine age and of labor saving devices. The battle in the house is looked for next week.

Exempts Commercial Houses.

The women's 8 hour bill in the form it passed the senate applies to women in industries, such as factories, printshops, laundries, etc. An amendment exempted stores, hotels, and restaurants.

It is really a 48 hour a week bill, as women may work 9 hours a day five days a week and three hours on the sixth day. Nothing in the act shall prohibit a female from being employed seven days a week where she is not employed more than eight hours in any one day.

The Roll Call.

BLACKMER IS GIVEN STAY FROM SENATE CONTEMPT PENALTY

Washington, D. C., May 13.—(AP)—The district Court of Appeals today granted Harry M. Blackmer, oil man, a stay of 90 days on his conviction of contempt of court pending an application for a review by the Supreme court.

The Court of Appeals on April 6 affirmed the decision of the District of Columbia Supreme court, finding the former president of the Mid-West Refining company guilty of contempt for refusal to return from France to testify in the Albert B. Fall-Harry F. Sinclair oil cases.

He was fined $60,000. Under the stay he will have until July 6 in which to file his application for a review before the mandate is handed down. Blackmer has indicated he intends to attack the validity of the Walsh act under which he was convicted. The act, passed especially in an effort to obtain his testimony, would permit the service of a subpoena on an American citizen living in a foreign country. For a number of years Blackmer has lived in France.

Accused as Mercy Slayer of Her Invalid Brother

Amityville, N. Y., May 13.—(AP)—Louise Schwartz, 57-year old spinster, was arrested today and charged with aiding and abetting the suicide of her brother, Edward, ill for the last five years. Police accused her of shooting her brother to end his suffering. She maintained that, desperate with pain, he killed himself.

WHITES GET LIFE TERM.

Waycross, Ga., May 13.—(AP)—J. D. Colley, 17, and Thurman Davis, 19, white youths, were under sentence of life imprisonment today for killing and robbing a Negro night watchman at a lumber mill March 23. They pleaded guilty.

A. F. OF L. CALLS ON ALL LABOR TO FIGHT PAY CUTS

Attacks Wage Policy of "Certain Employers."

Washington, D. C., May 13.—(AP)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor announced today it would appeal to organized and unorganized labor to "resist to the fullest extent" attempts to reduce wages.

The council called upon labor to resist wage reductions, saying its action "is inspired by a firm conviction that it is only a step from reductions in wages to continuous, permanent unemployment."

"The policy pursued by certain banking interests and employers of labor in attempting to enforce reductions in wages constitutes a public violation of the understanding reached at the President's conference," the statement continued. "The Goodyear and Goodrich Tire companies have announced substantial reductions in wages. . . .

Destroying Own Market.

"Automobile and automobile tire manufacturing industries must depend upon a high purchasing power on the part of the masses if a market is to be found for their products. How these industries can find a market if the buying power is still further lowered is difficult to understand.

"Suffering and distress prevail, while social unrest is steadily increasing. There are strong indications that we are facing a third winter of distressing unemployment."

Restoration of buying power and preservation "of the American standard of living" were cited as "what we need."

The President's Conference.

The President's conference referred to was taken to mean that called in November, 1929, when Mr. Hoover conferred with industrial and labor leaders at the White House. More than a score of the nation's leading industrialists pledged themselves individually not to initiate any movement for wage reduction.

Included in the group were Henry Ford, Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric company; E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation; Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors, and Pierre Du Pont, chairman of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co.

CALLS BANKERS TO HELP SOLVE TAX DILEMMA

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

J. B. McDONOUGH. [Wallinger Photo.]

...o serious is the nonpayment of ...es that County Treasurer J. B. Mc...ough yester... ...ay invited six... ...ty bankers to ...s office next ...Monday after... ...on to discuss ...e situation.

Approximately $[illegible] in ...es on the 1929 ...levy had been ...id on Tuesday ...ight. The pen... ...alty deadline is 5 ...o'clock tomorrow ...ight. This com... ...pares with $186,... ...615 collected ...n the 1928 levy ...ree days before ...he penalty date, which was July 10 ...ast year. Even that sum was re... ...arded as relatively small, because ...after the tax sale following the 1928 ...collection last summer there was ...more than $51,000,000 of uncollected ...taxes.

Two days before the penalty date last ...July an aggregate of $95,376,363 had ...been paid in taxes, and the county ...treasurer hoped that the cashier's re... ...ports this morning covering the time ...up to the closing of the books last ...night will show $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 ...collected yesterday.

Rise $125,000,000 Delinquencies.

Despite this expectation, he wrote the bankers that "it now seems probable that the total collections by Friday, the penalty date, will not exceed $[illegible],000,000 out of the total spread of approximately $225,000,000."

"This is a serious matter," Treasurer McDonough went on,' " approaching the point of being critical. I am calling this matter to your attention as well as to that of other bankers, for you, as leaders in the financial affairs of Chicago, may have an accurate picture of the situation, since the attitude of the public towards the collection of the 1929 taxes has become evident."

The letter explained that the purpose of the gathering is to give an opportunity to the financial leaders to exchange views on the situation.

Asks Tax Solution.

"Necessarily, I think that this is a matter of such widespread and unusual importance that the leadership in suggesting a workable plan of relief to the taxpayers may appropriately originate with you," the treasurer continued. "To date, I have failed in my meetings with various persons whom I have approached to find a practical plan which could be carried into effect within a reasonable time."

The nonpayment of the 1928 taxes, due last July, amounts to about 20 per cent; while the uncollected 1929 taxes—on which the penalty starts tomorrow—will be in the neighborhood of 10 per cent on that date, according to the estimate yesterday.

Many of the local governments have issued tax anticipation warrants for 75 per cent of their respective tax levies. In most instances the banks purchased the warrants, and at present it is uncertain where money will be obtained to pay these notes.

Promises Tax Figures.

McDonough's invitation to the bankers is, in effect, a notification to them that the county lacks tax receipts with which to pay off the warrants. At the meeting on Monday he promises to present an accurate statement of the collections by the town tax collectors and by the county collector together with comparable figures for collections on previous tax levies.

The bankers invited to the meeting are:

Edwin A. Traylor, First National.
Jos. R. Lovell, Continental Illinois bank.
Joseph R. Wilson, Central Trust company.
Elmer H. Bood, Foreman State National bank.
John W. O'Leary, National Bank of the Republic.
Howard W. Fenton, Harris Trust and Savings bank.
Joseph A. Smith, Northern Trust company.
Seth K. Reynolds, People's Trust and Savings bank.
Daniel T. Harkin, Union Bank of Chicago.
Henry S. Henchen, Chicago Bank of Commerce.
Emil L. Webb and H. E. Perante, Central Manufacturing District bank.
Seth G. Sells, Calumet National bank.
Clarence A. Bostel, Phillips State bank.
A. E. Getz, secretary of the Cook County Bankers' association.

To accommodate the taxpayers wishing to pay their 1929 taxes McDonough announced that he will keep his office open until 9 o'clock at night up to and including Friday.

Taxpayers Granted Delay.

In a further effort to promote tax payments and to accommodate the property owners he prevailed upon the legislature to give the taxpayers an added 45 days in which to settle. Accordingly, the penalty date was deferred from April 1 to May 15.

"I desire to make it as easy and convenient for the property owners to pay their tax bills as I can," said McDonough in a written statement yesterday. "I deeply sympathize with them, yes—thousands of them. I feel and have felt for several years that the owners of cottages, bungalows, two flats, and other small homes—indeed, the real estate owners generally—are compelled to pay a disproportionate share of the tax burden.

"As treasurer, it is my duty to collect the taxes. I have no jurisdiction whatsoever over the size of the tax bills, and consequently have no responsibility for them.

Situation Serious, He Says.

"The local governments are in a serious condition in that it does not now appear that the usual percentages of the tax levies will be paid. The attorney general of Illinois gave an opinion yesterday that it is impossible to fund the 1929 taxes, now in collection. No other constructive remedy which appeals to the lawmakers has yet been suggested.

"I sincerely hope that something may be done to aid the property owners; and in order to get the suggestions, views, and plans of the leading bankers of Chicago, I have called a meeting for next Monday afternoon.

"I am very hopeful that these financial men, who are interested in the growth and development of Chicago as well as in the financial affairs of individuals and corporations, will formulate some acceptable plans. A plan of aid must be found."

Expects Bankers to Help.

Mr. McDonough added verbally: "The bankers buy the tax anticipation warrants. It follows necessarily that the banks must have in their organizations men who should be well versed in the local tax situation. A successful banker must be a practical man and he cannot afford to put forth untried theories on taxation. So, when the bankers evolve a plan I believe it will be something worth listening to."

RESOLUTION SEEKS SURVEY BY BUSCH ON TAX DELINQUENCIES

A resolution was introduced at last night's city council meeting by Ald. John Toman [23d] providing that Corporation Counsel Francis X. Busch be ordered to ascertain the amount of delinquent and defaulted taxes before inaugurating special improvements in any specified locality.

The resolution provided that "before the city can authorize any local improvements paid for by special assessments a study of delinquencies and defaults in payment of general city taxes and special assessments shall be made in districts where such new improvements are to be made."

"One of the city's greatest problems is that of delinquent taxes," said Ald. Toman, in support of his resolution. "The people have so many taxes they are unable to pay most of them. Some effort should be made to see if they have been able to pay old taxes before adding new taxes."

The resolution also provided that improvements shall be postponed if it is found that 20 per cent of the taxpayers in specified localities are delinquent.

POLICE REFEREE RIVAL MEETINGS OF PARK BOARDS

2 Factions Claim Rule of North Shore District.

Three riot calls were sent to the Rogers Park police station last night when partisans of rival claimants for commissionerships in the north shore park district tried to seat their favorites at a meeting held in the board, headquarters at 1111 Farwell avenue.

When police squads arrived they found a crowd of perhaps 200 residents of the district striving to get into a small room in which two commissioners, who are admittedly entitled to their offices, had withdrawn. At the door stood Mrs. Mollie Kinzelberg, wife of one of them, sturdily maintaining that no one was going to get in until she said so.

And she didn't say so.

Two Arrested, Then Released.

The police took into custody James R. Glass, former United States commissioner, and, perhaps, treasurer of the park board, and James P. Ward, who is perhaps president of the park board. The perhapses are dependent on whether Thomas F. Myers Jr. and Patrick C. Winn are members of the board. But no one signed a complaint against Ward and Glass and they were released.

If Myers and Winn are in, Ward is out. The first two were elected, on the count of the votes, at the last election. Ward has claimed that the election was illegal because the ballots weren't the right type and also that Myers and Winn can't be seated because they have never produced a certificate of election.

Start for Another Room.

When the meeting convened Ward arose to read a statement. Commissioners Hyman Kinzelberg and Harold E. Leopold were willing for him to preside. But Winn and Myers weren't. Winn took charge himself and ordered the secretary to read the roll. The secretary he meant was a new one, Emmett J. Cleary. A holdover secretary, Mary R. Richartz, was also present.

When Secretary [perhaps] Cleary began calling names and omitting that of Ward, the latter walked out. Stalking after him were Kinzelberg and Leopold. Behind Mr. Kinzelberg was the encouraging voice of Treasurer Glass:

"Go into that little room, Hymie," he cried.

Once Kinzelberg and Leopold were in conference Mrs. Kinzelberg refused to allow any one, even Ward or Glass, to enter. Winn and Myers were definitely barred. It was the shoving back and forth that caused the North Shore park police to believe that somebody might get hurt. Capt. C. J. Delahanty of the park police wasn't able to take stern measures, not being quite sure who his bosses are. So he sounded the tocsin for the city police.

Two Meetings Without Quorum.

Once things had quieted down it was discovered that Winn and Myers were holding a meeting and that Kinzelberg and Leopold were holding another. The Winn-Myers group was being advised by Attorney Louis David, whom they had appointed after firing Attorney Maurice T. Weinshenk. Weinshenk, perhaps, is still attorney for the board. Leopold and Kinzelberg have not fired him.

But after a little while it was discovered that Winn and Myers didn't have a quorum and that Kinzelberg and Leopold didn't have one either. One undisputed commissioner, Howard P. Savage, past national commander of the American Legion, wasn't at the meeting. He is reported friendly to the Winn-Myers faction. Frederick Chetlain, defeated in the election, did not appear to claim his seat.

In the absence of the quorums both meetings were adjourned, leaving unanswered the important question: "Who's who in the North Shore park board?"

ROB GROCER OF $1,000.

2 YEARS to REPAY

REPRISAL SEEN AS MOTIVE IN GANG OUTBREAK

Called Revenge for Slaying of Fitzgerald.

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Bugajski, Joseph Sommens, and John Bronder, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Philip Finnegan.

County and city police were cooperating yesterday on the theory that the slaying of Harry Hyter, a minor hoodlum affiliated with the Capone gang, and the three attempts Tuesday night to kill James L. Quigley of the O'Donnell beer gang, were in reprisal for the murder on April 24 of Eddie Fitzgerald, who promoted beer sales for the McErlane gang.

Detectives from the state's attorney's office were on the trail of the Chicago gang affiliations of the six gunmen seized last week at East St. Louis and brought to Chicago for identification. Sergt. Roy Steffen said the six prisoners did considerable "muscle" and machine gun work for Alphonse Capone, but he didn't believe Capone's rackets were involved in the south side shootings in which Hyter, Fitzgerald, and Quigley were the targets.

Enters the Beer Wars.

Police information yesterday was that Hyter, in need of funds, had offered his services in the recent outbreak of the south side beer war, and may have had a part in the killing of Fitzgerald. The fact that gunmen rode past Quigley's home three times, firing scores of bullets into the building, was accepted by the police as a "tip" that Quigley was held responsible for Fitzgerald's death, but they did not believe Hyter was important enough to inspire any attempt at avenging him.

The inquest into Hyter's death resulted in a verdict of "murder by a person or persons unknown" with the usual recommendation that the police make an effort to apprehend the slayer. Mrs. Gladys Hyter, the widow, testified she knew nothing of her husband's criminal activities, believing him to be in the automobile finance business. He gave her a weekly allowance of $25, she said, and she worked as a saleslady in a dress shop.

An automobile key found in Hyter's clothing was traced. It was for an automobile stolen from Clinton H. Thorpe, 5740 Stony Island avenue.

Send Gangster to Indianapolis.

Edward O'Hara of the East St. Louis gang was sent to Indianapolis, Ind., yesterday by an order of United State Commissioner Edwin K. Walker which was approved by Federal Judge John P. Barnes. Assistant United States Attorney Lloyd B. Moody read an indictment which named O'Hara, Joe Traum, notorious northern Indiana gang leader now in Leavenworth penitentiary, and 44 others as joined in a conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. O'Hara had purchased four submachine guns for this gang from a man named John Onkin, the indictment alleged.

Thomas Hayes, one of the East St. Louis prisoners, was ordered released yesterday by Chief Justice John P. McGoorty when police stated there were no identifications of him.

COURT FREES 2 HELD IN NORRIS ELECTION CASE

Lincoln, Neb., May 13.—(AP)—Perjury indictments against George W. Norris, the grocer, and Victor Seymour, Republican leader, in connection with their testimony before the senate's campaign fund investigating committee here, were dismissed today by Federal Judge T. C. Munger, but the court held that the committee's inquiry into the 1930 Nebraska Republican senatorial campaign was valid.

Demurrers filed by the grocer and Seymour were sustained by the court on a technicality. Charles E. Sandall, United States district attorney, said the government probably will seek new indictments against the grocer, who attempted to oppose Senator George W. Norris in his race for reelection, and Mr. Seymour, who resigned as manager of the Republican senatorial campaign committee's Denver office as a result of the investigation.

Nye's Powers Sustained.

The defendants challenged the constitutional authority of the committee headed by Senator Gerald P. Nye to investigate a primary election campaign. Judge Munger held that the inquiry was legal, but that the indictments failed to specify the materiality of the defendant's answers.

"Because of the defect," the judge ruled, "an order will be entered sustaining the demurrers on each count."

After Norris filed as a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, the senate committee came to Nebraska and conducted several hearings. The grocer's filing later was ruled illegal by the state Supreme court, because of its belated arrival, and his name did not appear on the ballot.

The Grocer's Story.

Grocer Norris told the committee he entered the race of his own volition, but later W. M. Stebbins, then state treasurer and also a candidate for the senatorial nomination, testified that he gave Seymour a $500 Liberty bond to give the grocer to enter the race and that he paid the grocer's filing fee. Seymour had told the committee he had not taken an active part in the campaign.

SENATE REJECTS AUSTRALIAN BILL TO EXPORT GOLD

CANBERRA, Australia, May 13.—(AP)—The Australian senate today, by the overwhelming vote of 21 to 4, defeated the commonwealth bank bill, which provides for shipment abroad of $25,000,000 of the gold reserve to meet debts due.

The opposition senators opposed the bill since they were unable to find any way of satisfactorily amending it.

Last week Sir Robert Gibson, chairman of the commonwealth bank, when asked to give his opinion on the bill declared that the board of the bank did not approve of the gold shipment, believing it would adversely affect confidence in the Australian note issues.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD"

Place your finger on your Adam's Apple. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords.

What is the effect of modern Ultra Violet Rays upon tobacco? Dr. E. E. Free, one of America's well-known scientists, who was retained by us to study Lucky Strike's manufacturing process, addressing the Illuminating Engineering Society, said:

"The essential effect of the Ultra Violet is the production of better tobacco and of cigarettes regarded by virtually all smokers who have tested them as milder and with a lesser tendency to cause throat irritation."

Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette that employs Ultra Violet Rays in connection with its exclusive "TOASTING" Process—the only cigarette that brings you the benefits of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process which expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos.

PARSEES, BRAINS OF INDIA TRADE, FLEE TO PERSIA

80,000 to Take Riches Away with Them.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 13.—The Parsees of Bombay, who claim descent from the Magi and are the richest subjects of King George, will return to Persia, where Shah Riza Khan has promised to give them free land for recolonization.

SHAH RIZA KAHN.
[Acme Photo.]

The Parsees number only 80,000 and count more than twenty millionaires among them, including about ten multimillionaires. They will leave Bombay—the second city of the British empire—which they have built by their energy and commercial acumen. The mills, iron and steel industries, silver and gold brokerages, hotels and railway refreshment services in western India are controlled by the Parsees.

India Loses Brains of Trade.

The departure of the Parsees was foreshadowed twenty years ago by Sir Edmund Cox, formerly Bombay's inspector general of police, if British authority should be relaxed. The Parsees were in India nearly 900 years before the British came. Their departure for Persia will deprive India of her best commecial brains. The movement to return to Persia began a half century ago, on sentimental grounds, but it recently gained force and is now based on expediency. The Persian government will give the Parsees a stretch of territory in the province of Pars, from which they take their name.

It is likely that many Parsees will go to America, where some are already settled.

Came Empty Handed.

The flight of the Parsees from India will be one of the least spectacular in history. They came as empty handed fugitives. They depart having enriched the land where they have spent their exile and exploited their intelligence. India with her torrid climate has sapped their vitality; but they are the descendants of the warriors of Marathan and the men who took Babylon and released the Jews from their captivity.

One of the Magi, or wise men of the east, Belshazzar, who followed the star to Bethlehem, was a Zoroastrian. The priests of the Parsees marry only within the sacerdotal order and claim descent from Belshazzar.

GANDHI PRESENTS TERMS FOR NEW LONDON PARLEY

Sees Viceroy in India Mountain Capital.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SIMLA, India, May 13.—Exactly ten years from the last time he came to Simla and served notice on Viceroy Lord Reading that the noncoöperation movement, which led subsequently to his arrest, must be continued, Mahatma Gandhi came to this mile high summer capital in the Himalayas today to lay down to Viceroy Lord Willingdon his terms for participation in the forthcoming second round table conference in London.

From the time India's holy man abandoned a third class compartment on the Simla express at Kalka to enter a small automobile, which took him up the precipitous serpentine road leading over the Himalayan foothills to these Olympian heights of British officialdom, Gandhi received continuous ovations.

Shower Gandhi with Flowers.

Word had spread far and wide among the simple hill folk that their great apostle was coming. Abandoning their daily drudgery, these denizens of India's sacred snow capped summits flocked down the mountainside with their khadi clad women folk and hailed Gandhi as if he was the new Messiah. "Viceroy to our uncrowned king," they shouted, as they showered flowers and other tokens on the frail, smiling, and ascetic little man. Mrs. Gandhi, who sat beside the mahatma, shared her husband's triumph.

Even the government gave special recognition to Great Britain's round table opponent, for it granted him permission to pass along the upper heights of Simla in his automobile. Only three persons in Simla enjoy the right to have an automobile—the viceroy, the head of the army and the governor of the Punjab. A common man must either walk or ride in a rickshaw.

Charges Truce Is Unfulfilled.

The staid old English residents in this swanky, eerie capital, where the "heaven born" civil service officials look down on the mute toiling masses of the plains, were startled nearly out of their wits when they got their first glimpse of the strange figure in his scanty loin cloth and gossamer shawl and sandal clad feet.

Also sitting beside Gandhi was the tall, white robed figure of Miss Ellen Slade, disowned daughter of a British admiral, whose shaved head, bare feet and nun-like appearance gave the group the appearance of having just emerged from a monastery.

The Nationalist leader had a three hours' conference with the home secretary, during which he pointed out certain instances where, he alleged, the government had failed to observe the terms of the Delhi truce.

Uncertain If He Will Attend.

Later Gandhi said he had not yet made up his mind whether he would attend the second round table conference in London, but that he would discuss the matter with Lord Willingdon on Friday.

"I do not want to go to London unless I have the united voice of India behind me, and that means the Moslems and the Hindus must settle their differences regarding the question of electorates and back me up unitedly," he said. "I am hopeful that within two weeks the communal problem may be in a fair way towards settlement."

It is learned that Gandhi, despite his repeated utterances to the contrary, will attend the second round table conference. If his own efforts to settle the Hindu-Moslem communal problem fail, he will be content, it is said, to let the minorities committee appointed by the last London conclave work out a solution with the aid of the British government.

HIT-RUN DRIVERS HELD BLAMELESS IN RUSSIAN CITY

Law Pins Fault on Victim, Dead or Alive.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KHARKOV, U. S. S. R., April 19.—[By Mail.]—Violence, sudden death, and accidents mean nothing in Russia and passersby scarcely turn their heads or stop to see how badly men are hurt when they are hit by street cars and auto buses.

I saw three serious accidents, two of them fatal, when men were knocked down by automobiles or hurled off speeding buses. They were left, twisted and bleeding, in the snow covered streets and the vehicles never even slackened speed.

Pedestrians here are required by law to be on the lookout for motor traffic and it is assumed to be their own fault if they are struck. The accidents often occur when they imbibe too much vodka or the fiery Caucasian wine, but liquor is expensive and life is cheap, so nobody cares.

Grim Parade to Prison.

I have seen convoys of kulaks and their families being taken to prison to be held pending their transport to remote areas. No one notices the incongruity of seeing a dozen stalwart young soldiers, bayonets fixed, carefully herding a group of miserable old men and women staggering under sacks and wooden boxes containing all their property, weak from lack of food, almost hysterical from fear. It would be like posting armed guards of marines at old people's homes or in county poorhouses.

This morning a squad of soldiers marched a dozen kulaks up Cold Hill, past the railroad station to their cells.

The prison is huge, with a high wall and barbed wire entanglements encircle it. At each corner is a turret with a Red guard standing there, rifle over his shoulder, ready to shoot any octogenarian who tried to hurdle the twenty foot wall.

Most churches here are closed. Some have already been torn down and others are falling to pieces and will be razed. The brick will be used for construction of workers' homes.

Some persons are superstitious about living in houses made of bricks seized from the church and, although wanting adequate lodgings, they refuse to make their domiciles there. But the apartments are snapped up by others without such scruples.

Rickety Street Cars Jammed.

The street car service in Kharkov was operated by a Belgian company before the revolution. Now the tracks have been made standard gauge and the dirty old rickety cars careen along at high speed, jammed with people at all hours of the day and night.

Russians are annoyed with Americans, who live and work here, because they allege the Yankees don't try to learn Russian, and are clannish, keeping to themselves instead of associating with natives.

"Are you studying Russian?" they invariably ask foreigners, and do not try to conceal their surprise and resentment when the reply is negative.

"Life is too short to study Russian," an American said here. "I am here for a couple of years and don't intend to return, so why should I try to learn the language? It won't help me anywhere else in the world. In my spare time I am studying French and brushing up on German."

The Americans also get tired trying to make conversation with Russians who have an eight word English vocabulary but who do not weary of twisting those eight words around into various combinations.

American Culture Felt.

Everywhere where Americans are located the American culture makes itself felt, and every American home I visited was a little spot of the United States transplanted over here in the Ukraine. The differences between identical apartments in a building occupied by a Russian family and an American engineer and his wife were striking.

The Americans had their flat fixed up exactly like back home—plenty of books and magazines and month old newspapers, a radio-phonograph, modern kitchen utensils, a frigidaire, and lots of American canned goods. Upstairs the Russians lived in rooms cumbered with beds and boxes and draped with scarlet banners and posters of Lenin, Stalin, and Red slogans in white block letters.

Am ricans place lamp shades, even if only made from clean white paper, over electric lights, while the Russians left the naked bulbs blazing. Americans made curtains to fit over the windows, the Russians pinned a newspaper across the frame after dark.

How Bathrooms Differ.

Bathrooms in flats of Americans contained toothbrushes, dentifrice, razors and razor blades, toilet soap, brushes and combs, cosmetics, eau de cologne, sponges, wash rags, towels, hot water bottles suspended from a nail, a dressing gown, and perhaps pajamas hanging behind the door.

Similar bathrooms in the flat upstairs had one dirty, ragged towel and a tiny bit of soap, that's all!

Perhaps the greatest difference is that Americans put their clothes away, stow them in wardrobe trunks, dressing cases or closets. But in every room of ever Russian home there are odd garments strewn about, hanging from nails over the beds, and everywhere. But poorer Russians don't offend one that way. They have no other clothes except what they wear.

Despite a lack of conveniences and the impossibility of purchasing many articles at any price, Americans find means of setting their tables properly and teaching servants the correct manner to serve food. There is always a clean table cloth, napkins, knives, forks, and spoons, plates, cups and saucers.

The high class Russian family eats off oil cloth, the poorer ones off the board table—if at all. It's quite proper to pull out a jackknife and cut a hunk of bread and spear a dab of butter from the paper container. And in Russia one reaches for everything, shooting straight lefts and rights past your neighbors to seize some article.

Russia Jails 46 in Plot to Disorganize Railways

MOSCOW, May 13.—(AP)—The soviet secret police announced today they had discovered a strong sabotage conspiracy among railroad men to disorganize the transport industry. Forty-six arrests were made, it was reported, and the trial of the leaders is expected soon. Suspects are charged with robbing hundreds of freight cars and routing trains incorrectly in order to cast disrepute on the government.

WIFE DROPS CHARGES.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Every month the public has asked for more Pontiac cars

Last January we introduced the new Pontiac. The public took to it at once. In February sales jumped ahead. March beat February. Then April outdid March and now May is running ahead of April.

To make a record like that, a car must "have something." Pontiac isn't the cheapest car—hence price alone doesn't explain its popularity. We feel we must be right in calling Pontiac the "happy medium"—quality you won't do without, at a price you approve. In other words, a really outstanding General Motors value.

What, definitely, is offered in this car? Well, first, Pontiac's 60 h. p. motor is large, sturdy, smooth. It does all you ask without "laboring." Quick on the changing lights; nimble in traffic; fast in the open.

Pontiac's bodies by Fisher are insulated against heat, cold, rain. Seat springs have unusual depth—cushions are soft—seats adjustable for individual comfort. Upholstery is of genuine mohair or whipcord (fine leathers in open models).

Pontiac's chassis has four hydraulic shock absorbers and is also cushioned with live rubber at 43 points, so that road shocks are absorbed and riding is made easier.

Pontiac's brakes have the size and positive power to give you quick and smooth action.

The things you want in a motor car can be obtained in Pontiac at a moderate price. Better see it and drive it. Any Oakland-Pontiac dealer will gladly arrange a demonstration at your convenience.

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR WITH THE ROLLATOR

With bodies simulating piston strokes, pull and heave on the oars, slaves sent galleys splashing through the water, to the accompaniment of clanking chain, creaking oarlock and cracking whip.. that was old-time reciprocating power. In Norge Refrigerator too, reciprocating power has been done away with. A rotary refrigerating mechanism, exclusive with Norge, the Rollator, gives unfaltering performance... compact, powerful and simple, it goes right on refrigerating and quickly freezing ice cubes, even in extremes of summer heat.

Besides the Rollator, Norge has 33 quality features that make it the refrigerator to meet today's requirements . . . see the Norge before you buy.

SEES PERIL FOR PHILIPPINES, CUT LOOSE FROM U. S.

Liberty Now Means Loss of Trade—Vandenberg.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, May 13.—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan today declared a formula must be worked out immediately to forestall a move by certain selfish interests in the United States which favor the immediate independence of the Philippines in order to eliminate sugar and oil competition, thus launching the economically unprepared Philippines into uncertain nationhood. Senator Vandenberg will sail for home tomorrow.

A. H. VANDENBERG

"It is the solemn responsibility of every law maker, whether at Manila or at Washington, to deal with the future of these islands in the way which would be best to preserve and promote occidental standards and advantages in the heart of the oriental world," the senator said in an interview with THE TRIBUNE correspondent. "The utility of the government must be tested not by form, but by results as reflected in the lives, fortunes, and security of the people.

A Problem of Economics.

"Speaking only for myself, I am confirmed in the opinion that the future status of the islands now must be a problem in economics rather than political forms. As far as political forms go, Filipinos have about 95 per cent autonomy now.

"But economic autonomy is something else. Economic self-sufficiency is vital to the foundation of stability, particularly at this time when even the oldest and strongest countries are finding national economics perilous. There can be no political stability without economic stability.

Would Close Biggest Market.

"This phase calls for absolute candor both at Manila and at Washington. Premature independence will be accompanied by concurrent foreclosure of America's free markets where the Philippines sell nearly 80 per cent of their exports, and upon which they depend for a favorable trade balance.

"The imminence of this foreclosure is clear from the nature of the dominant support which the independence movement enjoys in the United States. Its support is engendered by anxiety to stop free trade as quickly as possible.

"Any sudden wrench to the Philippine economic status would be a calamity impairing the livelihood of every man, woman and child in the islands, and would scuttle public revenues at a moment when the Philippines are confronted with the inevitable need of heavily increased budgets.

"I take away with me a new sense of responsibility to consult all of these realities for the sake of the true welfare of the Philippines. The greater the present progress the greater would be the tragedy of needless error in charting the Philippines' future.

"But the Philippines are entitled to be relieved of the curse of uncertainty so far as this can be done through legislation. Uncertainty prevents long range planning schemes, stunts development, and produces ceaseless agitation, which is a poor substitute for progress.

"Candor requires consent on our part that the Philippines have unequivocal option to ultimate independence under fixed specifications after a final adequate term of economic preparation, which would better be too long than for short."

POPE PIUS WILL TALK TO U.S. OVER RADIO TOMORROW

Prepares Plan to Help End Depression.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 13.—Pilgrims from all over the world are gathered in Rome tonight for the opening tomorrow of a two day celebration of the fortieth anniversary of Pope Leo XIII.'s encyclical, Novarum Rerum, which laid down principles which the Catholic church holds should govern the relations of labor and capital. Pope Pius XI. will use the occasion to initiate a world-wide program of marshalling the forces and doctrines of the church to help solve modern social difficulties.

The climax of the celebration will occur on Friday at 5 p. m. [11 a. m. Chicago time], when the pontiff will broadcast a discourse to the world over the Vatican radio.

Will Issue New Encyclical.

The pope, who will speak in three languages, Italian, French, and German, which will then be translated into all tongues, will announce at this time that he will shortly issue another encyclical on social and labor questions, reaffirming the pronouncements of Pope Leo XIII., but also laying down other teachings on questions which have arisen since the publication of Novarum Rerum.

Tomorrow's celebration of Novarum Rerum has met with much resentment in Fascist Italy. The press charges that it is intended as a gesture to blacken the Fascist syndical and corporative system.

The American pilgrims, headed by Father Edwin O'Hara, bishop of Great Falls, Mont., will be received by the pope in special audience tomorrow. Representatives of each of the international delegations here will make laudatory speeches concerning Leo XIII.'s encyclical at a general assembly of all pilgrims, who number about 8,000 from twelve countries.

Expect Vigorous Talks.

It is known that some of these speeches will be most vigorous pronouncements on the relations of capital and labor, and are likely to excite considerable reaction in certain industrialized countries.

Pope Pius' discourse on the second day of the celebration will be made in the Damascus court of the Vatican before all the cardinals, members of the diplomatic corps, and visiting foreign delegations. On the same morning he will say mass in St. Peter's cathedral.

COOL IMPUDENCE AT SPRINGFIELD.

It doesn't seem credible that the legislature would seriously consider the Galvin bill affecting the ward committeemen in Chicago, but it has passed out of committee and is before the house of representatives. It extends the term of the committeemen from two to four years. They form the governing body of the parties with important powers and duties. Thirty-five Republican committeemen are credited to the city hall faction which was discredited and thrown out of office in the recent municipal election. The faction defeated in the election seeks a continuance of privilege by legislative act.

One would expect that such a bill would be laughed off the calendar if it came out of committee, but then one would expect that a committee would drop it in the waste basket. The house elections committee has reported the bill out favorably, proving that a preposterous bit of effrontery isn't hopeless because it is shameless. It still seems incredible that this political jobbery could hope for success in a legislature if majorities in the two houses are in their right minds.

THE MAN-KILLING DRIVER.

Evidently there is not sufficient gravity attached in general public opinion to the offense of lawless driving. In its probable consequences it is a crime and its very lack of a serious motive aggravates it. When a crime proceeds out of anger or acquisitiveness the perpetrator has sought something of value to himself, the satisfaction of a hatred or of a desire or need for money. The crime has an understandable cause which does not mitigate but at least explains. The unconscionable driver who finds in some petty motive a reason for the act which kills other people is judged not by the consequences of what he has done but by his lack of deadly intent.

The victims can find no compensation in that. A wayward person indifferent to the safety of people who cannot protect themselves from him is as dangerous as the criminal with a gun and not as respectable. He should be subjected to the punishment given the criminal. One of the greatest outrages society can permit is that innocent people keeping within the law and usage of the road should be smashed into the grave or the hospital, killed or crippled for life and injured financially by the wanton act of a driver who made them the victims of his own indifference and recklessness. These acts are written off too lightly as the chances of the road. They enter the hazards as if they were expectable and unavoidable. If the perpetrator survives his own criminality his prospect of immunity or virtual escape from consequences is very good in most communities. Real punishment is imposed with the greatest difficulty and it seldom is exemplary.

The offender is not taken for just what he is, a person of such egotistic turpitude that his whims are sufficient excuse for the endangering of traffic. That is a degraded mentality with which a community must deal properly unless it is prepared to offer a definite amount of sorrow and suffering to the satisfaction of an insuperable lawlessness.

SENATOR NYE AND BISHOP CANNON.

Senator Nye of the senate campaign expenditures committee and Bishop James Cannon Jr., trying to outface each other in the matter of the bishop's political expenditures, call for a plague on both their houses. It would be hard to say which was the least desirable figure in American politics, the senator who has abused his trust in unwarranted and unauthorized interference in elections, or the cleric who will not say how he spent money in furtherance of his attempts to control government.

In the situation in which Senator Nye and Bishop Cannon find themselves both are so discredited by the general character of their acts that it seems to matter very little which one is technically right. The bishop, whose pretensions required a scrupulous openness of conduct and an accounting to the spirit as well as the law of political fairness, has been a dark cloud of equivocal or offensive behavior, setting himself apart from the responsibilities which attach to men not protected by the cloth. The senator has distorted the authority given him and has entered primaries and elections as a partisan using federal powers to impose upon the franchise rights of states and their citizens.

These men have revealed the intentions of two autocracies, one of a senate ring to perpetuate the tenure of its members by outlawing candidacies against sitting senators up for reelection, the other of a political hierarchy seeking control of government with open threats and secret money. Bishop Cannon took contributions for political work and will not say what he did with the money. Mr. Nye entered the political affairs of various states as an inquisitor from Washington, taking over powers he did not have, threatening citizens with his inquiries and interfering with their political rights.

Nye and Cannon are two offenders against American government. If they could expose each other thoroughly they would do the only service the country can expect of either.

BUILDINGS IN THE PARKS.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature by Mr. Igoe which requires a good deal of additional explanation. It is intended to permit park boards to lease land and water areas in the parks, up to 20 per cent of the total areas under their control. The park boards would be authorized under this bill to erect or to permit to be erected buildings which would serve the public health, convenience and welfare or for education, instruction, pleasure, recreation, athletics and amusement.

There is real danger that this permission would be abused. The parks should be preserved, so far as possible, as places of outdoor recreation. There is no lack of sites elsewhere in the city for educational institutions, hospitals, gymnasia, ball parks and other types of building.

In recent years there have been numerous encroachments on the parks. An armory has been erected in Washington park and the Historical society building is to be placed in Lincoln park. The administration building of the World's Fair is to be retained, it is announced, as the permanent headquarters of the south park board, although another headquarters building was erected some years ago in Washington park.

What are the specific purposes to which a fifth of the area of the parks is to be devoted? They have not been publicly discussed. In view of the fact that the Lincoln and west park boards are not chosen by the voters of Chicago and the south park trustees only indirectly so, there is much to be said against increasing their discretionary powers in permitting private use of public lands.

NOT MORE BUT BETTER ALDERMEN.

It has not been proved that Chicago needs more wards and more aldermen. It has been proved that it needs an equalized basis of representation in the council and better aldermen serving there. To get the better representation it will be necessary to take votes away from small pocket wards and rotten boroughs and to divide populous wards into a number of smaller ones. It is a rotten system which gives one alderman thirty thousand constituents and another over a hundred thousand.

A new ward map and not an increase in the number of aldermen is the indicated need, but there is a bill at Springfield which would add ten aldermen. That, apparently, would protect the undersized ward and would do little or nothing to make it harder for the undesirable alderman to keep his place. Some day the increasing size of the city may ask for a larger council. The alderman has certain parochial duties and services in relation to his constituents which may rightly limit the size of a ward, if the council organization is to work at its best; but just now the question is not one of more but of better aldermen; not of more wards but of more equitable representation.

WHY THE SURVEYS?

When Prof. Merriam found it impossible to accept appointment to the board of education attention was called to his present commitments in public life. One is as vice president of the commission to survey the social trends of the nation. Mr. Merriam is qualified for that, and, it having been determined that there should be a survey, he is one of the men plainly indicated for it. The following inquiry does not pertain to him—but why the survey?

Endowment, such as that of the Carnegie Foundation, and appropriation of public money has founded a great American institution of inquiry which seems to exist for its own sake. Carnegie investigators form a special cult of inconsequential buzzing, the upshot of which is sporadic explosion of busybodyism morally glamouring. Half the surveys made in the United States are mere imitations of usefulness. The business came to its most natural outcome when the Wickersham commission reached to one set of conclusions and the administration and congress, the authorities to be guided by the fact finding, adopted the contrary as a policy of government.

Editorial of the Day

THE NICARAGUAN SITUATION.

[The Newton (Ia.) Daily News.]

It is plain to be seen that something has been gnawing at the heart of the state department in Washington—something that has taken the backbone out of the secretary of state's office. What that gnawing is may be guessed. It is President's Hoover's own natural desire for peace, Secretary Stimson's dislike of taking the initiative in cases of the sort, plus tremendous pressure from England and other European countries for this country to give up her navy and otherwise weaken her national defenses.

During the London naval conference, according to stories reaching this country, every effort made by this nation's representatives to protect the navy and navy bases of the United States was checkmated by Stimson. Those who have analyzed the treaty firmly believe that this country gave much and received little. The navy men do not dare open their mouths and speak the words they are thinking, but if they had leave to talk they could say plenty.

No European country has ever been known for her generosity. None, under present conditions, is going to give up something for nothing. There is no more selfish atmosphere pervading anywhere than in Europe. If Europe is "pleased" because this country is back tracking in Nicaragua, it is because Europe sees the furtherance of her own plans to step in when we step out.

It is very nice to preach world peace, and this newspaper is for it; we have always and still doubt, however, the wisdom of the peace promoters showing their good faith by discarding all their weapons of defense. For every one we discard, Europe should discard in proportion, and Europe is not doing it. As long as that situation exists, and as long as Europe is "pleased" by our withdrawal from Nicaragua, we, for one, are going to be suspicious enough of Europe to want the marines to stay in Nicaragua permanently.

UP, GUARDS, AND AT 'EM!

And now, by heck, the government of these United States of America is going to do something about these low-lifers and alley scums that steal other people's whisky. Hijackers have been raiding other people's likker for years and hauling away the stuff and nothing has been done about it. We've got a law in this country that frowns on your having whisky in your possession, and if you have and the wicked break in and carry it away then that's your own private trouble. But now the villainous reprobates (English for the American language, "dirty bums") have dared to invade the sanctity of the legation of the republic of Salvador. Secretary Stimson heard the horrid news and has immediately taken steps. It's all right to swipe likker from an ordinary citizen, but when it's copped from a foreign legation right in the city of Washington something's got to be done about it. The army may be mobilized, the marines camped in Pennsylvania avenue, the North Atlantic squadron assembled under sealed orders, and the tariff on all imports raised ten per cent.

When the Americans down in Nicaragua got a kick in the pants from Sandino they were told by their paternal government to gethelloutten there, or words to that effect. Following this precedent the chargé d'affaires of the Salvador legation should be told that if he wants his likker protected he can put his stuff in a suitcase and take it back to Salvador. But this is different. In the other case it was Americans in Nicaragua who complained, and all that they had to kick about was that they were in danger of their lives. But here is the case of a foreign minister, or at least his representative, losing a lot of good drinking hootch. And the hijacker also biffed the chargé d'affaires in the snoot. An American big cocoanut and banana man getting a hunk of lead in the northeast corner of his vest and a chargé d'affaires of a foreign legation having his drinking whisky swiped by a hijacker and getting a biff in the snoot besides are two very different things. That legation hijacker down in Washington will be tracked down if it takes all the bloodhounds in the United States. And we shouldn't wonder if he were put to death on the rack or cut into many small pieces and buried at the crossroads.

What! Steal a foreign legation's rum!

Bring hither the boiling oil!

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

Let me so much as stretch an eager hand
To pluck the fruit, it withers and is done.
No laurel wreathes my brow, no race is won.
In desperation I begin my days,
In weary patience fretted through with care
I mark the hours, their endless yeas and nays,
And watch the twilight darken with despair.

So one who watches my extremest need
Might catch a breath at this most curious thing.
That all undaunted, placing every seed,
I plant new gardens, plan new songs to sing,
Harvesting silence and a bitter weed
For winter's condiments to season spring.

GEN. SMEDLEY BUTLER went on the air again two nights ago and was told he would be permitted the use of 27 damns and 18 hells. The general only used six of each, and consequently has 21 of the first and 12 of the second to his credit for use the next time plus his regular allotment of 27 and 12. If Smedley keeps saving up his damns and hells for three or four months he ought to be able then to go on the radio and have a perfectly grand time, and tell what he really thinks, and talk freely.

WHY CRIMINALS?

DR. AMOS O. SQUIRE places the use of drugs at or near the top of the list of causes of criminality. He bases his conclusion on an experience of more than a quarter of a century of attendance at Sing Sing prison, and a fairly intimate acquaintance with many thousand criminals of the type that are sent to institutions.

About two thousand tons of opium are produced in the world annually. Of this large tonnage about seventy-five tons is sufficient to supply the entire legitimate need. The remaining nineteen hundred and twenty-five tons goes into illegitimate trade and supplies most of the needs of those who use dope, and leaves enough for the purposes of the racketeers whose business it is to make a new supply of dope users.

When Dr. Squire began his services the use of dope by convicted persons was not an item of importance. The story is different now. In telling of the harm of drugs he limited himself to heroin, morphine and a few other opium products, and cocaine.

A large group of criminals are psychopaths. These are not insane, but, at the same time, they are not normal mentally. They have twisted personality and mental qualities which make them enemies of society unrestrained by the rules of the game, religion, family training, sympathy, fair play, conscience, or any group, family, or personal consideration. Unless we can find a way to prevent this type of personality from developing we must establish a legal class, called enemies of society, and then confine for life at productive labor all those who have been proved by law to be members of that class.

While there is this personality type that is known to be criminalistic, Dr. Squire has not found any physical qualities or features by which criminals can be recognized. Lombroso's old science of the stigmata of degeneracy finds no support from Dr. Squire. Nor is inheritance any great factor. On the other hand, environment is. Among the preventives of criminality ranked high by Dr. Squire are: Home influences, parental love, training, religion, the Boy Scouts, hiking boys' clubs, doing one social act a day, playgrounds and parks.

WAGE CLAIM.

Chicago, May 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The company I have worked for owes me back wages dating back to January, 1931. After numerous calls I have been unable to collect this money, nor receive a definite date of payment. I understand that a wage claim can be filed, but do not know how to go about this. I will appreciate any information you can give me. J. A.

If there is a receivership, you should get in touch with the receiver. The Illinois statute authorizes recovery of attorney fees on wage claims. It is sometimes possible to get an attorney to undertake collection in reliance of such fee, but ordinarily some payment in advance is required. The legal aid bureau of the United Charities assists those who are unable to pay an attorney.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Wilson's note calling Germany to account for killing Americans in its submarine warfare upon passenger and other merchant vessels was given to the press associations tonight. In courteous and specific language, which nevertheless is unmistakably firm, he calls upon Germany to abandon its whole campaign of submarine attacks. He takes the position that the acts of the German submarine commanders which have horrified the civilized world could not have been sanctioned by the Berlin government and therefore expresses the expectation that Germany "will disavow the acts of which the government of the United States complains and take immediately steps to prevent the recurrence of anything so obviously subversive of the principles of warfare for which the imperial German government has in the past so wisely and so firmly contended." The note is not an ultimatum. It gives the German government no specified period in which the United States expects it to furnish disavowal.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—With officials of both the war and navy departments maintaining a calm, it became known that the slightest intimation from Germany that it intends to declare war on the United States will be followed immediately by vigorous steps of preparation. Officials say that the army and navy can quickly be prepared if necessary. They declare that 500,000 men fully equipped can be placed in the field in a short time.

PARIS.—The capture of the town of Carency, to the north of Arras, the taking of part of Albain St. Nazaire and part of Neuville St. Vaast, and the conquering of all German positions in the forest of Le Pretre are reported in the official statement of the ministry of war. At many other points on the western front advances by the allies are reported.

TRENTON, N. J.—Billy Sunday at Paterson promised a delegation of eighteen ministers and one layman of Chicago that he would begin his clean-up campaign there in January, 1917. The Chicago ministers were headed by Bishop Samuel Fallows, who represented that nearly 500 churches were for Billy and that more than $50,000 had already been subscribed for the campaign.

CHICAGO. — Mayor Harrison's ax fell last night when he sent in a number of appointments to the city council and ousted all followers of the Hopkins-Gahan-Sullivan faction. Relatives and friends of Thomas Gahan and Roger Sullivan were dropped in a bunch. After the council had seen the end of the fight between the mayor and his political foes it passed the ordinance establishing the south side boulevard system, which will provide a "South Shore drive" along Lake avenue and afford new connections between the park systems of the three sections of the city. Aldermen Mayor, Young, Bennett, Goldzier, Minwegen, Decker, and Eidmann voted against the ordinance.

CHICAGO.—Lulled into eternity by the prayers of John Alexander Dowie and two elders of Zion, Mrs. Emma Judd, wife of H. Worthington Judd, general superintendent of the Zion City Land Improvement company, died at her home, 321 West 64th street, and her death was quickly followed by that of her newborn baby. No medical assistance was given either and Englewood is stirred by the deaths. Judd met all questions of the police with the statement, "I refuse to answer."

CHICAGO.—William E. Rollo, patriarch of the fire insurance business in Chicago, died of heart disease at his home, 463 Washington boulevard, at the age of 60. For more than 40 years he had been one of the conspicuous figures in the insurance world of Chicago and at the time of his death was head of the insurance firm of William E. Rollo & Son.

MANILA.—Gen. Fred Funston had a conference with Gen. Lucban of the insurgent Filipino forces in the north at Penaranda, in the province of Nueva Ecija. The rebel leader promised to surrender with his entire command within a few days.

PEORIA.—Crowds are assembling in this city for the 35th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic which will be held during the next three days. Department Commander Judge Joel Longenecker and his staff will arrive tomorrow on a special train from Chicago.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mrs. Garfield is very ill tonight. A council of her attending physicians was held, at which Dr. Boynton of Elyria, O., presided. Her illness is declared to be complete nervous prostration and has assumed a typhoid character. Her temperature has been 104 for several days.

NEW YORK. — Lotta, the actress, was taken suddenly ill from overwork and the effects of the heat, which sent the thermometer today to 91. The audience at Haverley's Brooklyn theater, where the actress was appearing in "La Cigale," was dismissed and there was no performance.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The President sent to the senate the nominations of Frederick Douglass, the colored orator, to be recorder of deeds in the District of Columbia, vice Gen. George A. Sheridan, resigned.

CHICAGO.—T. W. Anderson, well known in business and social circles in this city, died at his home on Michigan avenue of congestion of the lungs and brain. He was a partner in the well known firm of J. W. Doane & Co. and was one of the charter members of the Calumet club. He was about 40 years old.

CHICAGO.—The death roll in Chicago yesterday exceeded that of any day this year and is unparalleled in the history of the city for the same period in any year. The burial permits issued reached the immense number of sixty-five, two being deaths by sunstroke. The increase in deaths is attributed to the intense heat of the first four days of the week.

MAIDEN AUNT'S DAY.

Chicago, May 11.—Now that Mother's day is over, let us say something for those supplementary mothers who get no credit for their labors, the maiden aunts who do so much to rear and educate the children of others. The rosters of public school teachers are full of their names. Many of them are working in offices today to get the money to help educate nieces and nephews, the children of others. Do they get any credit? Is any gratitude shown them? I earned the money to pay for music lessons for three children at one time, and I earned the money to send a niece through a college course to prepare her to get an honest living. Was any gratitude shown me? No. Now, old, feeble, and poor, many struggle along as best they may until death. Let us have a day to honor the maiden aunt, the supplemental mother who seeks no reward save the blessed knowledge that she has done her part in preparing loved ones to be good citizens. A good conscience is her reward. ONE OF THEM.

PARADE THAT DIDN'T COME.

Chicago, May 12.—The tens of thousands of loyal Chicagoans and neighbors who understood the Jubilee parade would continue south to 26th street patiently awaited the grand procession for hours. I am sure they wish to compliment those responsible for terminating the proceedings between Roosevelt road and 16th street, if they got that far.

GREATLY DISAPPOINTED.

THE STATE OF AGRICULTURE.

Chicago, May 9.—Having been born and lived on a farm until four years ago, I feel that your agricultural editor, Mr. Paul Potter, is doing the farmer an injustice when he wants us to think the farmer's condition is so good that if any one says it is not he is a professional croaker. Much is said about the poor lot of railroad companies, yet most of them show large earnings, and at the same time we are told the condition of the farmer is good, when he is not getting the cost of production for his product. Why would it not be a good policy to stand by the farmer, for it is through the handling of his products that the progress of Chicago has been made, as it will also in the future? It would be indeed very enlightening if Mr. Paul Potter would give us some figures on cost of production compared with the price the farmer receives for his products. Why not give us the truth about the condition of the farmer?

THE BUILDER OF NAVY PIER.

Chicago, May 11.—Mr. Edward J. Cagney had a note in your column recently regarding the change in bronze tablets at the Municipal pier, now called Navy pier. Let me add my protest to that of Mr. Cagney. It so happens that I was one of the subcontractors on the pier, and remember very distinctly that practically all the work was done by the time William Hale Thompson was made mayor. I also remember distinctly the occasion when former Mayor Harrison's name plate was removed and Acting Mayor Thompson's name was substituted. It has always seemed to me as a very unsportsmanlike act, and I believe that steps should be taken to see that the injustice is corrected and Harrison's name replaced on the pier.

OAK PARKER.

HAVE YOU NOTICED IT?

Chicago, May 8.—I am delighted to express with great satisfaction my appreciation of the changed editorial page of the last two days in the daily I have known all of my life. The tone of justice sounds more like the speaking of the great founder of the great newspaper. A number of friends have mentioned to me the change in the editorials, and I am certain that the best people of Chicago will return to praise THE TRIBUNE as well as to again patronize your advertisers. A. J. ALCORN, M. D.

CAUSE FOR JUBILATION.

Chicago, May 9.—Will you kindly tell me how to celebrate Jubilee week when the police, the firemen, the school teachers, the playground instructors, and numerous other city employes have not been paid for several weeks and have not even had one word from their employer, the great city of Chicago, when to expect to get paid? C. STOBEL.

THE ENGLISH ON AMERICA.

Glencoe, Ill., May 11.—Your editorial on the English policy of attempting to slander and belittle America is well illustrated by the page labeled "Americana" in one of the leading English weekly magazines.

Each week, with few exceptions, they print a page of outlandish pictures, collected from thousands, because of some crude pose, and word the descriptions as though they were typical American scenes. They picture a foreign, crude looking woman, with huge jewels and earrings, with a man escorting her dressed in an evening suit that doesn't fit, wearing large, horn rimmed glasses, and title it "America Goes to the Opera." Next will be a picture of some business man, his hat tilted back and his mouth at a vicious angle, a prison caught in an off moment, but it will be labeled "Leading American Business Man." Then comes a picture of Chicago police in an attitude of striking a woman, labeled "American Police at Work."

One is beginning to realise how low England has fallen, and one is saddened at the depth of bitterness and feeling of inferiority that could compel an editor of a large magazine coolly to repeat week after week such vile tactics.

TAXES ON GASOLINE.

Rockford, Ill., May 10.—According to press reports, the Illinois state senate last week passed a bill exempting buses operating exclusively on city streets from paying the gasoline tax. Isn't this the rankest form of class legislation? Practically all buses and bus lines are owned or controlled by the private monopoly utility interests. Why should their buses be exempt when all other motor vehicles must pay the state tax? Most privately owned trucks are used exclusively within the cities. Municipalities must pay a tax on the gasoline used in their trucks, tractors, and cars used for city work in the maintenance of their streets.

Is there any valid or logical reason, then, why the privately owned buses should not pay the tax? It appears to me as another scheme of the utilities to grasp any and every available method of taking advantage of the cities and state at the public expense. At this time, when various means are being urged to raise the state revenues, why exempt those who can best afford to pay their share? C. H. BLOOM.

THE HOME LIFE OF THE OX.

Bronson, Mich., May 10.—In today's SUNDAY TRIBUNE is a picture of a team of oxen fresh from the backwoods of Bronson, Mich. Don't let your Mr. Yellowley know this, but there are six five gallon cans of silage juice in the ox outfit that will be given to them to drink just before the parade, and we dare say they will be the first team of intoxicated oxen that ever ambled down the main street of dear old Chicago town. Whilst this bovine beverage is over one-half of one per cent, it is not regarded as intoxicating in fact, and is intended as a sedative to calm the little calfies as they become overwhelmed by the galaxy of beauty and wealth that will greet them on their initial sojourn in the sixty-eighth city of crime.

N. L. HOLMES.

WHY, INDEED.

Chicago, May 9.—On April 9 the collector of the town of Calumet sent me a tax bill and inclosed therein a letter asking me to remit direct to him before April 20 and not to pay downtown. He stated he received no salary for collecting taxes, but did receive commission for doing so, which was fixed by statute. I can see no reason why a town collector receives a commission for collecting taxes within the city of Chicago, especially so with our mayor pleading for money for pay rolls. I paid my taxes to County Collector McDonough, who sent me a duplicate bill on April 23.

Why a town collector? W.

TEMPORARY APPOINTEES.

Chicago, May 11.—As I see our new mayor believes in civil service employes only, and not temporary employes, how about the examination that was taken over a year ago for truant officer for which there were 1,800 applicants? Will this examination be thrown out, or will the new civil service commission remark these papers? At the present time there are 41 temporary truant officers working. A.

TWO EMMERSON ROAD MEASURES MAKE PROGRESS

"Steam Roller" Charges Heard in Senate.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 13.—[Special.]—Two of the administration's road bills were advanced in the senate today. The highway appropriation bill was approved in committee with Cook county members shouting "steam roller" at Gov. Emmerson's adherents and Senator Thomas Courtney [Dem., Chicago] inviting Chairman Harry G. Wright [Rep., De Kalb] to "a punch in the nose" for cutting short the questioning of State Highway Engineer Sheets.

The battle was continued on the senate floor for three hours while house bill 270, authorizing the state to take over city streets, was shoved through a barrage of seven unsuccessful motions to amend. The bill was advanced from second to third reading without any change from the form recommended by the governor. It was opposed by the majority of the Chicago delegation as well as by a few senators from other cities.

State Financing Proposed.

Perhaps the most significant amendment, from the motoring public's viewpoint, was one proposed by Senator Harold Kessinger [Rep., Aurora]. It provided that the state, in its plan to build through cities, should finance and construct traffic facilities in keeping with the needs of traffic without the municipality rather than merely to pay for a strip of pavement in the center of the street of the same width as the highway outside the corporate limits, as the bill now reads.

"When the highways enter a municipality," said Senator Kessinger, "a wider pavement is needed to accommodate through and local traffic, all moving at a slower speed than in the country. And all of this traffic is paying gasoline tax.

"There is no reason why the abutting property owners should bear special assessments to pay for the necessary additional pavement. These through roads are not local improvements; they are a detriment to residential property."

"No Use to Argue."

"It's no use trying to argue," interposed Senator Courtney. "Emmerson's 'yes men' will stick together and not listen to reason."

Senator Richard Barr [Rep., Joliet], administration floor leader, made a motion to table the amendment, and the motion carried, 35 to 16.

In the committee session which recommended passage of the administration's appropriation bill, State Highway Engineer Sheets had been called for questioning. Out of an appropriation of $107,500,000, of which $44,000,000 will be paid by Chicagoans, the bill allots $7,000,000 for construction in all cities of the state in the next two years.

"Will the state require the cities to furnish the right of way for municipal improvements?" asked Senator Courtney.

Moves for Approval.

Sheets said the policy had not been determined. Courtney suggested that the policy should be determined before the appropriation bill is passed. Senator Richard R. Meents [Rep., Ashkum] moved the committee approve the bill without further hearing.

"O, can't we?" retorted Chairman Wright.

"Not without a fair hearing," added Senator Woods.

Senator Wright laughed, called the vote viva voce and announced the bill was recommended for passage.

Body of Deputy Sheriff Is Recovered from Lake

The body of Raymond Gerrity, 28 years old, 4655 Lake Park avenue, who had been missing since April 7, was found yesterday in the lake at Jackson boulevard. Gerrity, who was a deputy sheriff assigned to duty in the county jail, was active in politics in the 4th ward and a theory that he might have been murdered was considered. This was strengthened by the coincidence that he disappeared on the day of the mayoralty election. There were no marks to indicate that he had been killed, however. Attorney Joseph N. Gerrity, a brother of the deputy sheriff, said the latter had no enemies and that he knew of no reason why Gerrity should have committed suicide.

REDS MASSACRE 500 CHINESE AND BURN TWO TOWNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 13.—A large force of communists operating from Fukien province, captured, looted, and burned the towns of Hopi nghsien and Lungchunhsien, in northeastern Kwantung province, and massacred more than 500 people.

C. T. WANG. [Acme Photo.]

Other communist outbreaks in various sections of Kwangtung province were reported as the threat of a complete break between the Nanking government of President Chiang Kai-shek and the Cantonese leaders appeared nearer. The Nanking-Canton complications are still in the talking stage, but both sides are openly preparing for a renewal of the civil war that has torn China for more than ten years.

Rebels Seek Allies.

The Cantonese are making alliances with the Kwangsi rebels, the "Ironsides division," and other disaffected political and military elements.

Following the adoption yesterday of a provisional constitution for China, the national people's convention at Nanking today passed a long manifesto definitely abrogating extraterritorial and other so-called unequal treaties with the United States, Great Britain, Japan, and other foreign nations.

While the various foreign governments have so far ignored the recent announcement of the Chinese government that all special treaty rights would be ended Jan. 1, 1932, the action at Nanking is expected to bring to a head the growing tension betweep China and Japan.

Charges Japanese "Sidestep."

Officials of the Nanking government call attention to numerous outstanding issues which China has been trying to adjust but which Nanking officialdom alleges the Japanese are trying to sidestep. Two major issues stand at the top of a long list of unsolved questions which Foreign Minister C. T. Wang keeps on his desk.

They are extraterritoriality and railway problems in Manchuria. The first is of primary interest to Nanking, while the second plagues Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, the young Manchurian war lord. China is pushing both issues simultaneously, Nanking handling the extraterritorial question and Mukden the railway question.

Standing on the sidelines watching the outcome is Great Britain, anxious to get back her valuable cotton goods trade, which low priced Japanese competition has taken away. A flare-up in the relations of China and Japan, with the inevitable Chinese boycott of Japanese goods, would start the spindles and looms of Manchester whirring again.

Lawyers Get Million as Battle Ends.

Judge Sullivan ruled in favor of Leiter, holding he should be retained as trustee. Leiter was also victorious in an appeal to the Appellate court, handed down last March. The accounting suit was submitted to a master in chancery, whose report, submitted yesterday, coincided with the proffered compromise.

Leiter to Resign First.

The $779,084 to be paid into the body of the estate represents $150,000 paid by Leiter for the development of Wyoming property and the remainder for improvements of loop property. Of the amount $400,000 has already been paid and the balance is to be paid over a period of nine years by all of the heirs.

Joseph Leiter is now in Florida. He is to return shortly to resign. In his place, attorneys said, Darrow B. Fulton, vice president of the Zeigler Coal and Coke company, a Leiter holding, and auditor of the estate, is to be appointed. Following this appointment Lady Hyde is to resign and be succeeded by William Scott Bond, trustee of the University of Chicago. Lady Hyde is now in Chicago awaiting the fulfillment of the compromise before she returns to England.

The compromise was broached by Leiter, attorneys said, after his moral victory. He is said to have expressed a desire to retire from his post as trustee and end the family dispute. Lady Hyde is also said to have desired peace.

Fees for Attorneys.

Of the attorneys' fees the largest share, one of $332,500, is to go to the firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt, representing Leiter. Scott, McLeish & Falk, representing Lady Hyde are to receive $175,000. Cooke, Sullivan & Ricks, representing the children of Lady Mary Curzon, Mary Irene Curzon, Cynthia Blanche Mosley and Alexandra Naldera Metcalfe, are also to get $175,000.

Attorney Horace Kent Tenny, representing Lady Hyde's three children, Charles Henry George Howard, earl of Suffolk, Cecil John Arthur Howard, and Grenville Reginald Howard, is to get $75,000. Roswell B. Mason, representing the Joseph Leiter children, Thomas and Nancy, and the children of Mrs. Campbell, the third daughter, Colin, Mary, and Audrey, is to get $70,000. Attorney Patrick J. Lucey, attorney for Lady Mary Curzon's grandchildren, Vivien and Nicholas Mosely, children of Lady Cynthia Mosely, balked at $65,000 and won an award of $70,000 after a short conference of the attorneys.

Winston, Strawn & Shaw, who represented the late Mrs. Campbell in her support of her brother, Joseph, are to get $115,000. Attorney James G. Condon asked $15,000 for the services of his firm in connection with a business angle of the case in which he represented a lessee of the Zeigler mine. His claim was not included with the others and may be paid from the fee of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt.

Estimates on Fees.

In addition to the legal fees the compromise asked that approximately $50,000 be taken from the estate for disbursements made by the various litigants, chiefly for court reporters' services in taking down the torrents of legal oratory.

Attorney Carl Meyer of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt in presenting his firm's claim said that it had expended approximately 1,500 legal days on the case. A legal day is estimated at 4½ hours in court or 5 hours in office work. A court bailiff estimated the cost of such a day to Leiter at $221.

Trial Lasts Year.

The firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw claimed 400 legal days for $115,000, which the judge estimated at $287 a day. The representative of the firm hastily explained that the fee was based on other than legal day basis. These two firms with Cooke, Sullivan & Ricks and Scott McLeish & Falk are to receive $797,000 for 3,800 legal days, more than $200 for such a day. Attorney Condon said his request of $15,000 was based on 74 such days and had been cut from $25,000.

The trial of the Leiter case opened on March 26, 1926, and continued with short continuances until the following March 3. Judge Sullivan did not return his decision until the following September, when he ruled in favor of Leiter in a 200 page decision, which has been held as a model by attorneys throughout the country.

JURY STARTS WORK ON ALCOCK BANK ACCOUNT

An auditing committee, composed of two members of the special grand jury who have banking experience, started to work yesterday going over the bank account of Acting Police Commissioner Alcock, his chief assistants and all the captains of the police department, except five who have been exonerated previously.

When the committee finishes its work the jury will be called into session again and, according to the present plan, officials whose bank accounts seem unusually large for the $4,000 per year salary of captains will be called on for an explanation. The committee is to balance deposits against withdrawals to determine the exact status of each account.

It was reported that one of the things the committee is to check is the bank account of an official which shows a loan in excess of $75,000 with collateral in stock of $100,000 given as security. It is reported that this same official had five or six other bank accounts of varying amounts. Another account to be scrutinized, it is reported, is one of a captain who explained that he won large amounts at betting on prize fights.

FRANCE ELECTS DOUMER; BRIAND SENT TO DISCARD

Veteran Foreign Chief Is Beaten for Presidency.

support of Andre Tardieu and Edouard Herriot, but both turned on him at the last moment.

According to his friends, Briand had a premonition of disaster when he awoke this morning. The old man, in a peevish humor, had kicked a barber out of his room. Later he apologized for his surliness. He was supposed to eat lunch at Versailles with his aide, Berthelot, Mme. Berthelot and Ganna Walska, but at noon he telephoned that he had changed his mind and he ate a spare lunch in his chambers.

After a final conference with Pierre Laval, Tardieu and Andre Maginot, he drove out to Versailles past the lines of armed men who had been placed there to protect his life. He arrived at the historic Versailles palace at about 2 o'clock. He got a few cheers on his arrival, but he looked old, tired and very pale.

20 Candidates on List.

Shortly after Briand took his place among the deputies and senators constituting the national assembly in the Salle du Congres, which was specially built for this purpose, the vice president of the senate started the proceedings by opening a dictionary at random for a letter of the alphabet. The letter turned out to be "L" and the roll call started there. The deputies mounted the tribune to cast votes as their names were called.

They had a list of nearly 20 candidates to choose from, since, in addition to the political dark horses, there was the usual scattering of joke candidates. Some wag nominated the indicted financier, Alfred Oustric, and the clerk read a letter from a Paris plumber, who admitted that he did not have much chance, but declared that since the law permits any citizen to place his candidacy, he wanted to run. He said he thought he would make an ideal president as he did not belong to any party.

Beaten on First Ballot.

It soon became apparent that something had gone wrong, and when the session was renewed after a recess to count the votes, it was found that Doumer had 442—just seven short of the necessary absolute majority—against 401 for Briand.

Jean Hennessy of three star brandy fame got 15 votes, and others totaled 41. Briand might have got enough of these votes on the second ballot to elect him, if he wanted to electioneer, but the old statesman's spirit was broken.

Shortly after 6 o'clock Briand issued a tragic communique, saying that his failure to get the promised majority on the first ballot forced him to retire from the race and that he would not continue even if there was a possibility of his winning.

A few minutes later, and just before the second ballot, Briand walked out amid awed silence. The old man's usual hobble looked more feeble than ever and his head was bowed between his hunched and tired shoulders. He did not utter a word to anybody, but pressed the outstretched hands of a few faithful friends. Climbing slowly into a waiting auto he virtually collapsed in his seat. The lines of troops split and his auto sped out of the courtyard through a mob of spectators, some booing and some cheering. It reminded one of a dethroned king being taken into exile.

Briand's hasty departure showed that the broken old man was in a terrible chagrin, as it was a violation of parliamentary etiquette for him to fail to stick with the rest of the cabinet to congratulate the new president.

With Briand out of the way, nothing could stop Doumer. Senator Pierre Marraud was running as a dark horse, but Doumer won with 504 votes against 334. Briand got 12 votes, despite his withdrawal.

It is understood that Doumer assured Premier Laval that he wants to keep Briand at the Quai d'Orsay, but this, observers believe, will only be a makeshift to avoid publicly humiliating France's most prominent statesman. There is nothing left for Briand to do, they say, but retire to his beloved Cocherel to spend the rest of his days fishing and managing his farm. His friends fear that the blow will undermine his already feeble health.

Doumer a Colorful Figure.

The president elect, despite his austere reputation, due, perhaps, to his age, does not lack color. In his gay blade younger days Doumer successfully fought a number of duels. He has always been a keen sportsman. He prefers hunting to fishing. In this he differs from the man of Locarno whom he defeated, who is passionately devoted to the hook and line.

For all his 74 years Doumer clings to several youthful habits, notably his liking for wine. He drinks daily a bottle or more, and he attributes his health and vigor to the habit of drinking good wine only and plenty of it.

Doumer was a newspaper man in his early days. He specialized in parliamentary reporting, occupying the stuffy, narrow gallery section from which the present crop of journalists gazes down on him as the presiding officer of the senate.

A Self-Made Man.

He is a self-made man, coming from a family of modest workers. At the age of 14 he arrived in Paris, where he worked in a jeweler's factory. He used his spare time to educate himself, and after some years he was able to enter the University of Paris. He then practiced law.

Afterward he became a professor of mathematics, but an infection of the throat forced him to quit teaching for journalism and politics. He earned a reputation as an executive as the governor of Indo-China.

He did not figure prominently himself in the world war, but he lost four sons in it.

Does Your Automobile Insurance Policy Say What You Think It Does?

If your car should be burned or stolen, will your insurance company pay you the amount stated in the policy? The amount named in the policy is a valuation used to determine the cost of the insurance, the rate for fire and theft insurance being a certain price per hundred dollars of valuation.

The policy says that in the event of a total loss you will receive an amount not to exceed the actual loss sustained, the settlement to be agreed upon by you and the adjuster for the insurance company. This is the policy known as the "non valued" form.

Then there is the "valued form" policy. Under the terms of this policy you are paid the face value of the policy, the amount on which you have paid premium.

The Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club issues a VALUED FORM POLICY, which covers you anywhere in the United States or Canada.

Other services of the club are: Free mechanical first aid and towing service, home district service, accident prevention work, travel service, and bail bond service.

JOHN WANAMAKER
1838-1922
Founder and Builder of Wanamaker's

"I believe in advertising all the time"

John Wanamaker

HERE is what John Wanamaker, one of America's great merchant princes said and believed about advertising. And his beliefs were backed by his works—in bad times as well as in good times.

"If I ever have a Columbus monument in advertising, it will be for the discovery that the advertising of instant benefit to merchant and customer is in the daily newspaper of known circulation."*

"When times are hard and people are not buying, that is the very time advertising should be heaviest. You want to get people in to see what you have. You must advertise to do that.

"If there's one thing the quitter should let alone it's advertising.

"I believe in advertising all the time; I never stop advertising. Every cent I have spent in advertising has created tangible assets that, at any time, could be converted into cash."

John Wanamaker opened his first Philadelphia store in the days just before the Civil War—and he used newspaper advertising right from the start.

By 1888 he had inaugurated the advertising policy of full page space—another pace-making step that was followed all over the country.

When he opened his New York store in 1896, he immediately used the newspapers and rapidly attained the same position for his Metropolitan store that he had won in Philadelphia.

For nearly four decades, the Tribune and the Herald Tribune have proudly carried the daily Wanamaker story.

The substantial New Yorkers who appreciate all that Wanamaker's stands for, are the very type of readers for whom the New York Herald Tribune has so long been planned, edited, published.

In Metropolitan New York, the Herald Tribune holds a position of unique value to every manufacturer or merchant who would win the New York market as it can be won.

For the Herald Tribune segregates the vast population of New York by a sharp line of distinction based on individual buying power. It reaches twenty times as many New Yorkers in the medium and high income districts as in the low income sections. It creates a city in itself—"A city without slums."

Write, wire or telephone for the Fact Picture of New York.

WHAT IS MEANT BY INDUSTRIAL PLANS FOR WAR

War Officials Contradict Some Misconceptions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 13.—[Special.]—Industrial preparation for war, spokesmen of the war department explained to the war policies commission today, does not mean military control of the industrial establishment in the event of war.

It does not mean drafting capital or labor, fixing prices, government operation of the railroads, or superimposing uniformed management over business and manufacture.

Assistant Secretary of War Frederick H. Payne, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, deputy chief of staff, were the witnesses before the commission, which has Secretary of War Hurley for its chairman; other cabinet officers, senators and representatives for members, and, for a purpose, to see what can be done about taking the profit out of war.

Not Easily Fixed by Laws.

The war and navy departments, as the only continuing bodies concerned with preparation for war during times of peace, Mr. Payne explained, must do the planning. But, he emphasized, their plans should be allowed to remain in flux and not fixed in definite legislation until the onset of an emergency.

"War department operation," he said, "with respect to supply in war, would be limited to the design of equipment, and to the contracting for, inspecting, paying for, and distributing items needed. Industrial control in its larger sense can be no part of war department responsibility. Whatever governmental control is exercised over industry in war must be a function of the chief executive, in accord with the wishes of congress, and through the organization I have indicated. Unless plans for industrial mobilization reflect substantially the current opinion of congress, the President, and of industry, labor, and finance, they would be cast aside when an emergency arose. They cannot be the product of a cloistered body; they must represent the composite thought of national leaders."

Despite an unending series of proposals that labor as well as combatant man power be drafted, Gen. MacArthur said, the war department never contemplated such a step, knowing that it would result in disaster. Nor would wealth be drafted, though it might be registered, partly for moral effect, to facilitate equitable taxation.

The commission was told that a contract system, the result of long study by the department, under which industry would be granted a 6 per cent profit, would do much to wipe out profiteering, and that unequal profits not prevented by contract system could be handled through taxation, as autocratic price control too often compels subterfuge and evasion.

Once war was declared, Gen. Moseley explained, the war and navy departments would turn over the program they had built up to a civilian administration appointed by the President.

Three Principal Aims.

It was hoped that the commission would support a congressional resolution approving the war department's aims, which might be expressed in three parts, as follows:

Group A—Policies which will assure practical peace time preparation for the emergency of war, promulgated in such a way as to be widely understood in contemplating the possibility of war.

Group B—Policies which will facilitate successful conduct of war and equitably distribute war's human and economic burdens.

Group C—Policies which will enable the nation to demobilize after war in a rational and orderly fashion.

PORK BRIGADE RALLIES TO KEEP OLD ARMY POSTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 13.—[Special.]—Congressmen and local politicians from various sections of the country where army posts are located have begun to bombard the war department with inquiries as to its specific plans for abandoning unnecessary and uneconomical reservations, posts and camps.

War department officials stated today that arrangements for the closing down of specific posts had not been completed, but interested persons would be notified when the department was ready to act.

President Orders Survey.

President Hoover today advised the secretary of war, the attorney general, the secretary of agriculture, and the secretary of the interior to select representatives at once to begin looking over the army's surplus real estate. In cases where other departments can use the army's surplus property an attempt will be made to effect transfers to get the posts, stations, and camps off the army list. In the past, however, much of the property which the war department is desirous of eliminating has not been looked upon as desirable by other departments.

Navy Survey Nearly Ready.

Navy department officials said today that its survey of surplus shore properties would be completed the latter part of this month and turned over to Secretary Adams. It was stated also that no move to close down the large industrial yards like New York and Philadelphia would be made within the near future.

Prospects are that some of the navy's shore property, now on a caretaking basis, will be sold outright. Many officials favor disposal of the property at New Orleans, which now costs a quarter of a million annually to maintain, and the South Charleston armor plant, which costs a similar figure.

One of the eleven new destroyers to be built is to go to New York to aid employment there. The others will be put on the market in July.

SAFE—WITHIN OR WITHOUT

YELLOW CABS are as safe for the persons who are not in them as for those who are. Our drivers watch out not only for the safety of their own passengers, but for the safety of pedestrians and surface car riders as well.

Yellow Cab drivers are trained in the courtesies of traffic regulations as well as the little courtesies of service to customers. That is why Yellow Cab service is preferred by the person who uses Yellow Cabs occasionally, as well as the person who uses them every day.

Be safe yourself.

Insure the safety of others, as well as yourself by using the reliable, dependable safe cab service—the Yellow Cab.

French Author Fails to Catch Yankee Traits

"World Champions" Isn't a Knockout.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"WORLD CHAMPIONS," by Paul Morand [Harcourt-Brace], published today in translation by Hamish Miles, brings to American readers one of the recent sensations of French literature. M. Morand, one of the most delightful of the younger French writers, as also one of the most popular, recently has concentrated on America for his material.

PAUL MORAND. [Drawn by Zivinsky.]

"New York," published here last November, not only was a guide book to that city but an evaluation of it through the eyes of an intelligent and keen foreigner. "World Champions" also is about America, although perhaps more about Americans.

It is told in the first person by a Frenchman who, in the beginning of the book, has come over to teach French at Columbia. There he becomes friends with four collegians from four very diverse walks of American life—the excessively rich young son of an excessively rich (and rather grandiose) mother, the son of an influential Washington man, whose destiny seemed to be to follow in his father's footsteps; a farmer's son, who was all physical strength, and a Jewish boy, the descendant of immigrant grandparents. They promise to meet every ten years. The book is the picture of the next twenty years in their lives.

They do not meet at all for ten years—the ten years between 1909 and 1919. The war has taken place meanwhile, and those years have offered all of them their opportunity of expansion. The rich boy returns a famous ace he had in 1909 declared that automobiles were too slow for him; he wanted to try the new airplanes that were being talked about). The son of the diplomat has done startling economic and political things in China and Siberia, so he is looked upon with profound respect. The farmer boy has—like another famous all-American champion—done nothing about it one, but he has achieved the boxing championship of the world. They are all "world champions" in their line. All except the Jewish boy, who is in prison for trying to be too much a financial champion. Some gigantic scheme has tottered, not from the brilliancy of its idea but from the crookedness of its manipulation.

The diplomat obtains the release of the prisoner and makes him secretary of a vast international political scheme.

The boxing champion is caught fighting with a loaded glove—which his manager had "fixed" and which he knew nothing of. The disgrace before the truth became known preyed on his mind and he committed suicide.

The story goes on with the three world champions and their wives—the diplomat's an ageless woman with no softness, only the severe intensity of right and duty; the Jew's a woman of great grace and beauty who kills her men by making them too ambitious; the farmer boy's a national beauty with nothing behind her eyes or above them. The rich boy never marries, but takes the beauty as his mistress after her husband's death.

The plot is complicated and, to me, not especially interesting. The book is an excellent, almost a brilliant, idea which doesn't come off. If M. Morand had known his types a little more accurately he could have done a stunning picture of Americans. To his French readers the characters probably are perfect portraits of Americans and women. To his American readers they are not even good caricatures, because there must be an even deeper truth in a caricature to make it a work of art than in a mere portrait.

M. Morand makes some keen observations about American life. This, for instance: "The undivided country where hospitality, radio, Masonic lodges, burial societies all aim solely at stopping up those chasms of isolation which hell sometimes opens on our path. The country where everything is sustained only by its own solidarity."

Others have said it better, however.

Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Callahan of 4816 Kenwood avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Glynn, to Paul Edward Barry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edward Barry of 1419 East 56th street. Miss Callahan is a graduate of Smith college and both she and Mr. Barry attended the University of Chicago.

Our own H. L. Mencken can give that cards and spades for summing up the American passion for crowds and uniformity.

M. Morand better pictures Europe in 1929: "Europe has changed greatly in the last ten years. Bankruptcy, anarchy, famine, despair, and poetry, their daughter, had fled, driven forth by new effigies struck on metal of fixed and certain value. There reigned now over the old continent a narrow, national, orthodox order which, on a miniature scale, reminded me of America. Furthermore, I found America everywhere in Europe—at bathing resorts, on the stage, in motor cars, and even in French hostelries, where oyster stew and corn on the cob had won their place alongside the lapin sauté and the soupe à l'oignon."

I have always been a great admirer of M. Morand's work. "World Champions" seems to me far below his best, and not, as a novel, an especially good piece of work. Its great popularity in France must have been due to his readers' mistaken idea that they were seeing America and Americans truthfully portrayed.

Official notification that China has accepted President Hoover's invitation to participate in the 1933 World's Fair in Chicago was received by the fair committee yesterday. The first time was in 1915, when it exhibited at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco.

Good Morning!

Warner Brothers' long-heralded series of movie golf lessons by the famous retired champion, Bobby Jones, has at last started! This week Mr. Jones instructs "The Putter" from the screens of the Woods and Orpheum theaters—and makes putting look like the easiest thing in the world, when everybody knows that it isn't.

You met him on a green talking easily with Richard Barthelmess. Into his line of amused vision come Joe Brown and Frank Craven engaged in their daily bitter and amateurish twosome. Mr. Brown disappears into the clubhouse and Mr. Barthelmess having introduced Messrs. Jones and Craven, goes away from there.

Graciously acceding to Craven's pleas for pointers, Mr. Jones teaches the value of easy pose, looseness in the knees, long, smooth, unhurried stroke—and some other little things. When Mr. Brown reappears all cocky and ready to bet three to one on his prowess—why, it's too bad for Mr. Brown for Mr. Craven has lived and learned.

This lesson—"The Putter," is short and full of meat.

As for the feature picture, "Too Young To Marry"—it's one of those might-as-well pictures. You know—"Since we can't seem to find anything else, we might as well run this one . . ."

It's a third rate domestic comedy drama staged in a small town. In their uninteresting home you meet Ma Bumpstead, a Nagger, Pa Bumpstead, and Daughter Elaine, the Nagged, and two Misses—Bumpstead, who correspond to the step—sisters of Cinderella.

Ma makes poor, henpecked Pa wash the dishes and permits him to do little else. She won't hear of Elaine's wedding the delivery boy of whom she is most fond, and talks practically without ceasing—and has for years—about a wonderful, black-haired, black-mustached, six-feet-tall-in-his-stocking feet Chester Armstrong whom she might have married, had she not in a dazed state for which she has never since been able to account, wedded Pa.

How the worms turn on Ma and Chester Armstrong appears to confute the statements of that loud-mouthed lady, are the only episcies with pep—and dear knows they're not so hot.

Director, players, and photographer have contributed their best efforts, but no human COULD do much with a yarn such as "Too Young To Marry"—and God hasn't bothered.

"Woman Hungry" is a western in color. It has a Great Divide flavor and shows Lila Lee—who has been ill for a long time—looking as lovely as ever.

As the heroine, Judith Temple, she is cornered, while alone, in her brother's ranch home by three rough looking strangers, who show all signs of meaning her no good. One of the trio, however, looks her squarely in the eyes. He asks her if she will be his "on the level" if he'll save her from his unprepossessing pals. She agrees.

He rescues her, marries her, and totes her away to his rich claim, where she hates him like fury for about five reels. Then—but why tell you?

The story is a perfectly obvious one, but so well presented that you like it just the same. Miss Lee gives an appealing performance. Mr. Blackmer is well nigh irresistible. Fred Kohler and Raymond Hatton play bad bozos, as they so well know how, and other rôles are nicely handled. Photography is excellent and the gorgeous scenery alone makes the film worth while.

If you likes "The Great Divide" and "The Sheik" you can put your money on "Woman Hungry" without hesitation.

Leave Bouquets at Rail Stations Named.

Quantities of lilacs and other spring flowers have been assured by the gradually warmer weather of the last two days. This condition indicates another happy time this week-end for inmates of Chicago institutions and those who live in sections where flowers are a rarity.

Reports yesterday from Homewood, St. Charles, La Grange, and other suburbs gave impetus to the plans of the Chicago Plant Flower and Fruit guild leaders. They are coöperating in this third annual lilac time sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

A booth has been constructed in the North Western railway station and others are to be set up today and tomorrow in the La Salle and Van Buren street station, the Randolph street station of the Illinois Central, the Union depot, and the Aurora-Elgin station. There bouquets will be received Friday and Saturday of this week.

North of Chicago some of the suburbs closest to the lake report that cool breezes from the lake have delayed flowering. But club leaders and guild workers are asking that if suburbanites have no lilacs to offer they can know that other flowers typifying spring will be fully as welcome to the thousands of persons who will receive them in the week-end distribution.

An expression of appreciation of the flowers received in lilac time in 1929 and 1930, distributions sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, and a description of how hospital inmates are looking forward to admiring and breathing the fragrance of the purple and white colored blooms this week-end was voiced yesterday by Miss Harriet Vittum, head of Northwestern university settlement.

"Can you imagine any lovelier token of spring than the appearance in a crowded, dirty city neighborhood of great bunches of fragrant lilacs?" she asks. "I remember other years when huge baskets of these lilacs would arrive. Soon lines of children would come from all over the neighborhood and the boys and girls would ask for 'just one blossom, please.'"

Graduation exercises will be held at many of the festivals and the feature of the meetings will be the selection of the healthiest boy and healthiest girl in each division. The victors will compete in the final health contest in the county building on June 6.

Seven Millionaires Have Own Club on New York East Side

New York, May 13.—(AP)—Sandwiched in among a row of apartment houses on the east side where the rumbling noises of the elevated blend with those from the carbarns across the street is the home of the city's most exclusive club.

Just seven persons—all men—comprise the membership of the Courthouse club. Its credit rating is triple A, however, for each member is a millionaire. They pay annual dues that are a secret shared only by themselves, but said to run into five figures.

Tennis was the common interest of the members that resulted in the establishment of the club on the two top floors of a three story building in a commonplace setting. The layout, rich in appointments, is built around one of the finest indoor tennis courts in the city—with a specially prepared sand like surface and it is flooded by natural light through a skylight by day and by incandescents at night.

There is a bathing pool, both ornate and practical. The main drawing room, its paneled oak walls and rich furnishings creating an air of fastidious taste, opens on the tennis court. So does the swimming pool. The other rooms provide facilities for dressing and meals.

Who are the members? They are Harold Vanderbilt, who piloted the yacht Enterprise in the successful defense of the America's cup; Bernon S. Prentice, nonplaying captain of the Davis cup team in the match with Canada; Hunter S. Marston, investment banker; Marshall Field; Richard F. Hoyt; James Perkins; and Harold Talbott Jr.

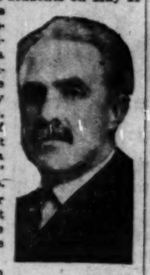
Flower Lovers Invited.

Flower lovers of the Chicago district were invited yesterday to visit the palmhouse in the Garfield park conservatory, where a specimen of tropical and South African palm, the Phoenix reclinata, is now in flower.

Bogan to Tell Aims; Pageants Depict Youth

Schools Will Celebrate on May 22.

Business and other leaders will join with public school students on May 22 to celebrate the annual Civic assembly in the Chicago Civic Opera house. In announcing the event yesterday William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, called it a "thrilling drama of citizenship." Nearly 100 persons will appear in the different episodes of the performance, he said.



W. J. BOGAN. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The program will be opened with a concert by the All-Chicago High School orchestra of 150 pieces, led by O. W. Anderson, director of orchestral work in the schools. This will be followed by an address by Mr. Bogan on the purposes of the assembly.

There will be a pageant entitled "The Spirit of Youth in Physical Education." Students of the Boone Elementary school, the Sullivan Junior High school, the Von Steuben Junior High school, the Lake View High school, and the Chicago Normal college will participate in that. Miss Jane Addams, founder of Hull House, will speak on "The Girls of Chicago." Students of the Parker Junior High, the Lindblom, Calumet, Morgan Park, and Flower Technical High schools will follow with a pageant, "The Schools and the Home."

Addresses will also be given by George W. Dixon, president of Youth week, and Dr. Allen D. Albert, assistant to Rufus C. Dawes, president of the 1933 Chicago World's Fair. Toward the end of the program a third pageant is to be given by the Tilden Technical High school, called "The Schools and Industry." Mayor Cermak and Supt. Bogan will present medals to students for scholarship and leadership awards. The evening will be brought to an end by the presentation of the colors by an R. O. T. C. unit.

A princess stood on the threshold of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, but even her royal station could not admit her to the trading floor, forbidden to women during business hours by rule book and tradition.

But Princess Kikuko Tokugawa of Japan, found plenty to interest her when she went into the visitors' gallery to watch the milling crowd of traders, messenger boys, Board of Trade attachés, excitedly going about the business of trading in oats, wheat, and corn. And she may have felt a little surge of pride when her husband, Prince Nobuhito Takamatsu, was for a few minutes swallowed by the busy pit.

After a visit to the office of the president of the Board of Trade, the couple next went to the Chicago Art Institute, then to a luncheon at the Edgewater Beach apartments, and a tea later at the home of Rufus C. Dawes in Evanston. Last night they bid Chicago adieu, with their next sightseeing appointment with the Grand Cañon.

U. of Michigan Opens Yearly Music Festival

Lily Pons, Stock's Orchestra Are Features.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 13.—[Special.]—Lily Pons is the most recent of what would seem to be the real personalities among the musicians. It is in the highest degree likely that Chicagoans will be as greatly captivated by her at the music festival in Evanston next week as the Ann Arborites were tonight.

With her voice still echoing in my ears I have just come from the first concert of the University of Michigan's music festival, the thirty-eighth of the series. Rather contrary to the course of music festivals in general, the opening performance was not choral. Reasons for attendance were provided by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock, and Miss Pons, and they were more than ample.

She is a slender, youthful looking person, this Provencal girl. It is a valuable gift to be liked as soon as one comes into sight on the stage, and she has it. She has other gifts, however, and one of them is a coloratura soprano voice of the kind that bids fair to put her among the famous coloraturas of years past. You could compare its purity to the tone of a flute except that it has human warmth in it, something of the same quality that Galli-Curci projected during the seasons when she was the sensation of the Chicago Opera company.

To the vocal quality she adds an accuracy of performance that gives few odds to any mechanical musical instrument, and a sense of musical style that marks her as a distinguished artist. You are entitled to marvel at the ease with which she juggles vast collections of high notes in such arias as "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto" and the "Bell Song" from "Lakmé." You are more entitled to think fondly of her for her Mozartean ability in such other arias as those of "The Queen of the Night" and of "Pamina" in "The Magic Flute." And when you are through adding up her musical qualities she displays a whole series of completely charming stage manners, and her conquest is complete. Go and hear her in Evanston next week. You will find it worth your while.

Mr. Stock and the Chicago orchestra are old favorites in Ann Arbor, and Ann Arbor responds by giving them the Hill auditorium, a hall of delightful acoustics, on the edge of the university campus, in which to appear. They added to their already high standing tonight by playing the Chausson "Symphony in B Flat" and some shorter works, "The Hussitzka Overture" by Dvorák and a sketch of "The Steppes of Central Asia" by Borodin. The hall was crowded, and in many years of concert going I have seldom heard warmer applause. Miss Pons was a sensation, but Stock and the orchestra are old friends.

Student Disorders Bring Inquiry by 3 Ohio Colleges

Cleveland, O., May 13.—(AP)—Disturbances affecting the student bodies of three Ohio colleges were in the process of settlement tonight, after conferences of students and officials. Although minor violence accompanied the disturbances at two of the institutions, the view of the officials was that there was no cause for alarm.

Officials of Heidelberg college, Tiffin, blamed "town hoodlums" for a fire which today destroyed a small wooden building used as athletic headquarters, but the officials said unidentified students probably were responsible for the recent stoning of President Charles E. Miller's office.

At Marietta college and the University of Akron the disturbances were attributed by school officials to student elections.

Police investigated the stoning of the Delta Upsilon fraternity house at Marietta last night, but did not learn who did it. Delta Upsilon had supported Miss Sarah Leake of Lowell, O., as candidate for president of the junior class and she was elected against the opposition of other fraternities.

A massmeeting of men students at Heidelberg today went on record as opposed to vandalism, and appointed a committee to draft resolutions demanding broader social privileges.

Under present rules, Heidelberg students are forbidden to smoke, play cards, or dance on the campus.

President Baker Resigns; Students Recently on Strike.

Washington, Pa., May 13.—[Special.]—Dr. Simon Strousse Baker, for 10 years president of Washington and Jefferson college here, today presented his resignation to the board of trustees, to become effective with the conclusion of the current scholastic year.

Dr. Baker, whose resignation was accepted with expressions of regret embodied in a resolution, gave continual ill health as his reason for resigning, but it is generally admitted that a "strike" of students last March in protest against his administration greatly influenced his decision.

In resigning, Dr. Baker, widely known educator and for 15 years associate superintendent of Pittsburgh city schools, expressed admiration for the college faculty which he characterized as "an able group of men." Referring to his difficulties with the undergraduates he said:

"So far as the student body is concerned, I have tried to win their friendship but have been unsuccessful."

You Can Shed Those Unwanted Ounces by Diet, Exercise

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A perfect deluge of mail following a suggestion here about the season's dress need of a flattened stomach proves there's a lot more work to be done in this particular flattening direction.

I suppose the girls, too, are looking ahead to the svelte bathing suit season, which is just around the corner, now. Wise girls, not to wait until the water is warm and the beach irresistible.

If one must get plumpish, I always think it best that the attack comes in that abdominal section. I find women who wouldn't otherwise lift a dumbbell to work off an excess ounce on arms or legs or between shoulder blades will rally to the reducing cause when they get that uncomfortably stuffed feeling around the midsection. Then, too, those mirrors we have a primitive instinct never to pass without giving a sidelong look are terrifically unflattering to the paunching silhouette. One look and the grandest date you're heading for can be ruined.

That kind of fat I wouldn't be for having removed, either, if it were needed to keep you warm, or energize you, or anything. But it's total loss, any way you view it. So, I'm going to suggest that you put yourself on a nice, sensible diet, and a pleasant one. No starving or going weak on the job.

Just eat one-half the breakfast you've been used to. But for lunch eat a nice big bowl of salad every day for awhile, and one hard roll or a slice of Melba toast, or some hard bread bit that won't tempt you to repeat orders.

For dinner, sit in with the family smilingly and have a piece of lean meat, two green vegetables, and a fruit dessert. Get along without breadstuff at dinner, likewise butter.

And then, do this exercise morning and night until you can look at that profile of yourself in a long mirror with infinite good humor. Get a piece of stretchable belting and sew it into circular form and slip it around the soles of the feet as you sit on the floor. Grasp it with your hand and pull. It must stretch so that when you grasp it you can get the benefit of a regular rowing machine movement—forward from waist and back, forward and back.

You can do the exercise without the belt, but the pulling forward and back with it helps. And it will work the excess flesh off the abdomen.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MRS. H. N.: A LITTIE LEMON juice rubbed into the skin has a bleaching effect. You may do this every night before going to bed. Buttermilk is a bleaching agent; it may be patted on the face at night and rinsed off in the morning.

Litany for Parents Helps Them to Keep Fresh Their Ideals

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Among other things in a letter from the mother of young children I find the following: "In the rush of housework and caring for the children I find myself losing sight of my ideals, and even though I read inspiring magazine articles and resolve to live up to what they say, I keep forgetting. I think your short articles in the paper which remind me each day of something I want to strive for are the greatest help of all."

It was as the result of this sort of letter that I wrote a summing up of what most of us are working toward as parents, and called it "A Mother's and Father's Litany."

As you perhaps remember, this was specially printed on large sheets of rough paper and sent out as a greeting at Christmas and the New Year. Requests for it continued to come in so steadily that I concluded that mothers and fathers were finding it a practical reminder in rather permanent forms, so when the first printing was exhausted it seemed wise to have another edition put through. It is perhaps a more efficient help toward remembering than tying a string around your finger.

This new printing of the "Mother's and Father's Litany," exactly like the original set, has been delivered to us. Those who wish it may receive one on receipts of their address and postage. Please do not send a stamped envelope, as this litany is not the same size as the regular booklets and goes out in a large special envelope.

Bright Sayings of the Children

I took my 3 year old son Leon to the bakery. At home I have often scolded him for being naughty. The bakery clerk gave him a cookie. He thanked her and she said to me, "What a good boy you have."

Miss Baur and Bartle Bull Are Engaged

BY THALIA

MRS. JACOB RAUR announces the engagement of her daughter, Rosemary, to Bartle Bull, eldest son of William Perkins Bull, K. C., and Mrs. Perkins Bull of Toronto, Canada, and 3 Eton place, London, England.

The betrothal is of great interest in Chicago, as Miss Rosemary and her fiancé have been much in the public prints since before her debut a year ago this past season.

The previous spring she and her mother were presented at the Court of St. James's. Mrs. Baur gave three teas on successive days at her residence at 1511 Astor street in the fall to present her to society, and later in the season gave a large musical and debut ball for her. She had attended Miss Ethel Walker's school and also studied for 2 years at Bryn Mawr.

Mr. Bull, who has been in Chicago during the past winter, was educated at Eton, is a graduate of Magdalen college, Oxford, and a barrister of the Inner Temple.

The wedding is planned to take place in the early fall, and meanwhile Mrs. Baur and her daughter are to sail the latter part of this month to spend the summer in Europe as they did last year.

Arts and Industries Group to Give Banquet June 1.

The Century of Progress banquet given last year by the Association of Arts and Industries was such a success that it was decided to repeat the occasion to hear of the progress in plans and contacts made during the past year. This year's banquet is to be in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house on Monday evening, June 1, just two years before the Fair is to be opened.

A large committee of prominent men, with George W. Dixon as chairman, is in charge of the affair, and Rufus C. Dawes, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, and Harvey Wiley Corbett of New York, chairman of the architectural commission for the exposition, are to make addresses.

All of the fruit trees—cherry, apple, plum, and pear—in Mrs. Charles Hubbard's orchard are in glorious bloom and the spring flowers in the garden are perfectly lovely, so that if the weather is nice on Sunday the American Friends of China, who have been invited to tea, will have a grand treat. Even if the party has to be all indoors the collection of Chinese ponies, hundreds of pieces that Mrs. Hubbard and her sons have acquired through years of discriminating searching all over the world, is something pretty marvelous to see. Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Charles Wesley Dawes, Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling, Mrs. Walter Borden, Mrs. John Paul Welling, Mrs. H. B. Fleming Jr., and Mrs. Arthur Evans are to pour.

English Speaking Union Session Tomorrow at Palmer House.

The English Speaking union's annual meeting and dinner tomorrow evening at the Palmer house will be concluded shortly after 9 o'clock, so that those who don't want to miss any of the Jubilee doings can get out in time and hear what's going on and so that the suburbanites can get home at a reasonable hour. Several suburban groups have reserved Dutch treat tables, one for Evanston in the name of James F. Oates, a Highland Park one reserved by George A. Mason, one for Glencoe residents spoken for by Mrs. George Pope, and an Oak Park one reserved by Mrs. H. B. Austin. Other reservations have been made by Mr. and Mrs. John Zane, Mr. and Mrs. H. Godfrey Haggard, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Hibbard, Donald McWilliams, the Gerhard Meynes, Miss Helen Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson and their house guest, Miss Cyra Curtis of London, and Alan Dixon.

The Oak Brook Polo club announces that the official opening game is to be played on Sunday, May 31. The Junior Infant Welfare society of Hinsdale is again taking on the task of disposing of parking spaces for the season's games. Mrs. Walter M. Sheldon is chairman of the committee in charge, which includes also Mrs. W. W. Kimball, Mrs. Paul Butler, Mrs. John V. Hasbrook, and Mrs. William Coghill Taylor.

Home for Children Invites Friends to Dedication.

The board of trustees of the County Home for Convalescent Children at Prince Crossing, Ill. [in affiliation with the University of Chicago], has issued invitations for a dedication ceremony of the James Nelson and Anna Louise Raymond building of the home, to take place next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A special train is to convey the guests to and from Prince Crossing. Mrs. William J. Chalmers is receiving the responses to the invitations. The home will be open for inspection before and after the ceremony and the board of managers is to serve tea.

The Edward Clark Crossetts will close their Lake Shore drive apartment next Tuesday and go to their summer place at Wianno, Mass. Miss Ruth Crossett, the only one of the three girls who is at home at present, will go east with her parents and Miss Betty, who is in New York, and Miss Caroline, who is at the Shipley school at Bryn Mawr, will join them in the east.

Other matters: Ralph Hines is to show his horse, Fads, that won a championship at the Onwentsia horse show last year and three grand championships at Fort Sheridan in the South Shore Country club horse show this year. . . . The Tavern is to have a dinner dance on Saturday evening, May 23. . . . The H. Stanley Wanzers, who were married last week, are to sail on the S. S. Conte Biancamano for their wedding trip. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Hill have moved out to the Tree-o in Lake Forest for the summer, having leased their Elm street apartment to Dr. O. E. Van Alyea. . . . Harold H. Swift and a group of Chicago friends have been spending a few days in Santa Barbara. . . . Miss Eliza Campbell of the Pearson hotel has departed for her annual trip to Europe, to be gone until Sept. 15.

Marian E. Roberts and C. H. Sudler Jr. to Wed Today.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the wedding of Miss Marian Elizabeth Roberts and Carroll H. Sudler Jr., will be solemnized at the Brown Memorial church in Baltimore, Md. After the ceremony there will be a reception at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Frank Roberts.

Miss Roberts will be attended by her two sisters, Miss Margaret and Miss Ruth Francis Roberts; Louis C. Sudler will be his brother's best man. All but three of the fourteen grooms-men are Chicago men. They include C. Prentiss Andrews, Clymer S. Bowen, William Burry Jr., C. Benson Dushane, William J. Louderback, J. Sanford Otis, James Waller Rogers, Adlai E. Stevenson, Culbreth Sudler, and Lawrence Williams, all of Chicago; William S. Jamison and Leonard L. Marshall of New York, and Arthur K. Underwood of Denver.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Some of these glib visiting lecturers who condemn our men as a wife-ridden body might do well to sit in here with me some day and hear a bit about the other side, the unspoiled wife side.

The popular impression is that American women have only to ask of their husbands and they receive more than they ask for, no questions asked unless it is, "Can I do anything more for you, dear?" That's the impression. However, there abide among us quite a number of husbands who still look upon their women as labor, unpaid and unappreciated, with no status whatever in the supposed partnership arrangement.

To a belligerent, the picture of the wife, who, like the writer of the latest communication before me, keeps on slaving for nothing a week, is just as hard to understand in this so-called "independent" woman age. But if you're tied down with four small youngsters and haven't any particular talent for work outside your home, what is the solution for a woman who never sees a nickel from one year's end to the other?

Take the case of Mrs. X., let's call her, as she prefers her real name withheld. She's been married fourteen years; has four youngsters, the oldest being 12. There hasn't been a cent spent for laundry, cleaning, sewing, or for anything else of household work during her marriage. She can't leave home for a movie, even, of an afternoon because she hasn't the nickel carfare it would take. Money is handed her meanly, with all the time-worn questions about what was given her last week.

Food Talk.

E. L. D. wants to know how to make the honey dipped popcorn balls which were mentioned a few weeks ago in our column. He particularly requests that we tell clearly how to roll the balls so that they will stick together and won't fall apart.

Evidently E. L. D. has assumed that the popcorn is stuck together with the honey as it comes out of the jar or bucket. This would be impossible. It must be cooked as is molasses or a sugar sirup for making popcorn balls.

Honey is a supersaturated sugar solution, as are all other sirups or molasses. It differs in flavor and composition, it is true. It contains a considerable quantity of levulose, a sugar that is almost lacking in other plain sirups. In using honey to make a candy for popcorn balls it is best to combine it with a little sugar, in the proportion of one part honey and one part sugar, and boil it down to a stiff candy to stick the popcorn together. On account of the levulose, this honey mixture will require a longer time for boiling than ordinary sugar sirups before it will reach 246 degrees F.—the stage where it forms a hard ball and has the necessary cohesive quality.

Butter may be added to the honey while it is boiling. This gives a richer flavor. As soon as the proper stage of cooking has been reached, pour the honey mixture over the popcorn just as you would molasses candy mixture. Stir the mass to coat all the popcorn kernels. Then, as soon as the mass is cool enough to handle, press the corn together into balls. Maple sirup, caramel sirup, and brown sugar may be treated in a similar way to vary the sweetening and flavor of the balls.

The honey may also be used to make a honey caramel, which is excellent for sticking the popcorn together. This is a much sweeter and richer confection than that made from boiling together sugar and honey.

GRAPEFRUIT SALAD.

Peel and divide a whole grapefruit. Cover the segments of the grapefruit, from which membrane has been removed, with a grenadine or apricot sirup and let it stand in the refrigerator for an hour. Add no sugar. When thoroughly chilled, drain the grapefruit and arrange on small lettuce leaves, or endive. Use the following dressing:

Juice of 2 oranges 2 tablespoons sugar
Juice of 1 lemon ½ teaspoon salt
Dash of paprika ¾ cup olive oil

Combine seasoning with fruit juices and mix with oil. Beat with the egg beater before using. This may be garnished with sliced kumquats.

SYNOPSIS.

Clare, fifteen year old daughter of Iris de Bertincourt, disappears mysteriously. She and her mother lived in a remote section of Paris. Clare attended a school play one evening and was brought home by friends. Her mother heard the car stop in front of the house and Clare's friends bidding her good night, but when she opened the door Clare had vanished.

Iris has been separated for years from her husband, Marcel de Bertincourt, a man of great charm, but no moral sense. They are cousins and the possible heirs of their Aunt Victoire, the Comtesse de Castelmaurou, who has ruled Iris' life until recently, when Iris found employment with Helen Roderick, an American woman.

Iris planned to divorce her husband and marry Maj. Alan Charnwood. Charnwood was about to depart on an eight months' trip to Africa when Clare disappeared, and he has postponed his trip to help Iris.

When the comtesse learns of her niece's disappearance she insists that Iris come to her home to stay until Clare is found. Iris learns when she arrives at her aunt's that her husband is already domiciled there. He seems to have changed in character, and has taken charge of the search for Clare. He has been seeing Clare, unknown to her mother, for some time past, and knows more about the child's life and her friends than Iris. The comtesse is bent on reconciling the estranged couple.

Alan calls on Helen Roderick and learns that she and Marcel are friends, unknown to Iris. When Alan calls on Iris the comtesse refuses to allow him to see her. As he leaves the house a servant approaches him and directs him to enter a door to his left. Iris had seen him and sent for him. She tells him that her aunt is doing all in her power to help her and that she must not offend her. They plan to meet at Helen Roderick's. Alan calls at Helen's and meets Marcel there. Alan recalls having seen Marcel at Le Touquet, gambling heavily.

INSTALLMENT XXII.

A CAUSE FOR COMMENT.

Towards midnight on his last evening Charnwood had strolled over to the sea front for a breath of air and, dropping in at the Casino bar had spotted de Bertincourt at a corner table hobnobbing with a couple of odd, rather vulgar looking people. Indeed, so coarse and flagrantly lower class were these two that he had looked again to make sure it really was his acquaintance of the baccarat room who was paying for their drinks and listening to their talk with knitted brow and an appearance of absorbed interest. On the marble before him lay a folded road map, to which he frequently referred.

The couple might have been tradespeople; at least that was Charnwood's first thought, but after another glance he decided against it. The man had too much of the semi-artistic lounger about him, representing indeed a type familiar in every Latin quarter café.

Tall and weedy, he was dressed in a short jacket, baggy trousers and a beret, his patchy brown beard trimmed to a straggling point. He had small eyes, close set and glistening, and a wide lipped, constant smile, showing strong yellowed teeth. His hands, though dirty, were long and well shaped —not at all the hands of an artisan. It was he who did most of the talking, with glib fluency and animation, his better half contenting herself with an occasional word, to which, however, the others paid respectful attention.

She was an obese and oily woman of middle age, her huge bulk crammed into a black satin gown dingy with powder and bursting at the seams. In her youth she might have been boldly handsome, but now her contours were blurred, her little eyes the color of bad coffee sunken in puffy flesh. Only one attribute remained untouched by time—a thick, crinkling mop of hair, flaming, nasturtium red, which thrust its wiry tendrils out in every direction. Brilliant as though a spotlight played upon it, the disk stood out startlingly against the sickly green wall behind, while from beneath its mass she looked out, sleepy and comfortable as a tortoise shell cat.

Presently in the midst of a gurgling laugh she turned to find Charnwood's eyes upon her. Her expression altered. She subjected him to a long, appraising scrutiny, at the end of which she ground her cigaret stump into her saucer, yawned, and pushed back her chair.

"Ugh! It's hot as an oven in here," she exclaimed in French with a guttural accent. "Let's get into the air."

They settled their account quickly and departed.

Later that evening Charnwood saw them again, seated on a bench along the front, their three heads bent over a sheet of paper flattened on the tall man's knee. In the rays of an arc light de Bertincourt's white shirt front and glossy bare head shone clear, the woman's angry mop stood out like a beacon. Twice Charnwood sauntered along behind them unobserved; the third time he passed the bench was empty.

Why de Bertincourt should concern himself with these people puzzled Charnwood as much now as it had done a month ago. Of course at a casino one picks up with all sorts, but there had seemed an atmosphere of more than chance acquaintance. O, well, it was no business of his.

His meal finished, he gravitated once more to the rue Bover-Barret, hoping to catch Inspector Maupin off duty. This time he was successful. The officer had just come in, and after a short wait Charnwood was ushered into his presence.

"Anything new?" he fired eagerly.

The inspector rose, setting down a cup of coffee, and wiped his mouth on the back of his hand.

"Nothing, I'm afraid, monsieur." He gave a regretful shrug. "Beyond eliminating certain possibilities we are very much where we were at first."

Charnwood swallowed his disappointment.

"What possibilities do you mean?"

"The chief one is the young man of the photograph—M. Armand Gilles of the Theater Odéon. He declares emphatically that he has never set eyes on Mlle. de Bertincourt, did not even know of her existence, and up till now we have not been able to disprove his statements. It is easy enough to obtain photographs of leading actors, and it looks as though the young lady had bought hers at a stationer's shop."

"Then you give him up as a suspect?"

"Not entirely. He is being kept under supervision in the hope of learning something from his movements, but I myself think he is a washout. The same is true of Mme. Weber's son, M. Gaston Weber, to whom M. de Bertincourt has directed our attention."

"So he's on your list, too!"

"Yes, monsieur. He seems badly frightened, inclined to bluster, but that may mean little. Certainly the notes he has been writing to mademoiselle —there were two among her letters—show him to be of a sufficiently intriguing character to rouse suspicion, but there is nothing really incriminating in them. However, a father's feelings are understandable."

He coughed tactfully, by which sign Charnwood was made to see how the domestic situation of the de Bertincourts must be causing comment. It did indeed have a queer look—the mother living alone with her daughter, an unexplained Englishman the first on the spot, yet from thence on the husband taking the lead in the investigation and better acquainted with the missing girl's private life than any one else!

Curious, too, these hidden facts about Clare. He listened uncomfortably while the inspector made known a variety of small items uncovered during the last two days—nothing much in themselves, but all going to prove how little one can really know about a character seemingly an open book for all to read.

"In one respect madame is fortunate," remarked Maupin presently. "Not every one has such resources to command. The Comtesse de Castelmaurou is ready to spare no expense, and she is, of course, a very rich woman."

"O, is she?" returned Charnwood absently.

The man's eyes opened in astonishment.

But Charnwood did not know; he had hardly given it a thought. Iris's mention of the moldy old chateau in Côte d'Or had suggested to his English mind the illusion of an impoverished nobility which even the ancient grandeur of the town house had not dispelled. True there was her reference to her aunt as "the one rich member of the family," but he had supposed this merely comparative.

"Surely you must have something to go on outside of what you have told me," he urged.

"A few leads, monsieur. It is too early to say what will come of them. First, there is the statement of Mme. Weber's chauffeur. He declares that when he drove into the Passage de l'Oratoire on Tuesday evening he noticed a motorcar twenty yards round the corner of the rue Guillaume d'Orange. The driver, who appeared to be asleep, was clean shaven and not in uniform. The car was a shabby one, dark blue body and black adjustable top. There are thousands like it in Paris, unfortunately."

"But you are hoping to establish the ownership of the car?"

"Naturally, though it may prove a long business, as, being an old car, it may have passed through several hands."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Filling in an Idle Moment.

I was invited to the home of my boy friend for the first time and naturally wanted to make a good impression upon his parents and sister.

We were all sitting in the living room talking. Everything went well until a few moments of silence intervened. I tried hard to think of something to say, and upon glancing at his sister I said, "You have a runner in your stocking."

If I could have gone through the floor after her answer I surely would have. I still am conscious of my error when I see his family. M. S.

Object of Charity.

Recently, while I was convalescing, I was permitted to sit in the sun outside of the hospital.

One day I sat on the steps leading down to the public street. I wore black glasses and chanced to be holding an open tin box from which I had just taken the last piece of candy.

A passerby dropped a quarter into the box. Greatly embarrassed, I called, "O, I don't take money." C. T. T.

Patients Cost $5.33 Daily at Hospitals

Despite a reduction in the cost of hospital supplies, foodstuffs, and the practice of economies on every hand, hospital costs have not been lowered below the $5 a day average of the last few years.

That is revealed in a survey of 650 American hospitals to be presented today at the joint meeting of the Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin Hospital association at the Hotel Sherman.

A lowered occupancy in many hospitals, a tendency toward the overbuilding of hospitals, and a trend toward better health conditions are held responsible, in great part, for the unchanged costs of hospital care. That was the explanation offered by John A. McNamara, executive editor of the Modern Hospital. He conducted the survey. Of the replies to the questionnaires, 81 were from Illinois [outside Chicago], Wisconsin, and Indiana, while sixteen were from Chicago.

"The most interesting revelation was the fact that the figure most often quoted on hospital costs which was determined by the American Hospital association's survey of 1,100 hospitals a few years ago to be $5.32 per patient, has not changed materially," Mr. McNanara says in his report. "We find this year that 600 hospitals' average daily cost of $5.33.

"This is surprising when we consider the economies practiced, the decrease in the costs of food and other supplies for hospitals.

"The difference evidently has been made by the lowered occupancy in many of the hospitals. But even the lessened occupancy, while it exists, has been greatly exaggerated. The number of complete answers from the whole United States on this question was 282, showing the average occupancy has been 67 per cent for all types of hospitals.

"In Chicago the average occupancy, the questionnaire shows, for the entire five years has been 73 per cent. That is 6 per cent better than for the entire country. Outside Chicago, in the three states, the percentage of occupancy has been 63 per cent, or 4 per cent less than the entire average. In Chicago the average in 1926 was 79 per cent, 1927 76 per cent, 1928 73 per cent, 1929 70 per cent, and 1930 64 per cent.

"It is evident from these figures that the recent financial depression has not been the only factor in the reduced occupancy in Chicago. That rather has been due to an overbuilt condition. A trend toward better health conditions can be considered a factor of equal importance.

"It has been proved that people eat simpler fare, drink less, and spend less time in energy destroying recreations when times are hard, and therefore have less illnesses than when times are good."

Mr. McNamara reported the average daily cost of hospital care in Chicago to be $6.90, while in Illinois hospitals outside the city the cost averages $5.47. A further division shows that hospitals conducted by Catholic Sisters in Chicago averages $5.08, while other hospitals show an average of $7.16. The reason, he explained, why the Catholic hospitals are figured separately is because the Sisters have donated their services, receiving no pay.

"It should be remembered," the survey states, "that a study of the costs in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana will show obviously that the cost of hospitalization in the city of Chicago will be greater than a rural community, and that while a large hospital is doing to mass production job, at the same time those factors, such as X-ray, laboratory, electrocardiographic service, metabolism, and physical therapy, increase hospital costs. Also, in this study, wholly free hospitals such as Cook county and Milwaukee county and others, have been excluded."

The survey reveals that in Chicago about 15 per cent of the work done in hospitals is free, 23 per cent part pay, and the remainder full pay.

Petticoats Swish Under Coat Dresses

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The Paris mode is wavering between extremes of modesty and daring and it is hard to tell which side will win. On the one hand, you have creators that refuse to consider the shadow of a slip, showing perfectly transparent frocks over silk bathing suit maillots, and on the other you have creators that put billowy petticoats under opaque frocks, that do not permit any visibility at all, any way; and you have to depend on a high wind or a step up to reveal them to you, unless they're in taffeta, like the one sketched, and then you can hear 'em swish in a most alluring manner.

Lucien Le Long is the champion, par excellence, of ladylike clothes, so one is not surprised to find him on the side of modesty. He makes this simple frock of navy blue serge. It gives much the effect of a coat frock, except that it does not open all the way down the front.

Its raglan sleeves are cut in one with the pointed yoke in back. The skirt has a moderate circular flare in front, while in back it is made with one stitched gore in the center that runs right up to meet the shoulder yoke, and a flat plait on either side of that. The buttons are navy blue serge and so is the belt.

The collar, bow tie, cuffs and the petticoat are all of red and navy blue, satin striped taffeta, cut on the bias.

For TEETHING troubles

FUSSY, fretful . . . . of course babies are uncomfortable at teething time! And mothers are worried because of the little upsets which come so suddenly then. But there's one sure way to comfort a restless, teething child. Castoria — made especially for babies and children! It's perfectly harmless, as the formula on the wrapper tells you. It's mild in taste and action. Yet it rights little upsets with a never-failing effectiveness.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given to tiny infants—as often as there is need. In cases of colic and similar disturbances, it is invaluable. But it has every-day uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever older children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset, a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

BAKER LEAVES BULK OF VAST ESTATE TO SON

2 Daughters Bequeathed 5 Million Each.

New York, May 13.—[Special.]—With the filing for probate yesterday in Surrogates' court of the will of George F. Baker it was revealed that the estate of the banker and philanthropist is valued at about $75,000,000, as against previous estimates ranging from 150 millions to 500 millions.

The will was brief and its terms simple, the entire fortune being bequeathed outright. More than $60,000,000 of it was left to the banker's only son, George F. Baker Jr., who was also named executor. Two daughters, Mrs. Howard B. St. George of Tilgate, Surrey, England, and Mrs. F. Gaadby Loew of New York City, each received $5,000,000. In addition they and their brother receive certain personal bequests. Miss Florence J. Lowe, a granddaughter, receives Mr. Baker's Tuxedo, N. Y. country estate. Twelve employés and servants get legacies of $25,000 to $1,000.

Although he had been noted throughout his long career for his philanthropies, known to have exceeded $15,000,000, Mr. Baker's will made only four such bequests for a total of $550,000.

$250,000 for Memorial to Parents.

He left $250,000 to the New York public library and a like sum to the Protestant Episcopal cathedral foundation of the District of Columbia to be devoted to the erection of an addition to the Washington, D. C., cathedral to serve as a memorial to his parents, George E. and Eveline S. Baker. Legacies of $25,000 each were left to the New York Exchange for Women's Work and to the Tuxedo [N. Y.] Memorial hospital.

The five and a half page will was signed May 21, 1930. Attached to it was a one page codicil, dated April 14, 1931, less than three weeks before Mr. Baker's death. The codicil revoked a $2,000 legacy to a servant who had left his employ.

Published Private Biography.

It became known today that the banker, who abhorred publicity, had a biography of his life published privately and after six copies were turned over to him, at a cost of about $25,000 a volume, he had ordered the plates destroyed.

The six books were given to members of the Baker family, with instructions that the work, written by Albert Bigelow Paine, the noted biographer, should never be permitted to reach the public.

MANY NOTABLES ATTEND RITES FOR WALTER A. STRONG

Political and Trade Leaders Present.

Funeral services for Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Daily News, who died on Sunday, were held yesterday afternoon in the family residence, 1377 Tower road, Winnetka.

Among the notables who attended the rites were Gov. Emmerson, Mayor Cermak, State's Attorney Swanson, Chief Justice McGoorty of the Criminal court, and Acting Police Commissioner Alcock. Also represented were the other newspapers of Chicago and heads of most of the large downtown financial institutions.

Episcopalian Pastor Officiates.

The spacious first floor of the Strong home was inadequate to accommodate the attendance and the overflow heard the services from the lawn through amplifiers. The Episcopalian ritual was read by the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard, pastor of Christ church, Winnetka, of which Mr. Strong was a member. He was assisted by Dr. Irving Maurer, president of Beloit college, from which Mr. Strong was graduated in 1905.

The a cappella choir of Northwestern university, under the direction of Dean Emeritus Peter C. Lutkin, sang three selections, "Adoremus Te," a paraphrase of the 23d psalm and a choral blessing composed by Dean Lutkin.

Relatives Are Pallbearers.

The active pallbearers were four brothers-in-law of Mr. Strong, Henry Kitchell Webster, Maurice H. Webster, Towner K. Webster Jr., and Ronald Webster, and two nephews, Henry Kitchell Webster Jr. and Towner K. Webster III.

Before the services the body of Mr. Strong lay in state in the large hall of the home he had built.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 13.—Describing the action as "ridiculous and absurd," Justice MacIntosh dismissed a claim for $2,250,000,000 brought by Leon Franklin, a promoter, against the Westminster bank, one of the "big five," in the high courts today.

Franklin based his claim on a dishonored draft for nine billion German marks drawn by the Westminster bank during the German inflation period in 1923. The bank denied its liability. Conducting his own case Franklin declared that he purchased the draft for $75.25 as a result of a bargain he struck with a sub-manager of the bank, making the purchase as a "speculative investment."

Following the stabilization of the mark he attempted to get payment on the draft, but was informed that it was worthless because of changes in the German financial laws.

1 KILLED, 3 HURT IN HEAD-ON AUTO CRASH ON CURVE

One man was killed and three other persons so seriously injured that they may not recover in a head-on automobile collision early this morning on a curve, at the eastern limits of Arlington Heights. The dead man was Clarence Demlow, 30 years old, of Algonquin, Ill., driver of one of the machines. The driver of the other car was Arthur Maggetts of Chicago who was riding with an unidentified woman. With Demlow in his car was Mrs. Mary Howell, 28 years old of Crystal Lake, Ill. All suffered serious injuries and were taken to the Mt. Prospect General hospital where it was said chances for their recovery were slight.

The deaths of Demlow and five others increased the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 417. The other victims:

Charles Stydle, 33 years old, 200 South Laflin street. Died yesterday, the second victim of an early morning automobile crash at 18th street and Ashland avenue. His roommate, Elias Norland, 25 years old, driver of the car, was instantly killed in the accident. Norland was not identified until several hours after the crash. The occupants of the other car, which had been stolen, abandoned their auto and fled on foot.

Allen Wade, 22 years old, 2749 Seminary avenue, a Wilmette taxicab driver. Killed early this morning when his cab collided with a car driven by Howard Barker, 431 8th street, Wilmette, in front of 1116 Locust street, Wilmette. Barker and the two passengers in Wade's car, Mrs. S. W. Horstmann and her daughter Marjorie, in front of whose home the accident occurred, were taken to the Evanston hospital suffering from cuts and bruises.

Miss Dorothy Springfield, 20 years old, 6438 Maryland avenue. Died at Mercy hospital last night from injuries suffered on May 10, when the automobile of Leo Fisher, 1004 Dracher street, Hammond, Ind., in which she was riding, struck a light post at 29th street and South Park avenue and hurled her to the street.

R. B. McCormick, 21 years old, resident trainer at the Washington Park race track. Fatally injured when struck by an automobile driven by Andrew Labue of Chicago Heights at 175th and Halsted streets. Labue was held by the Harvey police.

Adam Wamaski, 12 years old, 815 North Paulina street, was probably fatally injured when Samuel Solitari, 1230 West Austin avenue, drove his car into a group of school children while attempting to beat a traffic light at Ashland avenue and Augusta street. Solitari is being held.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 13.—Concerning the recent death of Dr. Albert A. Michelson, the following tribute to the American scientist was given today by Prof. Albert Einstein:

"In carrying out physical experiments Dr. Michelson was an artist of the highest type.

"His invention of the interferometer, his celebrated attempt to discover the earth's motion through ether, which was a precursor of the enunciation of the principle of relativity, the diffraction method for determining the diameter of stars, the proof by purely optical methods of the rotation of the earth, and, finally, the wonderfully exact measurements of the velocity of light, all these feats of experimental skill will be admired as long as mankind concerns itself with physics."

Lovely Curves Are Always Admired

It seems almost unbelievable how fast new Ironized Yeast has added pounds of good firm flesh—on men and women, children and old people. Nervous, tired people tell of new strength and pep. Constipation, indigestion have vanished, skin has cleared to new rosy health and beauty.

Why New Ironized Yeast Builds Weight Quick

This amazing new Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—special weight-building, dried brewer's Yeast, and blood-enriching, strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. This special treatment makes it richer than plain yeast in those wonderful vitamins which revitalize the sluggish body cells, drive out dangerous body poisons, tonic the nerves, stimulate the appetite, increase energy and endurance, and build up weight and strength. Double-tested in the laboratory for strength, purity and potency. Used by physicians and big hospitals.

To this concentrated dried brewer's Yeast is added three kinds of easily assimilated Iron, to quickly make rich, red blood and tone up nerves and muscles. By this special process, Ironized Yeast is made more effective than yeast or iron taken separately. No starches, flours or gas-forming fillers.

If you are "skinny," nervous, tired, weak—if you suffer with constipation and indigestion—start Ironized Yeast today. You should quickly fill out with good, solid flesh and become strong and full of pep.

New Complexion for Many People marvel how Ironized Yeast has transformed sallow, blemished, lifeless, faded complexions into the fresh, smooth, lovely skin that every one admires. As poisons are driven from system and new health comes, years seem to drop from the looks.

Get a generous test treatment today. Pleasant easy-to-take little tablets—no nasty taste, never upset stomach or cause gas or bloating. Never spoil, no harmful drugs, safe for everybody.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Go to any drug store today, get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast and take the little tablets as directed. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with weight and health benefits gained, your money refunded by manufacturer.

ACCUSE BRITISH PEER OF FRAUD IN SHIP REPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 13.—Following recent rumors concerning the affairs of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company group financial circles were stirred tonight by the news that two summonses had been served earlier in the day on Lord Kylsant, first baron of Carmarthen and chairman of the company. The summonses accuse Lord Kylsant of making false annual reports to stockholders of the Royal Mail company.

The affairs of the combine, which comprises more than 40 shipping companies having world-wide connections, have been before the public during the last two years. Last year control of the company's affairs in effect was placed in the hands of a committee of bankers, and recently the attorney general stated in the house of commons that the affairs of the company were subject to investigation.

"I cannot understand the charges at all," Lord Kylsant declared. "I entirely deny them. I have at all times faithfully served the interests of the company and the shareholders. I have no fear for the results."

Weather's Bad News to Equipoise.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 13.—Mate, Twenty Grand, Equipoise, Pittsburgher, and other leading candidates for the Kentucky Derby retreated into the background tonight and the weather man came in for a big hand where the Derby throngs were congregating. Weather Man M. E. Kendall of Louisville predicted that there will be sunshine all day long at Churchill Downs on Saturday when the Derby is run for the fifty-seventh time. He also predicted there will be no more rain between tonight and Derby day, which, of course, will assure a lightning fast track.

Bad News for Equipoise.

The weather man's predictions may be no more reliable than the hunches of a guy trying to buy a ticket on the winner, but they brought gloom into one very important Derby training camp—that of Equipoise, Derby favorite, which is owned by Cornelius Vanderebilt Whitney—for it isn't expected that Equipoise will do much in the Derby unless the going is soft or muddy.

Fred Hopkins, the young trainer of Equipoise, was wearing a long face when weather man Kendall made his prediction. For over the muddy Churchill Downs course this morning Equipoise engaged in his last serious work for the Derby. It was a good workout, although Hopkins holds out little hope for an Equipoise victory. "The colt isn't himself," Hopkins says.

Runs Half in :53 2-5.

Accompanied by Totem, his regular work companion, and with R. Shillik in the saddle, Equipoise broke from the turning pole and clicked off the quarter through the stretch in :26 2-5 and was at the half in :53 2-5. He stopped three-quarters and didn't seem to be half trying in 1:20 2-5, and he was at the mile, still galloping and playing, in 1:46 2-5. He had breezed all the way, but watchers remarked that he did not seem to be the same colt that worked at the Downs last fall for his Kentucky Jockey club engagement.

Trainer Hopkins liked the workout, but showed a sad face when he said that Equipoise was not at his best. "He may win if the track is muddy on Saturday," Hopkins remarked.

Other Derby candidates were not seriously active. Some of them stepped along for five furlongs, but they made no exceptional speed. All afternoon I was expected the Greentree stable colt of Twenty Grand, Surf Board, and Anchors Aweigh would be brought out for a serious drill. The crowd at Churchill Downs could see some maneuvering over under the sheds at the Greentree stable barn, but the horses never made an appearance on the track.

Change Jockey Assignment.

Changes in the plan of attack of the Greentree stable was announced late this afternoon. Jockey Pony McAtee will not be here to ride Surf Board and cut out the dazzling early pace. Instead Jockey E. Watters will have a leg up on Surf Board. Kurtsinger will ride Twenty Grand and Jockey Earl Steffan will be in the saddle on Anchors Aweigh.

Sonny Workman is coming to ride Equipoise and George Ellis, who piloted Mate to his Preakness victory, is on his way here to ride the son of Man o' War in the Derby.

Everywhere on or near the Derby scene there was backing for Twenty Grand today. There was scattered support for Mate and a few were betting on Equipoise. Some westerners were willing to take long odds on Pittsburgher, Sweep All, and Insco, but there wasn't much backing for them.

Jockey Rider for Sweep All.

Clyde Van Dusen was also looking for a jockey to ride Charles Fisher's Sweep All. He had engaged Earl Sande for the race, but Pool is suffering from a wrenched knee. Tonight Van Dusen had offered the mount to Saulo Coltiletti, the boy who rode Van Dusen when he was beaten in the $50,000 Agua Caliente handicap, and it appears that Coltiletti will be in the saddle on Sweep All.

Support among the westerners, there was confidence in all the Derby training camps tonight. But the most confident outfit was the Greentree stable. If you suggested that Mate or Equipoise or Pittsburgher might beat Twenty Grand in the Derby, the people in charge of the Greentree affairs would run you right out of the neighborhood.

The betting odds indicated the feeling that Twenty Grand might win. He was at 2 to 1 tonight with Mate at 5 to 2 and Equipoise at 5 to 1. You could write your own ticket on any of the others. One can't help but believe that the big long striding Twenty Grand might save at least part of the spoils for the west. The eastern colts will have to be all that they are advertised to be to trim him.

PITTSBURGHER WINS DERBY TRIAL

WEATHER KEEPS CUBS AND ROBINS IN EASY CHAIRS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 13.—Some day this summer, some place in the National league, the Cubs may resume the business of playing baseball. But dont' ask us to come out into the blizzard and tell you when or where.

The Brooklyn management waited till noon today before calling off the opener with the Cubs because of cold and wet grounds, but there was no suspense in the matter. It was apparent last night there could be no game today. And there's none too great a chance for activity tomorrow.

It was the tenth Cub postponement of the season. The season will be only a month old tomorrow, which means that the Chicagoans have been laid off one out of every three games scheduled. They have had cancelations in every city in the league they have visited, which excludes only Philadelphia and Boston.

Athletes Miss Daily Workouts.

The weather has been such that the sensitive athletes have been unable to step out and get any exercise. The callouses which they have cultivated on their hands to fortify them in the catching of baseballs are softening and disappearing and other callouses are developing where the boys have no use for them. Three days off in a row in New York—the boys use the same hotel for both the Giants and Robins series—has been a severe test for the spirited players, especially since they couldn't plan anything recreational in advance.

In penitentiaries many inmates are said to be "stir crazy," and it is feared that a similar breaking down will occur among the members of the Cub party if something doesn't happen to let them get their minds off their batting averages.

Hornsby Convalescing.

Mr. Hornsby, incidentally, is taking full advantage of the idle days to get his injured leg back in working order. There still is no definite information as to just when he'll be able to resume play, however.

Brooklyn is Bill Jurges' home town, and it would be nice if he could make his first big league start in the Robin series. But he is supposed to start only in case there is a left handed pitcher working. And Manager Robinson rarely starts a left hander against the Cubs.

Ray Phelps is expected to pitch against the Cubs in the event the game can be played tomorrow. Phelps pitched four games against the Cubs last year, winning two and losing two. He lost a game to Malone, 4 to 2, and won one from Pat, 3 to 0. He lost to Nelson, 7 to 4, and beat Bush, 15 to 5.

Smith Second in Southport Golf with 71

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOUTHPORT, England, May 13.—Joe Kirkwood settled his misunderstanding with his golf clubs in the Southport tournament today. He shot a par 72 in the rain and wind, while some of those who have been approaching 80s also whittled down their scores.

Henry Cotton, the self-sentenced orphan of the British Ryder cup team, sliced another three off his round and gained leadership with a 70. His qualifying scores were 76 and 73. Horton Smith, who took a 78 on Monday, gained second place with 71. Kirkwood's 72 was shared with Charles Whitcombe, captain of this year's Ryder cup team; Archie Compston, and Marcos Churio, the Argentine. Tomas Genta of Argentina reached the 73 bracket for the first time.

Joe Turnesa dropped to a 75 score and this was repeated by Tony Manero, Bill Davies and Ernest Whitcombe. Jose Jurado of Argentina cracked under the wind and had an 80.

Horton Smith played erratically and took 38 going out. He three putted at the short first and was three over fours at the sixth. He took a birdie three at the seventh and shot three more at the twelfth, fourteenth and eighteenth.

The Chicago Athletic association yesterday announced the resignation of E. C. Delaporte from his position as athletic director, the action to take effect at the end of this month. Delaporte's contract had three and a half years yet to run, but it was reported that a satisfactory financial adjustment had been made.

David B. Gann, president of the association, said that the office of athletic director would be done away with entirely. This is in line with the club's withdrawal from athletic competition with other organizations. Although for years the C. A. A. has not been active in interclub meets, it was only recently that it defined a definite policy of stick to intraclub sports.

BREAK GROUND FOR MAROONS' FIELDHOUSE

Construction work on the new athletic fieldhouse at the University of Chicago began yesterday, when steam shovels dug into the site at 56th street and University avenue. Officials at the university predicted that the structure will be completed in December, ready for next winter's basketball.

The new plant will have twice the capacity of Bartlett gymnasium, with a seating capacity up to 7,000.

Even Dr. Sebenq Knows His Horse Feathers.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

The French amateur champion boxers have come and been and gone and a very good sort of time seems to have been had by one and all, including Dr. Charles Sebenq, the boss man of the team, who fattened his vocabulary with such American terms as "'orse fedders," "'scram," and "popover," although he sometimes got his little cakes mixed. One night at dinner on board the S. S. France the doctor turned to the lady next him and said, "That Pheeleep Scott of England, she is one big macaroon."

The French boys have learned to chew gum, and a descent in a swift hydraulic elevator no longer affects them the same as a crash in an airplane. One boy, Jacques Delahayes, the barber, lost a tooth in his fight with Phil Dardell of New York, but he has a lot of teeth still and, anyway, there must be a lot of French kids who would give a good right arm for the same trip. In addition to all of which, the loss of a tooth will seem to any one who has ever had a French haircut a purely nominal retribution on his craft.

Ambitious Program Achieved.

This job of engaging, importing, and providing for a continental athletic team, unwinding the red tape on the other side, counting noses and satchels at every change of transportation, laying out a stadium, printing and selling tickets, engaging capable ushers and arranging the appropriate gestures of international amity is an ambitious business, and the diplomatic phase alone might have challenged the talents of the United States state department.

But the fights began on time, the music was cued in, and the searchlights came on at precisely the instant when the two great flags were unfurled, and, far more important, here was one international meet in one of the most acrimonious sports, boxing, between two of the touchiest nations on earth, in which, after all, both sides parted friends.

In sixteen fights nobody dealt or claimed a foul, a record which may, but probably will not, suggest something to Jack Sharkey, and the only unpleasant conduct was chargeable to a strident female, possibly a potential sashweight murderess, who sat close to the ring throughout the fights, shrilling and squawking at each of the American boys to knock the Frenchman dead.

French Surprise Themselves.

The French team surprised even themselves, for there is no doubt that they came over in a foreboding frame of mind, regarding the Golden Gloves boys as supermen and more intent on fighting until they were knocked out than winning. This was apparent in several of the fights. Elyas, the French captain, in his bout with Jack Kranz; Henri Bruyere in his fight with Nick Scialaba; Gabriel Lerat against Don Gonzales; and Jean Zigan against Fred Caserio did not punch, but boxed for mere touches and concentrated on blocking. Zigan won, but only because Caserio was strangely bashful.

Fernand Cuny now bemoans the ear ache that laid low the Paris gendarme, Tourquet, the welterweight champion of France, and compelled the substitution of Delahayes, who is distinctly second string in France.

"I wish," Prof. Cuny said, his gray eyes bulging in an earnest expression, "I wish that I have had for welterweight Tourquet last night. If I 'ave Tourquet, she will beaten these Dardell and we 'ave won four combats to make a draw with the Americans."

Entertained by War Veterans.

One bout short of an even break was a moral victory for the French and they celebrated almost as victors when the French war veterans residing in Chicago entertained them at lunch yesterday. Their team had been drawn from a field only one-fourth as large az the original strength of the combined Chicago and New York groups.

French Boxers Say Au Revoir to Chicago but Hope to Return

BY HEROL EGAN.

"Au revoir, Chicago. Nous serions si heureux de revenir vous revoir." [Good-by, Chicago. We would be so happy to return again to see you.]

It was Alexandre Elyas, the battered but still smiling and debonair captain of the French amateur boxing team, who spoke when he and his playmates from across the seas began reluctantly to pack their bags and suitcases yesterday afternoon for the long trip back to France.

For the first time since their arrival in Chicago the weather was clear and warm. It was also the first time that the boys had a chance to see the lake shimmering in the sunshine, with the long sweep of green along the shore. It was a new and wondrously beautiful Chicago which amazed and delighted the visitors, and made them sad to think of leaving.

Find Americans Tap Hard.

"Do you think they were happy with us, the spectators?" asked little Gaby Lerat, as he applied a hot water pad to his injured right eye, which is a striking testimonial to the powerful left hand punch of Don Gonzales.

"Yes, they seemed very happy, for Americans like game fighters and good sportsmen. The French showed both qualities Tuesday night," he was told.

"They tap very hard, the American boys, much harder than in Europe. And they start fighting so quickly. One does not have time to study his man before zingo! his right eye is closed."

The three boys who won are immensely proud of their belts, which will probably be handed down from generation to generation back in France. The losers are very pleased with theirs, even though the victory diamond is missing. They are consoled because they know they did the best they could.

Meet William Wrigley.

Yesterday the boys were entertained at luncheon by French ex-service men. Then they went to call upon Mr. William Wrigley on an invitation from him. Laudrin, the heavyweight who won such a decisive victory over Yustin Sirutis, had expressed a desire to meet the chewing gum magnate.

The visitors were each given two boxes of chewing gum to take home with them, and they were happy as children as they discussed ways and means of getting it through the customs back at Le Havre.

The boxing team left Chicago last night on the Michigan Central for Niagara Falls, where they will arrive at 8:55 o'clock this morning. A special Niagara Gorge electric car will meet the party at the station and take it for a two hour trip to the falls, along the river, and across into Canada.

The special Pullman car which THE TRIBUNE provided for the party will be attached to a train leaving Niagara Falls at 11:40 a. m., reaching New York at 9:30 p. m., standard time. The boys will stay at the St. Moritz hotel in New York.

Tomorrow morning the New York Daily News has arranged a sight seeing tour of the metropolis for the boys. Then they will be taken to the liner Ile de France, which sails at 4:30 p. m.

On reaching Paris the boys will have completed an 8,000 mile trip, during the course of which they have visited two of the greatest cities in the world, fought before the largest crowd ever to witness a series of amateur boxing bouts, and won the affection and respect by their courage and their sportsmanship of the people whose hospitality they so gladly accepted.

Sebenq Thanks People of Chicago for Reception

I do not wish to leave the magnificent city of Chicago without saying how profoundly we have been affected by the reception given us by the people of Chicago.

Everything was done to enable us to represent with dignity our country. The best team won. Bravo! I wish to thank Mr. Clinnin and Mr. Brundage. I wish to thank the referees and the judges. Hurrah for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and all those who represent it!

When we board the liner Ile-de-France which will carry us home we will all take off our berets and cry:

Lewis Throws Judson Once and Bout Ends

Strangler Lewis, the wrestler who claims the world's title when he is in certain sections of the world, went to grips last night at the Coliseum with Frank Judson, former Harvard mat coach. After they had wrenched and grunted through 33 minutes of excrusiating agony Lewis caught his opponent by the neck and threw him with more than customary emphasis. Then he picked him and whanged him down several times in quick succession, finally squatting on top of him to score a fall.

When Lewis arose Judson lay flat on his back and was unable to leave the ring for five minutes. As the match was to be decided by two out of three falls, Lewis returned to the ring after the regulation rest period and waited for his opponent. Finally it was announced that Judson was unable to continue, doctors saying that a rib cartilage was torn.

Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football player, appeared in a preliminary bout with Johnny Plummer. After eleven minutes of rough and tumble Joe lifted his opponent over his head, teetered to the center of the ring and thumped him ker-chunk on the canvas. He repeated this two or three times in rapid succession until Plummer stayed down.

In another bout Hank Bruder, formerly of Northwestern, pinned Marvin Strokota with a body scissors and arm hold after 10 minutes and 5 seconds of grappling. Vic Soldat beat Lloyd Burdick in 15 minutes and 14 seconds with a wrist lock, and Zack Malkov whipped George Schwab with an armlock in 15 minutes and 3 seconds.

ITALIAN TEAM TIES, 4-4, WITH A. A. U. BOXERS

New York, May 13.—(AP)—Italy's boxing champions, representing the nation that won the world amateur boxing crown at the 1928 Olympics, fought the best amateur boxers of the eastern seaboard to a tie, four bouts to four, before 15,000 tonight.

The eight Italian youngsters, who traveled 6,000 miles to carry their Olympic title into international action, opposed a team of national champions and runnerups picked from the recent National A. A. U. tournament field.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Tommy Thomas' home run ball caused both confusion and woe for the White Sox yesterday. Going into the eighth Tommy appeared safe with a two run lead, but a homer in this inning and another in the ninth brought on a tie which lasted until the eleventh, when the titleholding Athletics hammered across enough to capture the second of the series by 7 to 5. When this happened Thomas was gone on the plea that his arm was tired, and old Red Faber was in his place.

Faber's failure to prevent a sad conclusion was due to his inability to stop the first three batters to face him in the final inning. Bing Miller, who had binged a homer to tie the score in the ninth, started the last parade with a double. Dykes bunted in such a way that nobody could throw him out, and Faber completed the dismal setting by hitting Boley on the hand. Then a fly off George Earnshaw's bat let Miller score, and the final blow came a moment later when Dykes scored on a double steal.

Earnshaw Shaky at Start.

Earnshaw did all the pitching for the Athletics and did his best work in the last portion of the battle. At the outset the Sox made him look shaky by scoring a pair. They frisked him for another in the fourth and then in the fifth obligingly gave back enough runs to let the champions get into a 3 to 3 tie. Bush's men shattered this deadlock by leaping back in the van in the sixth but thereafter Mr. Earnshaw conducted the party according to his own plans. In the five concluding chapters he gave up only one hit.

The Sox made use of Earnshaw's generosity in scoring two runs in the first inning. The attack opened with Blue drawing free passage. Simons fanned, but Reynolds made amends for this by doubling to center on the first pitch. Blue stopped at third, Fothergill promptly scored both runners with a hot single over short.

Thomas' escape from a perilous spot in the opening inning is worthy of mention. Haas survived on Cissell's fumble with one out, and the blunder would have proved damaging if Blue hadn't stabbed Cochrane's drive and doubled Haas off first. The next incident at Thomas' expense was Simmons' triple to right center to start the second. He dashed home while Appling was throwing out Foxx.

Sox Take Lead.

Thomas' third also was interesting even though not productive for the champions. Boley started it with a single and Earnshaw sacrificed, whereupon Blue again stabbed a line drive and doubled Boley off second.

The Sox put themselves in front by 3 to 1 in the fourth when they collected a run without going to the trouble of much hitting. Cissell led

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Gold Step, which the judges embarrassed by a disqualification after he had won the Inaugural handicap at Aurora on opening day, returned yesterday to demonstrate that he is not a horse to be taken lightly and in addition is quite a versatile critter.

Take that opening day race when he was set back after jostling T. S. Jordan. That race was run on a fast track, and if Gold Step hadn't shown too much of a liking for the rail position he might have won it clearly. Yesterday the combination of a warm sun with the rains of the last few days left the Aurora racing strip in a molasses like state. But Gold Step paid no attention to that, despite the fact that he was carrying top weight of 117 pounds.

The track had been churned up considerably by the pounding of horses in the four races preceding the Grand Trunk handicap, but Gold Step went out and took it as though he were running on a velvet carpet. It was a rather select event, only Portmanteau, Beton and Celtic Prince, having been elected to argue the matter with Gold Step.

Finds Little Opposition.

Gold Step found little opposition except from Portmanteau, which became so presumptuous as to take the lead for a few seconds in the stretch, but Gold Step soon disposed of him and won by two lengths. Beton was third. Gold Step's public remained faithful to him and he returned only $3.80.

The State street Jubilee carnival event, the secondary feature, was just that for Transgression, a lightly weighted daughter of Transmute. Jockey Andy Fischer took Transgression to the front and held her there to the finish line despite challenges by Bocaratone, Englewood, and Masterly. The last named came home to take place honors from Englewood. Transgression rewarded her backers with $7.32 in the two dollar mutuels.

Long shot players failed to collect in the first two races on the program when the public choices took all of the money. Meridianes, P. Thompson's 4 year old filly, overtook Maximum, the early leader, in midstretch, and went on to win by a length. Maximum hung on to take the place money from Take Off, the favorite. Meridianes returned her backers $8.02 for a $2 win ticket. It was her second consecutive victory at Aurora.

American Thunder Wins.

American Thunder, winner of the six furlong second race, followed the same path as Meridianes, coming up on the outside to beat Marshall Seth, which had attracted a considerable investment by the customers shortly before post time. Hegans Dance took third money. American Thunder paid $9.96.

The third and fourth races, the first of the four events at a mile and 70 yards, produced a couple of surprises. Belgium, a 4 year old gelding, which had never had the pleasure of visiting the winner's ring, scared his maiden victory in the third race by staggering home in front of Bridegroom, the favorite, and Thistle Dee, which had also received attention in the betting. Belgium brought his backers $11.84 for $2.

Classy, W. L. Johnson's 4 year old gelding, outran Saddle Skirts, the early leader, in the fourth race and then outfought Sam Cole to the finish. Elmer H. was third. Classy apparently belied his name in the opinion of the fans, for he returned $20.14 to $2 investors.

Rideaway Is Winner, Loser in Same Stake

C. V. Whitney's Rideaway won the false start, with Morton L. Schwartz's Clock Tower, of Preakness fame, second by five lengths, while in the re-run, the order was reversed, Rideaway losing by a nose.

The Rancocas stable's Mowris, W. R. Coe's Polydorus, and Rideaway were the three which got off flying. Clock Tower, the Wheatley stable's Blenheim, and W. M. Moore's Danour were the ones left, although the last two did not pull up as did the favorite.

Rideaway led virtually all the way to the finish. Clock Tower, running a game race, passed all the others save the leader, with Mowris finishing third. Blenheim, Danour and Polydorus finished in that order. To all intents Rideaway had earned the award of $4,000.

BRONOWICZ AND ZAHARIAS MEET ON FRONTON MAT

It's Second Meeting for Frank and George.

Tonight's Card

Jim McMillen, Grays Lake, Ill., vs. Don De Laun, France.
Ray Steele, California, vs. Jim Clinkstock, Oklahoma.
Hans Steinke, Germany, vs. Wallace Duguid, Canada.
Hans Bauer, Germany, vs. Jack Smith, Chicago.
Last four matches 30 minutes to a decision.

George Zaharias tonight meets Frank Bronowicz in the feature number of the five match wrestling show at the Rainbo fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. There are ten wrestlers on the program.

There's Jim McMillen, the ex-Illinois football player, who meets Don De Laun, a young Frenchman. They are in the semi-windup. McMillen has won two matches here recently.

Steele vs. Clinkstock.

Big Hans Steinke, placid German who is as tall and almost as heavy as Carnera, will pit his huge bulk against Wallace Duguid, formerly of the Canadian royal northwest mounted police. In the fifth match stocky Hans Bauer, German veteran, goes against Jack Smith in their second meeting. They grappled 30 minutes to a draw at the Stadium recently.

Windup a Rematch.

Zaharias and Bronowicz are engaging in a rematch. Zaharias lost a 30 minute decision to Bronowicz at the Stadium, but it was far from decisive. Over the longer stretch, and with the advantage of 30 pounds in weight, big George is confident of stopping Frank's victorious streak.

TORONTO SIGNS LIFBHARDT.

This Hawk Lives Up to His Latin Name of "Circus

BY BOB BECKER.

Although the woods and meadows of Chicagoland at this time of the year provide many a show for the bird fan or other outdoorsman, there is one bird which lives up to its latin name, Circus, by literally putting on a circus when it does its courting. This is one of our common hawks, the marsh hawk, known to nearly every farmer or landowner in the central states.

The feeding and courting habits of this predator are interesting. During nesting season only does this "circus harrier," as he is sometimes called, prove title to his Latin name Circus, because at that time he winds in and out and round above the earth, doing beautiful evolutions that are supposed to thrill his mate.

On one occasion we have seen this lovesick marsh hawk turn a couple of somersaults in his excitement, and then finish off his acrobatics with piercing screams the only love song that he knows.

There are lots of these marsh hawks or marsh harriers in the central states. We have seen many of them close to Chicago. Sitting in a field blind in the fall this species is the commonest predator to be watched, one waits for the mallards to come around. The reason for this is obvious.

The marsh hawk wants broad meadows or marshes, the open type of streams or ponds, or similar country for his hunting. No wonder he likes him. Trees simply impede his wings. Therefore it is only natural that the duck hunter in a marsh would have a good chance to watch these mouse killers do their work.

Here is the way to identify this species, which is far more beautiful than harmful. The marsh hawk has a broad white band across his rump, which shows when in flight. When you see a 19 to 22 inch, low flying and slow flying hawk with this white band on a long tail you can safely call it down as a marsh hawk.

Its method of flying is as different and easy that this bird is a strong contrast compared to the fast flying, direct shinned hawk which makes swift attacks upon feathered game. The marsh hawk takes a few strong wing beats and then sails along just a few feet above the tall grass of the marsh.

Lloyd Brown's Southpaw Curves Halt Indians.

Cleveland, O., May 13.—[Special.]—Wesley Ferrell's magic wand which he has been wont to wave in the faces of the Washington Senators with unprecedented success for the last two years was broken into smithereens this afternoon by Walter Johnson's baseball, who took the first mixup of the season from the Indians, 9 to 3.

The Senators left nothing to the imagination, pounding Ferrell's choice offerings to all fields. They got to him for one run in the first, when Rice stole home, and hammered him for three doubles and two singles in the third to count three runs, and two doubles and a single in the fourth to add two more.

Milburn Shoffner replaced him and did a fairly good job of relief work until the eighth when the Senators again unleashed a good offensive which netted them two runs. Lloyd Brown southpawed the entire route for Washington. Averill hit over the left field screen for a home run in the sixth. Score:

WASHINGTON	AB	R	H	PO	A	CLEVELAND	AB	R	H	PO	A

TIGERS, 2; RED SOX, 1.

Detroit, Mich., May 13.—[Special.]—Elon Gaston, whose effective pitching forced the Cleveland Indians from first place in the American league standing last Saturday, pitched for the Red Sox today, but lost to the Tigers by a 2 to 1 score.

Gaston was hit safely 11 times, Johnston being the worst offender with three, one a two bagger. Whitehill did the Tiger pitching and held the invaders to seven scattered hits.

An unusual play occurred in Boston's half of the third inning. After Pichney and Ruhl walked, Gaston batted, forcing Pickering at third. Gaston, thinking the play was made at first base, walked to the dugout, and it was an easy matter for Gehringer to double him. Score:

Macks Defeat Sox, 7 to 5, in 11 Innings

off with a pass and romped to third on Appling's single to right. Kamm bounced as far as the mound and Earnshaw intended that Appling should be forced at second but he pegged wide of the mark so nobody was retired and Cissell was over the counter. Tate's sacrificed moved the two runners along. The episode which permitted the Macks to tie it up at three apiece with two unearned runs in the fifth began with Miller's double to left. Dykes lined to Reynolds and Boley popped to Appling. Earnshaw rolled to short for what should have been the third out, but Appling threw wild to first and Miller scored.

Macks Fill Bases.

Bishop walked and Haas' fluke hit past Thomas filled the bases. Cochrane then lined to Blue, who leaped for the ball, but could not hold it. Cochrane was given a hit and Earnshaw scored. Simmons was next but his desire to ruin everything didn't materialize. He bounced to short for a force out.

Cissell took it upon himself to start the fuss that put the Sox back in front with two markers in the sixth. He singled to right and Appling sacrificed. Kamm planted a two bagger in left center and Cissell scored. Simmons dashed over to the stand and used his gloved hand to pull in a tall foul by Tate.

Then Mack shifted his outfield trio over toward the right to await whatever Thomas might hit. Tommy ruined the strategy by dropping a fly ball in the spot where the center fielder should have been and Kamm counted on the single. Blue closed the session with a tap to Earnshaw.

Thomas Settles Down.

After the flurry in the fifth Thomas got himself so well straightened out that he hurled two perfect innings. He also set down one man in the eighth but bad news then caught up with him in the shape of Mickey Cochrane's homer. Mickey whacked the ball into the first floor of right field. This melted the Sox' lead down to one run and this last hit vanished when Miller made it 5 apiece by blowing his homer into the seats in left to open the ninth.

That Thomas wasn't trimmed in the tenth, his last inning, was due entirely to assistance rendered by Reynolds. The chapter opened with Bishop singling to left. Haas banged a long fly to right and it carried all the earmarks of an extra base drive until Reynolds backed up to the wall, raised his gloved hand and plucked the ball out of the air. A conference on Simmons followed. It was decided to pass him. Foxx grounded in front of the plate and Tate tossed him out. Then Faber came along to get the sting of defeat in the eleventh.

FEED BOX DOPE.

DELAYED in Chicago by the international Golden Gloves bouts. The Wake realized the time was becoming short for our usual heart to heart feed box talks with the Kentucky Derby candidates. So we put in a long distance call to Louisville for Mr. Spanish Play, Knebelkamp and Morris barn, Churchill Downs.

The answering voice was unmistakably feminine, as in response to our request for Mr. Play it whinnied "Mr. Play is in his bawth and cawn't be disturbed. Any message to be communicated to him at his leasure?"

"See here now, dearie," we replied, "let's can this highhat stuff. Just tell Spanny that Old Man Wake of Chicago is calling and for him to call back at once, reversing the charges. Now be a good girlie, and when I come down to Louisville tomorrow I might give you a wee little kiss or a box of sweets."

Within three minutes there was a return call, verifying our suspicion that Spanish Play was not in his "bawth" at all.

"Good morning!" we said. "This is Wake of Chicago speaking. Who's your lady friend?"

"O," responded Spanish Play, "that's a little trick we picked up down here to answer phone calls and to attend to the secretarial work. She's a right smart little filly. She can step some, too, although a little thin in the hips. What can I do for you?"

"Well, Wake readers want to know just what chance you western colts have against this formidable eastern invasion."

Spanish Play hesitated a second or so, then answered: "Now, Harve, I don't like to talk over the telephone, but I know of you through my half owner, Dick Morris. You've played golf with his brother Tom out at Skokie, and say, you're a terrible golfer, especially at that ninth or water hole," and over the phone came a distinct horse laugh.

Nettled a bit we replied: "My golf's about the way you'll run in the Derby, isn't it?"

Spanish Play evidently was in prime humor, for he chose to ignore our irritation and replied: "O, now, Harve, I hardly think I'll run as poorly as that. Now about my opinion, please take it down verbatim; I don't want to get in bad with the boss or be a horse talking out of turn.

"Frankly, we western boys haven't much chance on the figures, but you've seen these highly touted eastern dudes explode before. I won the Louisiana Derby, didn't I, and I ran second in the Florida Derby at Miami in a race which I always will think I won, although the judges didn't place me first.

"They say winter track colts don't win Kentucky Derbies. Well, Black Gold did. I'm trying, Harve, and that's the most one can do. I'm hardened by winter experience and I'm sturdy. If those eastern babies ever stop in front of me you'll see my number go up. I'm a good long price, so why don't you string a little bet across the board on me?

"Now about the rest of us. We've been beating each other, which is considered a bad sign. Insco was a good 2 year old, but doesn't seem to have reached form yet. He's better than the showing he's made. Pittsburgher may be a great colt. He gave promise in his first two starts as a 3 year-old. The Bradley pair, I think, are out. What a joke it would be if Boys Howdy copped. Col. Bradley sold him because he thought Boys was no account, and now Boys Howdy is a sure starter and with a chance, too.

"There isn't much use, Harve, in detailing all our performances. Your readers know that. It looks as if the odds were against us, all right, but I feel sure some of us will cut into the money and perhaps win. That time in the Preakness wasn't so hot and the early pace was slow. Just for your own information, however, we do not rate on the dope, but you know it's about time for an upset by the law of averages, and naturally I hope to be the upsetter."

There was a slight delay at this point and we could overhear Spanish Play say to his equine secretary, "Are you sure you had the charges for this call reversed?" which proved, anyway, his canny and cautious disposition. Continuing to us, he said:

"Guess that about covers all that is necessary. Will be glad to see you on arrival. By the way, if you run short while you're here—you know what I mean—just give the stable a ring. It's good stuff, better than that Nelson County you had last year, which French Lane called 'shellac.' Thank you for calling me."

Yustin Sirutis, the big New York university student, beaten in the final bout by Pollu Laudrin, the French heavyweight, left for New York Wednesday on the Twentieth Century with Phil Dardell, the other New Yorker on the team. The other members of the American squad broke training at last and the out of town men returned to their homes.

The French team visited William Wrigley, the chewing gum and baseball magnate, inspected the marvels of THE TRIBUNE plant, and, after watching the Chicago Jubilee parade in the evening, entrained for New York by way of Niagara Falls, the one sight which they most wished to see in America. All had been chewing gum tirelessly ever since the landing in New York and this may have come to the notice of a business man with the continental field still unconquered.

They sail for home on the Ile de France tomorrow.

Tilden Technical High school, which is closely behind Lindblom in the race for the central section championship of the City Public High School league, yesterday scored its third triumph of the season by defeating Wendell Phillips at Fuller park. A seven run rally in the last three innings gave Tilden an 8 to 1 victory.

Lefty Mooney and Brunner, Tilden hurlers, struck out ten batters and held Phillips to four hits. Mooney relieved Brunner in the fourth inning, when two hits gave Phillips its only run. The victors collected 12 hits off Phillips' two pitchers, Mallard and Dedrich.

Joe Soucek, left fielder, and Second Baseman Eddie Baumgarten, Tilden's heavy hitters, again starred in the victory. Soucek scored four hits in five trips to the plate, while one of Baumgarten's two hits drove in two runs in the fifth inning. Score:

40 Years No Handicap to Bill Tilden

How long will Big Bill Tilden dominate the professional tennis world? That was a question Chicagoans were asking one another yesterday following Tilden's second victory over Vincent Richards in Boston Tuesday night. Although he is nearing 40 years of age the Philadelphian has demonstrated that he has remarkable stamina despite long hard campaigns of tournaments and exhibition schedules.

Tonight Tilden and Richards clash in Philadelphia in the third of their series of professional matches. Then they will come here for a meeting at the Chicago Stadium Sunday night.

The last time Tilden played at the Stadium he opposed Stanley Kozeluh. The Czeck did not offer Tilden much opposition. However, the setting should be considerably different Sunday. Richards forced Big Bill into five sets at Boston Tuesday, taking the second and third with his celebrated rush to the net and outstanding center court game.

Richards' feat of winning two sets from Tilden in one match was more than Kozeluh was able to do during their entire exhibition tour of the country recently.

GIANTS TO PLAY FLORALS.

Sunset Ridge Course Is Difficult for Amateurs.

Chicago District association golfers had a difficult time at Sunset Ridge yesterday in their first big meeting of the year trying to get anywhere near par. There were no alibis, but the best the 75 amateurs, many of them as good as the district affords, could do was 39—37—76 for low gross, shot by Frank Justin of Edgewood Valley. Par is 35—35—70. Art Sweet, Ridgemoor, worked hard to get 40—37—77 for second gross.

The real winner of the tournament, however, was Pete Raap of Medinah, who also shot 77 which, with his 6 allowance, gave him 71 net for first. Tom H. Wilkinson of Casa del Mar, Dyer, Ind., was tied with Oliver Schmidt, Medinah, for second with 72. Schmidt was given the prize on handicap allowance.

The hazards of the Sunset Ridge course were shown in the fact that Jack Westland, club champion and district titleholder, had 40—39—79, to land outside the prize list. Other gross scores:

NORTH SHORE LEAGUE OPENS.

Bob o' Link, last year's champion of the North Shore league, is in third place in the standings as a result of the season's first clash at Briergate yesterday. The North Shore Country club team, by running up a 21 to 6 score over Briergate, starts out in first place. Other results were:

Illinois defeated Evanston, 17½ to 9½.
Glen View won from Wilmette, 16 to 11.

Two of the teams, Briergate and Glen View, played with only five men, which cost them 3 points each by reason of the default.

TRADERS SWAP STORIES INSTEAD OF SHARE LOTS

Chicago Stock Trading Dwindles Away.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The floor of the Chicago exchange yesterday was reminiscent of the courthouse square in any rural community on a Saturday afternoon, where the farmers gather to swap yarns about crops and make sage observations on the state of politics and other subjects which come within the range of their interests.

The traders were swapping stories about stocks, baseball, and Golden Glove fights, but doing little bartering in securities. The slow moving New York ticker tape told nothing which could disturb the dull routine here. Quotations of leading shares showed slight variation from the previous day's prices and there was a minimum of professional and outside interest displayed in the narrow movements.

Preferred Issue Improves.

About the only noteworthy advance of the day was made in Construction Materials preferred, which was bid up another two points or so on the strength of the contract which the company secured from the Lincoln park board. The work will keep the principal vessels of the company occupied for more than a year, according to officials of the firm. The job is said to be one of the largest ever let on the great lakes and calls for 7,000,000 yards of material. The company will build 240 acres of land which will act as a breakwater. The company has been one of the pioneers in the sand-fill business, one of its first jobs being that of building the site of the Field museum.

A recession of 1¾ points occurred in Miller & Hart preferred following the action of directors in reducing the dividend on the stock from $3.50 to $1.60 through the declaration of a quarter disbursement of 40 cents.

The company is a Chicago concern engaged in packing of pork products and has certain side lines, such as peanut butter, cheese, mince meat, and sauerkraut. The company's preferred stock is cumulative at the rate of $3.50 per share annually.

Mandel Volume Expands.

The semi-official report that Mandel Brothers, made a small net profit in the first quarter, compared with a flat loss last year in the first quarter, brought out no trades in the company's stock. It is understood that the department store firm had a larger number of sales in the first quarter this year, but the dollar value of business was smaller. The better showing this year was attributable to economies put into effect during the last twelve months. The net loss of the firm in the first quarter of 1930 was $170,000. Inventories as of Jan. 31, 1931, at cost, were said to be $1,396,000 below a year ago.

The governing committee of the exchange yesterday approved the listing of the class A stock of the Godchaux Sugars, Inc., of which there are 250,000 shares authorized. The company's B stock is already listed on the exchange.

Transfer of exchange memberships to Harry H. Blum, Frank E. Collopy, and George E. Dernbach has been approved.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP)—Cotton goods held steady today, with the gray goods markets quieter in sympathy with easier cotton. Wool goods were being bought moderately for fall. Rayon producers are being pushed for deliveries of 100 denier yarns, viscose 40 filaments, and 75 denier acetate yarns. Silk was inactive at first hands. Silk goods were quiet.

Interstate Department Stores.

Kindly give me your opinion on Interstate Department Stores common. —O. I. H.

Interstate Department Stores, Inc., operates about 32 stores in central western, southern, and Atlantic states.

Net sales for 1930 were $21,784,712, against $25,545,411 for 1929. The reduction in sales was ascribed to the decline in retail prices and to the discontinuance of several items which had previously been sold in large volume at no profit.

Net income for 1930 was $667,554, which was 3.47 times dividend requirements on 27,500 shares of 7 per cent preferred [par $100] and equal to $2.03 a share on 233,602 no par common shares. Net income for 1929 was $1,101,873, or $3.90 per common share. For 1928 net income was $1,233,194. The management stated that profit for January, 1931, was larger than profit for January, 1930, which was more than January, 1929. Sales for the first three months of 1931 totaled $4,302,894, against $4,109,283 for the like period of 1930.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $5,631,861 and current liabilities were $1,005,469. Cash and marketable securities were $1,202,866, against $793,346 the year before, and inventories were carried at $4,120,760, against $5,117,162. Working capital was $4,626,392, against $5,161,609 on Dec. 31, 1929.

The common has been on an annual dividend basis of $2 a share since April 1, 1929. The preferred deserves a fairly good rating. The common is speculative.

Conservative Investment.

My children and I have been left some money which we would like to invest in good, sound securities. Would you please advise us in your column on investments that you consider safe? I am enclosing a self-addressed envelope for reply. Do not print my name.—Mrs. E. L.

The Investors' Guide does not suggest specific securities for investment. Get in touch with a good bank or investment house, explain your circumstances, and let them suggest a number of sound, conservative securities to fit your requirements. Then if you will give us the names of the securities suggested to you we shall be glad to report on them, giving our opinion where sufficient information is available on which to base an opinion. Enclosed is some literature explaining along general lines the principles of sound investment.

STEEL INDUSTRY OUTPUT STEADY; PRICES DECLINE

Protest Empire Co. Wage Cuts.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Temporarily, at least, the American steel industry appears to have attained stability in operations. This lends hope that the summer may witness more than the usual seasonal decline in production. On the other hand, the marginal tendency of prices continues and the spectre of wage reductions again has appeared.

Steel ingot output this week is at 57 per cent of mill capacity, according to two of the mid-week trade reviews. This rate is unchanged from last week, according to the Iron Age, but marks a decline of 1 per cent, according to "Steel." The first review notes a decline of 50 cents a ton in heavy melting scrap, bringing it to $15, the lowest figure since Nov. 7, 1924. The second review's composite of 14 leading iron and steel products is off 3 cents to $31.37 a ton, a new post-war low price.

Workers Go on Strike.

Dispatches from Mansfield, O., told of a strike of 1,500 employés of the Empire Steel corporation when a 15 per cent wage reduction was posted. It was said the workers had expected a 10 per cent cut. Late in the day company officials announced the proposed reduction would be reduced to 7½ per cent if the employés would return to work today.

"Steel demand shows a tendency to level off rather than to decrease further and the gradual decline in steel output, which began in the latter part of March, has been arrested," the Iron Age says. "Operations of leading mills continue to vary, with slight gains in some products offset by losses in others. Factors that have been the most to check the downward trend of steel demand are a better performance by the automobile industry than had been expected and a large movement of structural steel, reinforcing bars and line pipe.

Autos May Output.

"Automobile production in May is now estimated at 370,000 units, compared with 343,909 in April, the peak month of this year. June output is considered by the plans of the Ford company, but a total of at least 325,000 cars is looked for. Fabricated structural steel inquiries exceed 91,000 tons, comparing with 39,000 tons last week and 101,000 tons two weeks ago. Ten projects reported since the first of the year total 1,248,000 tons, compared with 482,000 tons in the corresponding period last year and 679,000 tons in 1929."

"Sentiment in the steel industry generally still is that further substantial gains in demand and production will develop slowly and that the market during the summer, while on a low plane, will be fairly steady," Steel says. "The most disquieting development this week is the more pronounced weakness in prices. Scrap, of economic significance, has eased off further in many districts."

Building Improvement.

The improvement in the building construction industry noted in the steel reviews is borne out in Bradstreet's review. It says that construction will probably be one of the first major industries to recover from the depression, basing its prediction on the 14 per cent increase in April building permits over March, a gain that was much larger than seasonal, and a rise of 57 per cent in comparison with January. This index was one of the first to slump about two years ago. Seasonal increases are currently reported by the country's leading hardware markets, according to the Hardware Age.

Livestock Largest Crops.

An optimistic note on livestock raising and meat packing was struck last night by T. G. Lee, president of Armour & Co. He called attention to the fact that livestock is the country's largest crop, with an annual value above $8,000,000,000.

"If we can continue to move livestock on a daily cash basis with an immediate outlet for all products and a ready supply for all demands," he said, "we will be doing our share in helping the country back to a firm foundation of stability for investments and full employment for workers."

American Stores Company April Sales $13,728,097

American Stores company reports sales for the five weeks ended May 2 last, were $13,728,097, as compared with $14,000,913 for the corresponding period of 1930. This is a decrease of $272,815, or 2.57 per cent.

Sales of Consolidated Retail Stores, Inc., in April totaled $1,969,185, as compared with $2,274,109 for the same month in 1930. This is a decrease of $304,924, or 13.40 per cent. Sales for the first four months in 1931 aggregated $6,752,550, as compared with $7,192,064 for the same period in 1930, a decrease of $439,514 or 6.65 per cent.

Boatner Reports Crops as Being Best in Years

U. V. Boatner, president of the Chicago Great Western railroad, reported Monday following a trip over the company's lines that the condition of winter crops was the best observed in years. "The farmers throughout the state are encouraged over crop conditions, and I share their optimism," Mr. Boatner said.

World Coffee Congress in Brazil Is Postponed

SAO PAULO, Brazil, May 13.—(AP) The world coffee congress, to which principal producing and consuming nations had been invited to send delegates, has again been postponed for undetermined date. It had been scheduled to open Friday.

Propose Huge Power Plant for Alberta

CALGARY, Alta., May 13.—[Special.]—A $100,000,000 power development for the province of Alberta has been proposed to the provincial government by the Hercules Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power corporation, Ltd., with the understanding that actual work will be started on the project within ninety days of government approval, according to a bulletin just released by the department of immigration and colonization of the Canadian Pacific railway.

This huge power project, which will bring electrical power to Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia over high power transmission lines at "rates expected to be so low as to attract considerable new industry to the provinces," is financed largely by prominent British and European industrialists. The electricity will be generated by waste natural gas from the Turner Valley oil field.

R. Crowe-Swords of Vancouver, representative of the Hercules company who placed the proposal before Premier Brownlee of Alberta, stated that the plan calls for the generation of 70,000 horse power within the first year, the expenditure of $10,000,000 immediately, and a total investment of $100,000,000 within a period of fifteeen years.

In addition to cheap power for the numerous industries already situated in the prairie provinces, the new project, it is expected, will bring many new industries into western Canada, some of which will be organized as subsidiaries of the Hercules corporation, thereby assuring an outlet for the power.

KLINGLER HAS A GOOD WORD FOR JUBILEE

Satisfaction with present business and optimism regarding prospects for the last half of 1931 were expressed yesterday by H. J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, in a talk before the company's field personnel of the great lakes region at a meeting at the Palmer house.

H. J. KLINGLER.

Touching on the Chicago Jubilee, Mr. Klingler said he was much impressed by the city's efforts to stimulate business. "Chicago does things in a grand manner," he said. "No city in the country puts forth efforts like Chicago, as witness its lake front development and its great plans for its World's Fair. The present Jubilee well demonstrates its ability to do things in a big way.

"April sales were ahead of March and we are hopeful that May will pass April," Mr. Klingler said. "Further, we expect that in June sales for the first time in many months will pass the like period of the year before. In April our original schedule called for the production of 85,000 cars and trucks. Increases in dealer orders during the month, however, necessitated upward revision of the schedule, with the result that actual production was 106,000 units."

Yesterday's meeting was one of a number being held throughout the country to stimulate sales activity. Among the Detroit officials attending yesterday were D. E. Ralston, assistant sales manager, and R. K. White, advertising manager. L. K. Cooper, great lakes regional manager, was host.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 13.—A more cheerful report on freight traffic was presented to directors of the New York Central at their meeting today. The figures showed a definite improvement over the corresponding period of last month, it was said, the principal gain being recorded on the Central lines proper and on the Michigan Central.

Advance estimates indicate the April statement will be better than that for March, which was much better than those for the first two months of the year.

Statements for the second quarter will include in dividend income a special dividend amounting to $1,500,000 from one of the smaller roads and the special dividend of 10 per cent recently declared by the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie amounting to $2,200,000.

Postpone Bond Concern Receivership Action

Augusta, Me., May 13.—(AP)—Receivership proceedings against the American Bond and Mortgage company have been indefinitely postponed by Chief Justice Pattangall of Supreme court, mainly because of the illness of an attorney for complaining bandholders. Instigated by a group of New England and New York bondholders the department of justice has begun an investigation, directed against conduct of the company by the previous officers, who retired upon reorganization of the firm some months ago.

STATE, PRIVATE FIRMS JOIN TO DEVELOP POWER

Study Project to Dam St. Lawrence.

BY SCRUTATOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 13.—The state of New York has taken over the job of damming the St. Lawrence, but it is not the socialistic water power dream that its original Democratic sponsers set out twenty years ago to make come true.

The present $171,547,000 project (some engineers place the cost at $203,418,000) puts the state in business with the private power companies and has the indorsement of these corporations for the reason that the state is going to do the developing and permit them to do the marketing.

A study of the state development scheme and a canvass of the opinions of engineers both for and against state power development reveals that the success of the venture depends upon coöperation with private power systems—in particular with the Niagara-Hudson Power corporation, which is backed by J. P. Morgan & Co. and in which prominent Republicans in state politics have substantial interests. It also is evident that the private power systems are looking into the future and see protection and profit in the state development project.

Helps Put Bill Across.

This coöperation between the state and the power magnates, both sides agree, had a lot to do with the success of the bill creating a state power authority which was passed by a Republican legislature and signed by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt April 28. After twenty years of political wrangling the St. Lawrence is not yet out of politics, but it stands a fair chance of ultimate development.

The state certainly will not directly profit financially. Industry using power at or near the site will get its power cheaper, but with present transmission methods New York City remains out of range. New York state utilities with assets exceeding $1,500,000,000 are perfectly willing to let the state government raise the millions of dollars necessary for the pioneering work and are content with the marketing concession.

This is what has been done toward developing the St. Lawrence:

The legislature has created the New York State Power Authority, patterned after the Port Authority, a perpetual body having powers to harness the two and a quarter million horse power of energy in that section of the St. Lawrence which serves as the boundary between New York and Ontario.

Appoints Five Trustees.

The governor has appointed five trustees who will constitute the power authority and who will act as state representatives in the complicated task of eliminating all the obstacles.

The original engineering board, none of whom is a member of the power authority, made the report on which the legislature based its bill. The board proposed to build in two steps — the first to develop 600,000 horsepower with an estimated cost of $79,935,000 or $132.22 for each horse power installed. The second step to develop an additional 1,600,000 horsepower to cost $91,612,000, which would bring the cost per horsepower down to $77.97. [Engineers estimate steam developed power can be produced for $25 per horsepower.]

If everything went without a hitch the year 1937 might see the completion of the St. Lawrence dam, but actually its completion is more than twice that far away for here are some of the hitches confronting the newly formed power authority:

The physical steps must wait until the diplomatic and financial steps are completed. The dam involves an engineering problem of difficulty; necessitates an agreement which will satisfy the United States government, the government of Canada, the state of New York and the province of Ontario, all of which have rights in the St. Lawrence.

Furthermore, it will require contracts with existing public utility companies for distribution and sale; it will have to be financed without taxation or borrowing power, but by selling bonds in the open market. Who will buy the developed power and what price it will bring will have to be settled before any bond issue can be floated.

Cite Engineering Problem.

The engineering problem involves keeping the St. Lawrence open for navigation as a federal waterway during construction and after completion. The St. Lawrence water cannot be impounded; it must flow free. Therefore all current not sold goes to waste. The maximum amount of power will have to be manufactured every hour. The ordinary hydro-electric plant can be shut down during the night and the water which is not used can be stored. In the St. Lawrence project water not used is power gone to waste.

The legal problems are even more impressive than the physical problems. There must be negotiations with Canadian authorities, for half of the power and half of the expense is theirs. It will be necessary to move slightly the international boundary line. The question of improvement of navigation also will be a vexing point, state lawyers agree. Then there are the necessary licenses, permits, and approvals to be obtained from Washington as well as Canada.

Looking toward the future, when every watt of power will be marketable, the power corporations have begun linking together. Last month the final touches to the state power union were completed. The Edison and Niagara Hudson corporations were definitely linked when Floyd L. Carlisle became chairman of the board of both organizations. Mr. Carlisle is closely affiliated with the Morgan banking interests and his companies hope to handle all of the state power when it is generated.

ILL. GRAIN DEALERS URGE REPEAL OF U. S. FARM MARKETING ACT

Peoria, Ill., May 13.—(AP)—The Illinois Grain Dealers association passed resolutions at the closing session of its annual convention today urging the repeal of the agricultural marketing act and condemning the "encroachment of government in grain and other business as ill advised and unwarranted."

Competition of the government with railroads through a form of subsidized transportation was also assailed in the resolutions and the state was asked to subject bus transportation to the same regulations as the railroads, proposed legislation regarding bus transportation, including a law to tax buses on the basis of weight hauled and to place a limit on the load.

Boston Men Seek Change.

Boston, Mass., May 13.—(AP)—Representatives of Boston wool, fruit and produce, and grain and flour associations today declared that the federal agricultural marketing act should be repealed or amended to eliminate provisions "permitting the lending of public money for private enterprise." They appeared before the legislative committee on rules to urge consideration at the present session or an order memorializing congress in opposition to the activities of the federal farm board in attempting to regulate the price of wool and mohair and other farm products.

William S. Febiger, president of the Boston Wool Trade association, said: "You are aware of the failure of our government to stabilize the price of wheat, of cotton, or any other farm commodity. The agricultural marketing act has been in operation for more than 18 months' time. It has been a dismal failure, and it should be repealed or amended."

Febiger said the provisions of the act permitting the lending of public money for private enterprises was "a practice unfair, economically unsound and wholly un-American."

Annual Meeting of Fox Film Postponed Again

New York, May 13.—(AP)—The annual meeting of Fox Film corporation, postponed twice previously, has been put off until June 10. The meeting was to have been held Friday, and it was explained that the delay has been due to the fact that the company's auditors could not complete their work on the books until after auditors for the bankers had finished. It is likely the annual report will be out by May 25, and the June 10 date would comply with the New York Stock exchange requirements that the statement be issued 15 days before the meeting date.

N. Y. Reserve Bank Again Reduces Acceptance Rates

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 13.—In continuation of its policy of making short term money rates cheaper, the federal reserve bank of New York today again reduced its buying rates on bankers' acceptances by ⅛ of 1 per cent. This was immediately followed by a general reduction of the open market discount rates for acceptances by dealers and the reduced rates were adopted as official by the American acceptance council.

Simultaneously the Guaranty Trust company advised its depositors that it would pay interest only on balances of $2,500 or more in the cases of individuals and of $5,000 or more to banks.

Officials explained this action was not based on any broad consideration relative to the advisability of lowering interest rates on deposits but was the result of experience that it is not profitable for the company to allow interest on balances of less than the amounts stated in the prevailing money market.

New Buying Rate.

The new buying rate on acceptances fixed by the reserve bank is 1 per cent for bills maturing up to 15 days and 1⅛ per cent on those maturing from 16 to 120 days.

New discount rates on acceptances set by dealers and the acceptance council are 1¼ bid and 1 per cent asked for maturities up to 120 days and 1¾ bid and 1¼ asked for those running to six months.

Both the reserve buying rate and the new discount in the open market are the lowest levels ever reached in the New York market and mark the fourth reduction in rates since April 22.

Today's move by the reserve bank was interpreted in well informed banking quarters as putting further pressure on the New York banks and as tending to force them to take action to protect themselves from losses on their interest rates paid on demand deposits.

REPORTS ON BANKS

Washington, D. C., May 13.—(AP)—A decline in the number and resources of national banks from December, 1930, to last March 25 was announced today by Controller Pole.

The controller said 6,935 banks had resources of $28,126,467,000 on March 25, the date of the last national bank call. That represented a decrease of $673,217,000 since December, when there were 7,038 banks, but a $777,967,000 increase since March, 1930, when there were 7,316 banks.

Total deposits of the banks were $22,344,166,000, which was $527,430,000 less than the amount reported three months before, but $703,188,000 greater than those of a year before. In the total of deposits were included demand deposits of $10,350,538,000 and time deposits of $8,711,402,000. Included in the time deposits were savings accounts of $6,097,531,000. The savings total represented 15,674,171 accounts.

Decline in Loans.

Loans and discounts on March 25 were $13,722,072,000, a decrease of $639,967,000 in three months, and of $926,631,000 in the year. Investments in United States government securities totaled $3,192,718,000, an increase of $537,882,000 since Dec. 31, and an increase of $469,875,000 in the year. Other bonds and securities totaled $4,469,659,000, an increase of $32,429,000 in the three month period, and of $636,830,000 in the year.

A steady decline in the number of national banks in recent years has led Controller Pole to recommend to congress revision of existing law to give them privileges held by state banks.

ROCK ISLAND DELAYS ACTION ON DIVIDENDS

Following a policy adopted three months ago, directors of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad postponed action yesterday on the common dividend for the second quarter and on the semi-annual preferred dividend until their early June meeting. The decision was reached, it was said, so as to give directors an opportunity for the latest available figures on earnings before dividend action. Dividends declared will be payable June 30.

Directors of the Eastman Kodak company added a cheerful note to the day's dividend news when they declared the usual extra dividend of 75 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25.

Favorable action was taken by the directors of other corporations. The Middle States Petroleum corporation authorized an initial dividend of 22 cents on the A stock which is represented by voting trust certificates. Northern Pipe Line company voted an extra distribution of 50 cents a share out of nonrecurring income in addition to a dividend of $1.50. Heretofore the company has paid a regular semi-annual dividend of $2.

The United States Gypsum company declared the regular quarterly dividends of 40c a share on the common stock and $1.75 a share on the preferred. Shell Transport and Trading Corporation, Ltd., declared a final dividend of 7½ per cent on the common tax free, for 1930 against a final dividend of 15 per cent for 1929. Royal Dutch Petroleum company has declared a final dividend of 7 per cent for 1930, compared with a final distribution of 1 per cent for 1929.

Directors of the Hamburg and South American Shipping company voted to pass the dividend for this year, according to a Central News cable from London. A dividend of 8 per cent was declared last year.

International Nickel Co. Reports $1,659,637 Profit

The International Nickel Company of Canada, which produces nine-tenths of the world's nickel as well as being a large producer of copper, yesterday issued its report for the first quarter of the year, showing net profits of $1,659,637, which was equivalent after preferred dividends to 8 cents a share on common stock outstanding. This compares with net earnings in the first quarter last year of $4,616,144, or 30 cents a share on common. In a letter accompanying the report President Robert C. Stanley explains some of the uses of the company's main product and states that in the future similar letters dealing with the firm's business will be mailed with the quarterly statements.

BY FRED HARVEY.

New York, May 13.—Stock traders put in another day catching up on their conversation to the neglect of their market operations. Very little buying or selling took place in any department and what there was to record had its origin among the professionals. Fewer than twenty issues accounted for the bulk of the day's small turnover. Naturally the list had a lopsided look.

Reaction was the rule in the earlier dealings, with an irregular rally getting under way after the turn of the day. Neither swing carried very far. Closing figures were generally lower, although there were more bright spots on the whole than usual here of late. Woolworth was one, rising 2 points on talk of recapitalization of a subsidiary. Alaska-Juneau moved forward briskly to the best price in a long while. Westinghouse made one of its customary moves against the shorts. Western Union hopped ahead for 3½ points and Grand Union preferred advanced 5 points on a few sales. Gains by lesser gentry were to be found throughout the list.

Leaders Are Down.

Virtually all the key stocks, including United States Steel, American Can, General Electric, General Motors, New York Central, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Radio corporation, Consolidated Gas, and Allied Chemical and Dye, finished below their last night's levels, however, from a fraction to more than a point lower. Railroad shares were acutely weak as a group and the utilities were unable to break out of their rut.

The fresh setback in the carrier group forced a considerable number of prominent issues into new low ground on losses of from 1 to 5 points. It was remarked, however, that the

TRADE IN GRAIN ERRATIC; CORN PRICE DECLINES

Wheat Hits New High for Present Movement.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Lack of speculative interest rather than aggressive buying or selling was largely responsible for erratic fluctuations in the grain markets yesterday, wheat advancing early to a new high on the present movement, while corn was weak and off sharply. Spreading operations, with the professional element buying wheat and selling corn, was the main factor in causing the two grains to act in an independent manner.

Wheat prices held within a range of ¾@1c for the day and closed with the new crop months ¼c lower, with July, 63¾@63¾c; September, 62⅞@63c, and December, 66¼@66¼c, while old May was unchanged at 82¾c. The advance to the high point of the day was helped along by firmness at Winnipeg, which was effected to some extent by continued dry weather reports from the prairie provinces, but that market closed ¼c lower, with July at 63¾c.

Ignore Acreage Reduction.

Prospects for a reduction of 8 per cent in the spring wheat acreage in Canada this season were ignored by the trade here and abroad as a market influence, although the reduction of 2,000,000 acres on the basis of a normal yield would result in a decrease of 30,000,000 bu or more in the final returns. Unfavorable crop comments from Europe also failed to attract attention, although it was claimed that spring seeding was backward, and stocks of native grains small. Liverpool closed ⅜@½d higher, with the continental demand for cash wheat showing improvement. July there finished at 68c. Sales of 500,000 bu Canadian were reported in all positions during the day, and charters were said to have been made for 200,000 bu hard winter at the gulf to Antwerp.

There has been a sameness in the character of the news regarding the domestic and world's wheat situation for some time past and there have been no developments which the trade regarded as sufficient to get the market out of the rut. This has resulted in a decreasing speculative interest which in turn is reflected in very erratic fluctuations without the market making material headway one way or the other.

Outlook for the winter wheat crop it still very favorable, and according to estimates made by members of the Kansas Grain Dealers' association, who are attending the annual convention at Salina, that state has a prospective yield of 180,000,000 to 200,000,000 bu, compared with 158,000,000 bu harvested last year. Temperatures of 90 and over were reported in the Canadian northwest during the day.

Corn Has Heavy Undertone.

Corn market reversed its recent action and with a lack of aggressive buying by local bulls at no time were prices as high as the finish of the previous day. Increased arrivals at terminal markets, which exceeded those of a year ago for the first time in some days, combined with a slow shipping demand and dry and warm weather over the west were the depressing influences, and served to increase bearish sentiment. The close was about the bottom with net losses of ⅞@1⅛c, with May leading. The latter finished at 59½@59¾c; July, 60⅜@60⅝c; September, 58¾c, and December, 51⅝@51½c.

Recent cold and wet weather over the belt, according to the government weekly weather and crop report, has delayed planting and there is some doubt as to the germination of the grain planted previous to the rains. However, the forecast was for generally fair and warmer. Shipping sales were only 16,000 bu, while 29,000 bu were booked to arrive.

Corn Planting Delayed, Says Government Report

The low temperatures with frequent rains were unfavorable for corn planting and germination, as indicated by the government weekly weather crop report. Only a small amount of seeding was accomplished and there were many complaints throughout the principal producing areas of poor progress of early corn in the southwest. In Illinois germination was slow. Condition of winter wheat was good, with considerable jointing and heading in the lower part of the the Ohio valley. The crop looks well in Missouri but growth is slow in Iowa. In the southwest, including Nebraska southward, condition remains good.

Private reports claim that the Texas panhandle will have approximately 42,000,000 bu of wheat this season.

Kenneth Pierce of J. E. Bennett & Co., who is attending the Kansas Grain Dealers association at Salina, says: "Some wheat condition is excellent, some wheat is in the boot in central and southern and western Kansas. Kansas has 12,000,000 acres the largest of any previous year. Estimates range from 180,000,000 to possibly 200,000,000 bu.

More activity featured the hog market soon after a 10@25c lower opening yesterday and closing sales were highest of the day. Some late orders had to go over unfilled because of the shortage of choice grades of light weights. The extreme top declined 15c at $7.25, while the general average moved down 10c to $6.80.

Total arrivals at Chicago at 18,000 were large for the time of week. Only two Wednesdays since middle of March have had larger receipts. The total at the eleven leading eastern and western markets showed an increase of almost 60 per cent compared with the previous Wednesday's supply, but was slightly smaller than a year ago. Five western markets report 52,500 in sight for today against 58,700 last Thursday.

Today's Hogs Bid $7.10.

Hogs averaging 170@210 lbs for today's delivery carried bids of $7.10 on the "to arrive" market yesterday, but there were no offers to sell that low. Medium averaging 210@260 lbs for today were bid $6.90. Offers and bids on the futures market were too far apart for trading in most months.

Light weights for the last half of the present month carried bids of $6.75, while mediums for that period were offered at $7.75. June light were offered at $7.75 and bid $7.00. Contracts for hogs averaging 170@210 lbs, for next September delivery were offered at $7.50@7.60 and bids were made at $7.40.

With the exception of choice grades of yearlings and light weight steers, the cattle market continued to sink to lower levels on yesterday's market. Some highly finished young cattle sold to slightly better advantage near the close when only 6,000 were estimated for today. No yearlings of outstanding quality were available, but prime 1,259 lb steers reached $9.10 after mid-season.

The bulk of cattle sold at $7.00@8.00. During the last few weeks cattle receipts at all points have been excessive, but supplies are commencing to let up some. The total at 20 markets for the first three days of this week shows a decrease of about 10 per cent compared with a week ago and is about 8 per cent below the four year averge of corresponding periods in previous years.

Spring Lambs at $12.00.

Spring lambs made up a big share of yesterday's receipts and sold at about steady prices. A few fancy native springers reached $12.00, while most sales were made at $11.00 and below. The latter price was paid for a large shipment of California springers. No choice wool lambs arrived. Some medium grades from Colorado were sold at $9.00@9.25. Choice aged lambs that had been shorn about two weeks sold at $8.75@9.00. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and unchanged. The recent break in the lamb market has reduced receipts at all points. Five western markets today expect only 38,500, against 54,800 last Thursday.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was steady and unchanged today. All nearby sugars available at last paid prices of 3.18c, consisting of about 85,000 bags of Porto Rican in nearby positions, were absorbed by refiners and they showed further interest at this level.

Futures were quiet and price changes, with the exception of the spot month, were narrow. Closing net unchanged to 2 points lower. Approximate sales were 16,100 tons Prices follow:

U. S. STARTS PROBE OF NORTH AMERICAN COMPANY INTERESTS

Washington, D. C., May 13.—(AP)—In a schoolroom atmosphere of charts and exhibits the federal trade commission today began tracing the interest of the North American company, one of the largest public utility holding groups. Data furnished by company officials showed that subsidiaries and allied companies of the North American generate approximately 5 per cent of the country's yearly electric output, 687 communities in a dozen states receiving some form of their service.

Judson Dickerman, a commission accountant, testified that the company controlled through stock ownership four main groups of public utilities. Companies in Missouri, Illinois, and Iowa include the Union Electric Light and Power company, the Mississippi River Power company, the Union Electric and Power Company of Illinois, and others.

Subsidiaries in Wisconsin and Michigan include the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company, the Wisconsin Electric Power company, the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company, and the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

COTTON PRICES DECLINE

Cotton markets opened lower yesterday and finished at about the inside of the day, with a light business and net losses on futures in Chicago of 11@13 points, New Orleans losses were 8@13 points and in New York 12@16 points. Spots were off 10 points, New York being 9.75c, New Orleans 9.40c, Galveston 9.65c, and Houston 9.55c. Liverpool closed 6@7 points lower, with spot sales 4,000 bales. Spot sales in the ten markets last week were 30,000 bales, against 10,000 bales the previous week.

Weekly weather crop report was without important influence as a market factor, despite the fact that it made an unfavorable showing. The crop is regarded as about a week late, but for the present it is not attracting buying. The turnover in the dry-goods trade is said to be moderate. National cotton week in June is receiving a great deal of attention. The British Board of Trade gave April exports of cotton yarns as 11,000,000 lbs. or the same as a year ago, and compared with 13,000,000 lbs two years ago. Exports of cotton goods were 135,000,000 yards, compared with 217,000,000 yards last year. Prices follow.
